Ellie Karle Won First Prize in Poster Competition

On April 16, 2016, Ellie Karle's poster presentation placed first at the Virginias Collegiate Honors Council (VCHC) Spring Conference, which was held at Lynchburg College. Her poster was titled "Self-efficacy as a Mediator Between Goal Orientation and Academic Achievement." It was a study directed by Dr. Chad Magnuson, Assistant Professor of Psychology at LU. Her abstract is attached to this article and is published elsewhere in this newsletter along with the abstracts of three other LU students who presented at the conference. See "Four Honors Students Present at the 2016 VCHC Spring Conference." Congratulations, Ellie, and well done!
