ROBERT D. KAPLAN: THE ENDS OF THE EARTH
STUDY GUIDE, 2001-2003
Steven Alan Samson

PART I: WEST AFRICA: BACK TO THE DAWN?

CHAPTER ONE: AN UNSENTIMENTAL JOURNEY

NOTE: Notice how Robert Kaplan’s writing echoes some of the familiar motifs of literature – particularly the epic or the quest. This is his personal journey, like Marlow’s in The Heart of Darkness or Dante’s in The Inferno. The first chapter title refers to Laurence Sterne’s A Sentimental Journey through France and Italy (1768).

Study Questions

1. Introduction Why is tropical abundance not the blessing many travelers believe? What brief moment marked by the Industrial Revolution may now be closing? What makes Africa the mother continent? What is wrong with maps, particularly those of Africa? What did Claudius Ptolemy caution against? [Certain maps, such as those of Arne Peters, offer a dramatic change of perspective]. What kind of “deep time” does the author seek to map? How does the author link history and geography? (3-7)

2. Initial Hypothesis What does the author mean by a paradigm? [The word was popularized by Thomas Kuhn’s The Structure of Scientific Revolutions]. What are some of the popular rationalizations for the present state of Africa? How had the author’s theory been refined by the end of his journey? (7-9)

3. Author’s Purpose Who lives inside Thomas F. Homer-Dixon’s stretch limo? How have African cities changed since before independence (pre-1960?)

4. Empirical Evidence How does the population growth rate of Sub-Saharan Africa compare with the rest of the world? What are some of the causes and consequences? Why has foreign investment declined in many of these places? Why is crime less of a problem in Islamic North Africa than in West Africa, whether Islamic, Christian, or animist? Why is a new strain of malaria “on the offensive”? What is life like in the shantytowns pose and what threats do they pose? What percentage of Côte d’Ivoire’s population originates from neighboring countries? What is the nature of the violence and warfare? (7-27)

5. Reflections Why, according to the Kaplan, was the forest partly to blame for the iniquities of humankind there? What role is played by the continuing influence of animism? Why has Sub-Saharan Africa been so isolated? How does the character of the violence reflect both the forest culture and its disintegration? (27-30)

what makes it more difficult to control the spread of diseases paradigm colonialism, corrupt elites, and other reasons for Africa’s mess why malaria is spreading again annual number of new cases of malaria new-age primitivism of the violence when and why communication between West Africa and the Mediterranean world was severed
CHAPTER TWO: SIERRA LEONE: FROM GRAHAM GREENE TO THOMAS MALTHUS?

Study Questions

1. Civil Fighting  What is the revenge of the poor?  Why do young men become lost?  Why do three factors – communalism, animism, and extended families – “provide a poor defense against the corrosive effects of cities,” etc.?  What did Joseph Conrad try to show in The Nigger of the “Narcissus”?  (32-36)

2. OPTIONAL  Flight to Conakry, capital of Guinea only in the technical sense; hardwood logging; Arab mercantile community (classic “middleman minority”); immigration and customs; Africa’s several realities; feeling of isolation; dramatic city landscape of Freetown.  (36-43)

3. State of the Country  Who ran the government at the time (1994) of Kaplan’s visit?  What does Kaplan mean by the government’s “premodern formlessness”?  What does he see significant about such “low-intensity conflagrations”?  What are the signs of social and political breakdown amid the population displacement?  Environmental degradation?  What does the author mean by a failed society in the practical sense?  How did the “brain drain” here differ from that in Israel, India, and other places?  How did the Windward Coast get that designation?  (44-47)

4. History  What was John Newton’s connection with Sierra Leone?  What was the origin of Freetown?  What purpose did Sierra Leone serve after it became a British colony in 1808?  Which groups have done well?  (48-51)

5. Hill Station Club  What is at the heart of Graham Greene’s The Heart of the Matter?  How did colonialism persist at the Hill Station club?  [Hill Stations were a British colonial institution: recreation areas at higher elevations that offered relief from the heat].  What is striking about the anecdote about the anti-cholera vaccine?  What was the brutal message conveyed by the Peace Corps’ success in India but failure in Sierra Leone?  (51-55)

6. Michelle’s Dinner Party  Why was the Cold War Africa’s best opportunity?  What can’t the West focus on until too late?  What is significant about the closure of western embassies in parts of Africa?  What makes a tiny country like Sierra Leone “vast”?  (55-59)

7. OPTIONAL  Roadblocks on the road to Bo; village; side effects of Western aid; vanishing forests.  (60-63)

8. Bo  Why does Kaplan live on Coca-Cola in the tropics?  What is Jim Ashman’s take on the state of affairs in Sierra Leone?  Why are things breaking down?  Why does the African social system work against ambition?  (64-67)

9. OPTIONAL  Racial and social attitudes.  (67-69)

Review

- communalism
- animism
- extended family structure
- “premodern formlessness” of West African battlefields
- percentage of rain forest
CHAPTER THREE: ALONG THE GULF OF GUINEA

Study Questions

1. Togo Why does Kaplan consider Togo less fact than fiction? How was colonialism at cross-purposes with demography and topography? How did Togo originate? In what ways did Kaplan choose to experience the “curse of the nation-state” first-hand? What was the real purpose of the border? How did Kaplan’s impressions of Accra differ from those of Lome? (70-74)

2. OPTIONAL: Sunrise Hotel; Kenny; hardwood forests; stealing of resources. (74-75)

3. Jerry Rawlings How could a newspaper editor get away with criticizing the leader of Ghana for trying to overthrow the government of Togo? How does he view the current situation in West Africa? (76-77)

4. “Coast of Slaves” Cape Coast Castle, Yaw Mensah, St. George’s Castle. What accounts for some of the attitude differences between American blacks and Africans? (76-81)

5. Slave Trade Compare the European with the inter-African slave trade and how they interacted. What effect did the European presence probably have in encouraging warfare? (81-82)

6. Political Maps How does cartography create facts on the ground? How was Africa artificially reconceived? What have been some of the unintended consequences of modern development (see footnote)? What was Ben Okri’s point? (83-84)

7. OPTIONAL: Westline Hotel; check points; Grand Bassam; United Nations program to eradicate onchocerciasis (river blindness). (85-88)

Review

PART II: THE NILE VALLEY: THE HOLLOW PYRAMID

CHAPTER FOUR: “ORIENTAL DESPOTISM”

Study Questions

1. Aswan High Dam Why did Kaplan consider the dam “the ultimate totalitarian aesthetic?” Compare its engineering sophistication with the Great Pyramid, then with the office building. (91-92)
2. Oriental Despotism How did Karl Marx account for the emergence of authoritarian government? What made hydraulic society, as Karl Wittfogel termed it, distinct from the feudal states of medieval Europe? What are some of the architectural characteristics Kaplan’s “totalitarian aesthetic” – of hydraulic societies? How has Islam reinforced these cultural and architectural tendencies? What does Wittfogel’s theory, for all its flaws, suggest about the ‘personality’ of such systems? (92-95)

3. Hydropolitics of the Nile Valley Compare and contrast the system of basin irrigation with the more recent perennial irrigation regime. What new factors were set in motion with this change? How has the Aswan High Dam affected the larger ecosystem, such as the water table, salinization of the soil, and erosion of the coast line? What are the potential political consequences of growing resource scarcity, population increase, and subsequent engineering schemes? (96-100)

CHAPTER FIVE: ISLAMIC COKETOWN

Study Questions

1. How do Coptic Christians compare with Muslims? Why would the government only privatize a bit? Who are the Copts? Why was Gamaa Islamiya shooting tourists? How has the observance of Ramadan changed in industrialized towns like Assiut? How do the ahli differ from the houkoumi mosques? What attracts urbanized peasants to Islamic extremism? (101-08)

2. What is Ikhwan (Muslim Brotherhood) and what role does it play in Egyptian life? How has it changed since its founding by Hassan el-Banna? What are some consequences of Gamal Abdel Nasser’s land reforms? [Latifundia were the landed estates of the ancient Romans]. What sorts of problems beset the Nasserite state? [It should be noted that Egyptian presidents have been likened to and called pharaohs]. What are the characteristics of “Islamic” or “Koranic” speech? [Remember what Hosnani said about rote learning]. What is Prof. Dr. Habib’s view of Jews, Israel, and those who negotiate with Israel? What “type” does he represent? (108-12)

3. Why is the situation of the Coptic minority so vulnerable? What are some characteristics of the architecture and layout of Coptic monasteries? What are some consequences of the failure of Arab nationalism? According to Jack Goldstone, what lies behind so many modern revolutions? (112-18)

CHAPTER SIX: VOICES OF THE “TORMENTED CITY”

Study Questions

1. Who are the zabaleen? According to the diplomat, what group is most dangerous? Why? Why is Hosni Mubarak moving slowly toward privatization? Why was the diplomat so defensive? How would you characterize his view of the regime? (119-22)

2. Why did Mubarak’s advisor say that human rights is a joke? What did he think of the terrorists? The role of the CIA? How does Dr. Essam el-Erian’s regard the role of the West? What is his conception of moderate Islam? (122-23)

3. How has Alexandria changed from the day of Cavafy in 1914? What “gravitational force” does Thomas Homer-Dixon see emerging? What might happen to the state? What values, represented by Zia ul-Haq and Lee Kuan Yew, might be combined in the “new pharaohs?” What does the author mean by “corporate authoritarianism” and “socialist kleptocracy?” What is his more pessimistic scenario? (123-26)

PART III: ANATOLIA AND THE CAUCASUS: THE EARTH’S STRATEGIC CORE?

CHAPTER SEVEN: “THE STILL POINT OF THE TURNING WORLD”

Study Questions

1. What is Topkapi [Top Kapu Saray]? [It is also the title and setting of a 1964 caper comedy]. What is the double meaning (double entendre) of Sublime Porte [Babussade]? NOTE: The sultan was the Ottoman ruler; the caliph was a successor of Muhammad as the head of Islam. What makes “Seraglio Point” the “still point of the turning world?” [The church, now mosque, of Hagia Sophia is also located there]. How are Istanbul as a place and the early 21st century as a time linked by the theme of nomadism? What is important about the Anatolian peninsula (Anadolu = “mother lode”)? (129-31)

3. Who are the Turks? What has been their historic role? What was the Golden Horde of Genghis Khan and his successors? Why have the Russians been on the offensive against the Tatars since the 16th century? What made the cultural genius of nomadic horsemen like the Magyars (Hungarians) and Finns evident? NOTE: The Hungarian kingdom became explicitly Christian a thousand years ago under King (later St.) Stephen, whose crown is a national symbol. What images are evoked by the romance of the court of the “Grand Turk”? [Think of “Turkish delight.” Edward Said is critical of this western fascination with orientalism]. How did Topkapi evolve? (137-39)

4. Who was Mustafa Kemal Atatürk and why does he enjoy such a favorable image in the West? How did he fashion a Turkish identity? What is Kemalism? What is Anit Kabir? How does the turbe of Turgut Ozal differ? What did Turgut Ozal represent? (139-41)

Review
