Network based on campus

By Brian Strunk

The Liberty Broadcasting Network officially located its operation on the Liberty University campus June 1st. LBN is now broadcasting 24-hour continuous programming via satellite to the continental United States and other countries.

There are plans for the network to produce more of its own programming using personnel and facilities on the LU campus.

Sunday service…..Summer Wemp Saturday service…Dr. Falwell
Buddy McCord Thursday service…Roscoe Brewer

Wednesday chapel…Dr. Falwell Wednesday eve…Roscoe Brewer
Thursday service…Joseph Ton
Friday chapel…Roscoe Brewer

“The network has already hired two journalism students for research,” Steve Troxel, a TVR faculty member, said. Troxel is responsible for the referral of students to LBN for employment.

Network programming is not available for student viewing on campus. Tentative plans, however, are being made to make it possible for LBN to be seen on the television monitors in the DeMoss lounge area.

Telephone system gets final touches

By Elaine Lucadamo

Following much planning and preparation, Liberty’s inter-campus phone system will become a reality to students on Sept. 26.

“This is the top product that AT&T sells. It is like having our own long-distance company,” explained telecommunications manager Jerry Smith.

The system is comparable in quality to other large university systems and long-distance companies such as SPRINT and MCI, according to Smith.

Under it, all local and on-campus phone calls will be free. Rates for long-distance calls will drop substantially between 6 p.m. and 11 p.m. on weekdays. This special service contract sharply in price and convenience to the original “after 11 p.m.” rate.

Each student will receive a personal seven-digit authorization code which will function on campus telephones, and students will be billed monthly through the school’s billing office.

Credit card and collect calls will not be permitted on the new phones.

AT&T provided LU with a package deal which includes a five-year lease of the telephone lines requiring no up-front cost.

This arrangement will allow LU ownership of the system after the five-year period.

The phones carry standard features such as “HOLD” and call transfer, which will allow phone calls to be transferred to other locations on campus.

For a fee of $25 per room per year, students may purchase the use of optional features such as abbreviated dialing, automatic call-back, call-waiting and conference calling.

Vice President Bush visits city

By Marsha Wilde

Vice President George Bush made a stop in Lynchburg Sept. 5 to promote the campaign of Flo Traywick, a Republican hopeful for the sixth district congressional seat.

During a 15 minute address at a breakfast rally held at the Lynchburg Hilton, Bush told supporters that Traywick was needed in the “Reagan coalition” because of her conservative stance. “She will vote in Washington like she talks in Lynchburg and Roanoke,” he stressed.

Bush also described Reagan administration efforts to achieve lower interest rates, reduce unemployment and decrease the national debt.

Citing tax reform as a major issue facing the administration, he said, “I do not want to saddle my grandchildren or any of the kids at Liberty University with more and more debt.”

Bush stressed that America’s future depends greatly on the people adhering to traditional values.

“Our great protection is the confidence in our values. When America is true to principles like family and community, things go well,” he said.

“People are saying that America is back,” he concluded. “That is why this president stands higher in respect and approval than any other president in modern time.”
Sounds of Liberty plan busy year

By Erin Mari Wilson

Four female voices have joined the harmony of the Sounds of Liberty this year.

According to Dr. David Randlett, leader of the Sounds, the summer was a time of rebuilding for the group.

New singers include freshman Cindy Snelling, a soprano from Fort Myers, Fla., and Danville, Va., native Susan Matheny, a sophomore soprano.

Alex Dawn Allen, a sophomore transfer student from Oklahoma Baptist University, and Alberta Coughn, a junior from Riverdale, Md., complete the newcomers.

The Sounds trained the last week in June, and according to Randlett, the training was very rapid. “I was very pleased with their progress,” he said.

During the summer the group represented Singaparison Music at the Totally Gospel Music Conference in Atlanta, Ga., and was featured at the Monday night concert with gospel comedian Jerry Clower.

Randlett explained that the team’s fall schedule will be very busy.

Performances scheduled are as follows:

- Concerned Women of the United States National Convention in Washington, D.C. in October
- The Lynchburg Bicentennial Celebration
- Weekend concerts and youth rallies throughout the semester.

Fines replace reprimands

By Robin Brooks

Returning Liberty University students may notice a rule change which went into effect this semester.

Dean Emerick, dean of men, explained that a new fine system will replace reprimands as a method of discipline for students who violate rules.

A reprimand is a penalty given to a student who has received four write-ups for violations of The Liberty Way.

“We did a lot of checking at other institutions,” Emerick stated. “We felt it (the fine system) was the best direction to go.”

Under the new system four reprimands denotes a $15 fine while up to 16 results in expulsion or a $100 fine.

Collected fines will be put into a fund for future student body needs and projects, such as activities and banquets.

Libertyfest

LU students got a chance to test their strength and get some laughs at the Libertyfest carnival Saturday.

Twenty-seven campus clubs and organizations raised funds by sponsoring games at the old-fashioned carnival.

Flames grab home victory

By Dave Dentel

The LU soccer team shut out Hampton-Sydney College 3-0 Saturday in the long-awaited Flames home soccer premiere, setting LU's season at 1-1-1.

The Flames opened the season with two road games, losing to the University of Richmond 1-0 Sept. 3, and tying Wake Forest 0-0 on Sept. 9. Head soccer coach William Bell said he was glad to finally have a chance to watch his team play at home to see what they can really do.

Though Bell would like for his team to repeat the outstanding performance of last year, he said that he must remain realistic. This year the Flames face their toughest schedule ever.

In 1985, LU posted a 14-2-3 record and placed second in the Virginia Inter-Collegiate Soccer Association tournament. "The team's done well," Bell stated. "But with the move to (NCAA) Division 1 on the horizon, we've got to play more Division 1 teams. It will be competitive, but we've got to give the boys experience.

Included on the '86 roster are opponents such as Seattle Pacific University, defending Division 2 national champions; West Virginia Wesleyan, defending NAIA national champions; and several Division 1 opponents, including the University of Virginia.

Since the Flames are playing many of these teams for the first time, they are obliged to travel to the host schools, meaning more away games and an even tougher season.

Bell, however, is undaunted. "The easiest thing to do is schedule winning games," he remarked. "But if we play quality teams, then we'll be ready when it really matters."

And Bell does have a specific goal to obtain by the end of the season. He hopes for his Flames, who opened the season ranked 14th nationally in Division 2, to retain a top 20 position this year.

The Flames will take on Seattle Pacific University on Sept. 19 and Wheaton College Sept. 20.

Flames face JMU

By Dave Dentel

Saturday marks the first home football game of the season with the Flames vying for their second consecutive upset win over NCAA Division 1 James Madison University Dukes at Lynchburg City Stadium.

If victorious, LU will raise its record to 1-2. The Flames opened the season Sept. 6 at West Georgia College, Carrollton, Ga., with a heartbreaking 21-17 loss in the final seconds. Last Saturday Liberty fell to Mars Hill 15-0 in Mars Hill, N.C.

Looking ahead to JMU and the rest of the season, LU head football coach Morgan Hout's main concern is his team's lack of experience. "This is the youngest team I've been around," Hout said of the Flames, who have only seven seniors and five juniors on their 85-man roster.

Nevertheless, Hout said he hates to think of this year as a rebuilding period and is working to win.

Working to win against JMU will be the LU defense, which was a strong factor in last year's 9-3 defeat of the Dukes in Harrisonburg, Va. "I'm proud of the defense," Hout said. "We've got three good linemen and the best secondary I've ever worked with."

A potential problems could be the defensive line, who Hout feels does not yet have a tough enough pass rush. The reason is that the individual linemen are not as big as most of the opposing linemen. "But we can be as strong," Hout said.

The LU offense, typically an aerial attack, is anchored by freshman quarterback Paul Johnson, who suffered a broken jaw while leading the Flames past JMU last year. The injury put him out for the season.

Johnson's principle targets, however, hold little more experience than he. The starting wide-receivers are sophomore Charles Dorsey and Charles McCray.

Hout also complimented Flames kick-off man Rob Hewlett. Otherwise, Hout said, the kicking game could stand improvement.

Cheerleader selected

By Dave Dentel

LU cheerleader Randal West was selected as a National Cheer­leading Association Team All-American for 1986-87 by the NCA, according to a news release.

West received the honor after participating with the LU squad in an NCA cheerleading clinic held last month at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville.

West was selected from more than 2,500 cheerleaders representing the 300 schools that attended NCA clinics across the nation.

The All-American selection board chose students who dis­played superior cheerleading skills, dedication, enthusiasm and leadership.
