Student newspaper, yearbook staff earn top honors

October 14, 2008

The Liberty Champion won 14 awards at the annual Baptist Press Journalism Conference last weekend in Nashville, Tenn. The student-run newspaper took home best overall newspaper in division two and added 13 individual awards to tally its best finish in six years of competition.

Liberty faced rivals from schools across the nation including perennial competitors Union University, Lee University, Biola University and Baylor University.

In addition to the awards received by the Champion, the Selah Yearbook received second place for overall yearbook for the “I am Liberty” theme.

All awards were based on submissions from the 2007-08 school year.
