Liberty to offer M.A. in History

May 30, 2008

Liberty University's Department of History recently received approval from the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS) to offer a Master of Arts in History.

The degree program consists of two tracks (Thesis and Non-Thesis) and will begin this fall. It is designed to meet the needs of those wishing to pursue an academic career in history as well as for secondary teachers desiring an advanced content degree.

Dr. Samuel Smith, director of the History Graduate Program, emphasized the uniqueness of this degree.

"Liberty's accredited M.A. in History will fill a wide gap in academic offerings from conservative evangelical universities," he said. "We are very excited for the potential this program holds for students wishing to study history from a Christian worldview perspective."
