

An Integrative Approach to the Existential Problem of Evil in a Post-Pandemic World

Jacob T. Byrd, MDiv

PhD Theology & Apologetics (Student)

1

Can instances of existential suffering, such as were experienced in the Covid-19 pandemic, be addressed effectively using a theodicy?

2

Identify measurable data which represent instances of existential suffering caused by the pandemic.

3

Integrate the best answers from existing theodicies with a theodicy of the cross to best address the data.

Apply the best arguments from an integrative theodicy of the cross to the measurable instances of existential suffering.

4

