Grad school offers hybrid courses

By Danielle Martinez
NEWS REPORTER

In the tradition of established universities, Liberty has been steadily building its graduate degree offerings. Available disciplines include business, communications, engineering, education, law, nursing, religion and seminary, according to the Graduate Studies Web site. These various course formats are available for graduate students to choose from in order to provide them with the ideal schooling for their current lifestyle. The first kind, the online track, offers courses that are eight weeks long with a select few running 16 weeks.

through Black History Month officially begins in February, the celebration at Liberty University got off to a fast start with a program in honor of the 79th birthday of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. on Jan. 15, and will continue with multiple activities throughout the next few weeks.

"Black History Month was established in 1976 as a month-long celebration that was an expansion of Negro History Week," said Melany Pearl, director of the Center for Multicultural Enrichment. "It was an excellent service," Associate Director of Center4Me, John Swann said of the King program.

"We had a performance by the 8th Street Roots, which is a viewing of the popular TV miniseries "The Roots, which is a viewing of the popular TV miniseries "The Roots,"" Daniel Martinez,唐朝 said. "It was an excellent service," Associate Director of Center4Me, John Swann said of the King program.

Another of the other upcoming Black History Month events is a Journey back to the Roots, which is a viewing of the popular TV miniseries "The Roots," which will take place from Feb. 4-8. Please see MORTH, A6

Students have 300 plus options to fulfill CSER hours

By Charles S. Goss
NEWS REPORTER

Over 300 different Christian/Community Service (CSER) opportunities are available to Liberty students every semester, according to CSER director Dr. Joe Weider. Residential students taking at least 12 credit hours are required to complete 20 hours of CSER every semester in order to graduate, with some students taking through campus programs and some traveling into nearby communities to serve.

"When Liberty students go out into the community, it breaks a barrier between the community and Liberty," Weider said. He mentioned the former mayor of Lynchburg who changed his opinion about Liberty because of the CSER program.

"We didn't like Jerry Falwell or Liberty," Weider said.

Without Bhutto, Violence reigns in Pakistan

By Stan Bunting
NEWS REPORTER

Following the assassination of President Pervez Musharraf's political rival Benazir Bhutto on Dec. 27, Al Qaeda's Taliban-related terrorist attacks in Pakistan's South Waziristan have turned to the northwestern tribal region, according to news reports. Taliban fighters attacked two military forts in the region this month and Pakistan is bracing for a third attack, according to reports.

Both the Pakistani government and the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency believe that the man responsible for Bhutto's assassination, Talib Qardash, orchestrated the attacks.

"There is no Taliban offensive being launched. These are provocations," Musharraf said.

The government of Pakistan sent 300,000 soldiers into the unstable region early in January to quell tribal violence.

Democratic frontrunners Hillary Clinton and Barack Obama are vying for the votes of Democrats, Americans, Christians, negroes and anyone else who might be persuaded. As a voter, a closer look at these candidates shows a distinct contrast in their individual profiles.

Most Likely students were undeterred by former President Bill Clinton's left office. Because of the Clinton legacy, conservatives have for the Clintons can sometimes seem more like the left than they actually are. The terms Whitewater, Travelgate and Perjury are all only mildly familiar, if at all, to today's college student.

The past three weeks since Sen. Barack Obama won the Iowa caucus was a good opportunity for students to observe the Clinton political phenomenon. As of this writing, in December, the Clinton campaign was flooded with negative attacks from pundits and late-night talk show hosts. Track team opens up home schedule with solid performance

Sprinting the 60-meter dash, jumping both long and high and tossing the shot put a solid 39 feet, five inches and many more boasted personal bests.

Newell finished off the seven-discipline event in first place — sounds like quite the workout, but for junior Daniel Newell of the Liberty Flames track and field team, it was simply day one of the On Track Open.

The Liberty Flames Men’s Basketball team prevailed in a defensive struggle over the High Point University Panthers at the Vines Center on Saturday, pulling out a 55-51 victory.

Newell set the pace for the Flames debut meet of the second semester as several Liberty athletes took high finishes and many more boasted personal bests.

The Flames built a 42-34 lead to 49-47 with 10:27 left in the half. The Flames then put together a 9-0 run to bring the score to 58-47 with 7:46 remaining in the half. Senior guard Mike Jefferson scored five of the Flames first nine points.

When the halftime buzzer rang, the score was 38-13 Liberty's defense shined during the first half as the Blue Hose could muster only 13 total points while the offense turned over their first three possessions and did not score until 11:56 left to go in the first half. The Flames went on a run to bring the score to 38-7 with 7:54 remaining in the half.

The Flames built a 42-34 lead on sophomore B.J. Jenkins' three-pointer to put the score at 49-47. High Point answered, though, cutting the lead to two with 28.2 seconds left in the half. Senior forward Alex McLean stepped up on a temp before the buzzer sounded to knot the score up at 49.

Junior Moriah Frazee led the Lady Flames with 18 points for the game. McLean sealed the victory for the Flames with two clutch free throws with 20.7 seconds left and recorded 18 points for the game. The Flames then put together a 9-0 run to bring the score to 58-47 with 7:46 remaining in the half.

Jeffson scored five of the Panthers first nine points.

The Panthers were not to be outdone and clawed back to within two at 44-42. After a Reid free throw, Jefferson hit a three-ball to tie the game at 44.

McLean did not make every shot he attempted inside, but his drop-steps and pump fakes were enough to draw fouls from High Point’s big men, especially Reid.

In the second half Liberty tried to pull away, but High Point would not go away quietly. Freshman guard Jeremy Anderson hit a three-pointer to extend the Liberty lead to 49-42. Defensively, coach Mc- Kay switched it up to help contain Reid. It worked, and in addition to the inside dominance of senior forward Alex McLean, the Flames built a 42-34 lead with 10:27 left in the game.

Like a pimple on your neck, tragedy seems to pop up just about every day in the world of sports. It is hard to turn on ESPN or ESPN radio and not hear something negatively about that athlete, coach or team.

Normally, I would rant incoherently about the latest scandal or the incompetence of the media. This week, however, is a much different story.

Just weeks after a rival path by the Gulf Channel, one event took last week that over-shadowed every ounce of negativity in sports. Indiana University-Purdue University Indianapolis football dinners an (IUPUI) basketball coach Ron Hunter did something no one has ever done in the history of coler the incompetence of the media.

This week, however, is a much differ-

You could see the excitement on head coach Jesse Castro's face. The Flames are still alive and well, and we were on the edge of our seats either late on Saturday morning or noon on the Sunday morning. The Flames were 1-0 in conference and 2-0 overall. We were on a roll.

Last weekend, the Flames were in the Valley of the Gods, in the Gardens of the Gods. They traveled to Oklahoma to compete in the Oklahoma Quad Meet. The Flames were looking to get their third win of the season and improve their record to 3-0.

The Flames competed in four matches over the weekend. The first match was against the Oklahoma Sooners. The Flames won 38-20. The second match was against the Oklahoma State Cowboys. The Flames won 33-22. The third match was against the Oklahoma Baptist Bison. The Flames won 28-19. The final match was against the Oklahoma State Cowboys. The Flames won 34-22.

The Flames dominated the competition and continued their winning streak. The team is now 3-0 in conference and 4-1 overall. They are looking to continue their success in the upcoming matches.

Patriots look to make history Sunday

By Jen Slothower

Tom Brady has been told that the New England Patriots’ injury report for the Super Bowl is a clever ploy to misguide the crowds. This week, played every game, looking more than a man in need of a cast. This week,玩了每场比赛，看起来更像是一个需要石膏的人。

The injury — real or not — has even led to smiles from usually stone-faced Coach Bill Belichick, who in the Friday press conference wore a smirk as he informed the media that the injury report would be available on Wednesday with all the details they would need.

Belichick was not the only Patriot enjoying the moment. With receivers Donte Stallworth and Wes Welker both out of the picture due to injuries, it looked like the Patriots had a scoring threat.

The injury report is the latest wrinkle in the media's efforts to capitalize on the injuries. Some say that the injury report is an attempt to create a sense of urgency in the Patriots, making them look more vulnerable.

In the first quarter, the Patriots had the upper hand, but a fake punt attempt by the Giants saw the New England Patriots score a touchdown to take the lead. In the first half, the Patriots had more possession time, but the Giants were able to grab a late touchdown to make the score 14-10 at halftime.

In the second half, the Patriots were in control, but a missed field goal by the Giants gave the Patriots a 14-10 lead. In the fourth quarter, the Giants scored a touchdown to tie the game, but the Patriots responded with a field goal to win 17-14.

Patriots quarterback Tom Brady has been listed on the injury report for the Super Bowl, but he still showed up on the field and played the game. Brady was able to lead the Patriots to a Super Bowl win and make history.

Women's hockey dethrones Monarchs, gearing up for Penn State Lady Lions

By William Armstrong

The Liberty Flames women's hockey team has been significantly strengthened this season, allowing them to compete with the top teams in the country.

With the addition of several key players, the Flames have been able to secure a spot in the Super Bowl. In the championship game, the Flames will take on the Penn State Lady Lions, who are considered one of the top teams in the nation.

The Flames have been unable to win a Super Bowl title in their history, but they are determined to change that this year. The team has worked hard throughout the season, and they believe that they have the talent and experience to make history.

The game is scheduled for February 11, and it will be a battle between two of the best women's hockey teams in the country. The Flames are confident in their ability to emerge victorious, and they are ready to take on the challenge.

The Flames are one of the emerging programs in women's hockey, and they have been gaining momentum in recent years. They have the talent and coaching to make a significant impact on the national stage.

The Super Bowl will be held in the city of Liberty, and it is expected to be a sell-out event. The Flames are confident in their ability to draw a large crowd and create a lively atmosphere.

The Flames are looking forward to the opportunity to compete at the highest level and make history for the program. They are determined to make the most of this opportunity and bring pride to their fans and their community.

The Flames are one of the most exciting teams in college women's hockey, and they are determined to make a lasting impact on the sport. They are confident in their ability to compete with the best and make a significant contribution to the game.
WHAT'S YOUR FLAVOR? Students voice opinions about campus dining

By Drew Menard

We would love to hear more student feedback,” Pugh said. Liz VanWingerden, Resident Marketing Manager, is also enthusiastic to get more students involved. The want them to become more aware of the dining Web page, www.libertydining.net, and to ask questions and leave comments on the site.

“We do have ways to get the students involved. We want them to take advantage (of the Web page),” VanWingerden said.

As new venues are being introduced, VanWingerden is using MySpace. Facebook and the Liberty splash page to spread the word on upcoming dining developments, including the new Doc’s Diner on Campus East.

“We are recruiting the help of students to name new items we are featuring,” VanWingerden said.

The Web site, www.libertydining.net, provides students with the opportunity to discover new places to eat on campus as well as listing new menu items. Students are also able to leave feedback and make requests.

Comments “don’t go unheard,” VanWingerden said. Pugh made it clear that Liberty Dining is dedicated to providing students with the quality and variety they desire.

“We don’t want to compromise customer service,” Pugh said. “Our priority is customer satisfaction.”

Senior Tiffany Mason said she appreciated the broad selection of options “conducive for people who want to stay open than they were making it business.

“Convenience stores do good on the weekends,” Pugh said, “and Founder’s (Food Court) is committed to being open on weekends.”

Although not every location on campus is able to remain open all the time, there are always plenty of options for students to decide what and where they would like to eat. Liberty Dining has a leadership team that is committed to hearing the voice of the students and providing them with the best service possible.

“I have seen a lot more dining opportunities since I first came to Liberty,” senior Anthony Barone said. “On East and North — all over campus there is so much to choose from.

With new dining venues soon to open, Liberty students are sure to appreciate the broad selection of good food, right on campus.

Too much of a good thing: Antibacterial soap may cause resistance in bacteria

By Amanda Sullivan

Recent reports show that antibacterial soap may be the source of antibiotic resistance. The antibacterial products cause the growth and spread of bacteria resistant, according to the News and Advance.

The use of antibacterial soap is a daily occurrence for most Liberty University students and faculty. In fact, Liberty has recently installed antibacterial gel dispensers at the exits of many restrooms on campus. Additionally, many students keep a miniature-sized container of the gel in their bag for quick access.

“I use the antibacterial gel when I am not near soap and water and my hands feel dirty,” sophomore Dana Rose said.

“I use the antibacterial lotion because so many people are sick, and I want to stay healthy,” freshman Melody Tian said.

Unfortunately, they have not been well done scientifically, costing more to stay open than they were making it business.

“Convenience stores do good on the weekends,” Pugh said, “and Founder’s (Food Court) is committed to being open on weekends.”

By Briegitt Scales
LIFE! REPORTER

On August 28, 1963, at the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, D.C., the honorable Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. spoke these powerful words, "I have a dream that one day this nation will rise up and live out the true meaning of its creed: 'We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal.'"

The nation trembled as King's powerful "I Have a Dream" speech, and now, almost 54 years later, his speech is still ringing in people's ears. The Center for Multicultural Enrichment at Liberty University, along with Director Daveta Saunders, is trying to fulfill that dream through the E.Q.U.A.L.I.T.Y Factor Movement.

The word E.Q.U.A.L.I.T.Y is an acronym that stands for "equally, quality, quantity, wisdom, awareness, talents, inclusion, trust, and you are the factor that will cause us to unify us.

Each letter represents the different qualities or characteristics that are emphasized in the weekly workshops in the area of relating to others. The overall purpose of the E.Q.U.A.L.I.T.Y Factor Movement is to serve, educate and excite the Liberty University community about unity and cultural diversity.

The E.Q.U.A.L.I.T.Y Factor Movement is designed for the Liberty University student body to enjoy. The movement's main focus is on building relationships and celebrating diversity at Liberty University. In order to do so, we must create an environment that all students can create equal.

"From a biblical perspective, Black is as white, are we all one color? Has not one God created us?' Although the student body is very diverse, we still need to come together and focus on the commonalities and hold together to cause change in our society as followers of Jesus Christ."

The E.Q.U.A.L.I.T.Y Factor Movement believes that every event should be a ministry site. Saunders mentioned that even though the focus is mainly for Liberty University, the community would also be impacted.

The students that are involved in the E.Q.U.A.L.I.T.Y Factor Movement are also part of Libyngton's Community Dialogue on Race and Racism.

The movement does not end with Lynchburg. Saunders verified that the program has also been shared with other student affairs personnel from other Christian colleges and universities at the National Christian Multicultural Student Leaders Conference.

"To睹 the exciting and powerful force of the movement, the E.Q.U.A.L.I.T.Y has added workshops and activities. The semester's thumb is "Empower the Spiritual Side of Life."

The first forum, an event entitled "Black at Liberty," will take place on Feb. 1 from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. in Campus North 406. It will reflect alumni and current African American students' lives at Liberty University so that the audience will be able to "walk in their shoes."

The activities and events are solely meant to the end goal.

"The ultimate goal is to have a campus-wide approach and respect for every individual, regardless of political views, religion, race, nationality, relationship to the university or any other social-economic status," Saunders said.

"Furthermore, the more students involved in the better, because this message will not just affect Liberty students but spread beyond the university and into our society as a whole."

"I pray that people will come to our shows and love our music and want to come back for more. But even more so, I pray that we are transparent and that his glory shines through us," guitarist Wes Willis said, according to RushOfFools.com.

"Thanks to the hard work of the Student Activities staff, many students will be attending the upcoming concert. "This is the biggest tour to come through Liberty this academic year. There are four major bands coming. I hope everyone enjoys the concert," The Newsboys showed up for an "good show, as we have no doubts," said songwriter Megan Caluya, a member of the Student Activities Events staff.

"I love the beatle and beating and the hard hearts that shots shows remain," Caluya said. "I love working for the student body and seeing the satisfaction that the students receive from the concerts that we execute."

Along with student activities, a number of volunteers will be working to ensure that the show runs smoothly.

"Working at the concerts here at LU is an awesome opportunity to meet new friends, meet random people, and get a little closer to the bands. I'm looking forward to this show because of The Big Expunged turnout. It should be a good day to volunteer and have fun," senior Nick Petrick said.

General admission starts at 6 p.m., and tickets may be purchased in the Student Activities Office at Liberty University with a student ID. The first 100 students to purchase tickets at the regular price will automatically get an upgrade to their seats which, hold a big value. The show begins at 7:30 p.m.
