CHAPTER 18: THE DEPUTY

Study Questions

1. Who was Erwin Piscator? What was his relationship with the Communist Party, the IATB, and the INO? Given his long experience in political theater and with fictionalizing history, what does his theory of theater reveal about the way he wove propaganda (what he called “educational influence”) into his productions? What is the “business of revolutionary theatre?”
2. The New School for Social Research had been established in 1919 as a progressive free school following protests by prominent Columbia University faculty against the requirement of loyalty oaths. In 1933, it founded the University in Exile as its graduate school, which provided a haven for scholars who were dismissed from their posts or fled Fascist Italy and Nazi Germany.
3. Why did Piscator return to Germany in 1951? What was the purpose of the Freie Volksbühne? What was its first production under Piscator?
