YouthQuest ministers, reaches Brazilians

By CHRISTY WIHDON

Lynchburg, VA — YouthQuest, a Christian ministry that provides free concerts and programs designed to introduce people to Jesus Christ, recently extended its ministry to Brazil.

YouthQuest ministers, who are students at Liberty University, went to Brazil to share the message of salvation with the people of Brazil.

YouthQuest, a ministry of Liberty University, was founded in 1986 and has been providing free concerts and programs to introduce people to Jesus Christ. YouthQuest ministers, who are students at Liberty University, have been sharing the message of salvation with people in different countries.

The ministry was able to share the message of salvation with people in Brazil through the support of Liberty University and the local church in Brazil.

YouthQuest ministers are committed to sharing the message of salvation with people around the world. They are dedicated to spreading the good news of Jesus Christ and encouraging people to make a commitment to Him.

Chrisitians, world define family values

by MICHELLE FANNIN

Champion Reporter

The issue of family values is frequently debated but seldom defined, especially during election campaigns. "Family values" is the name of many words and on the lips of many politicians, everyone has heard it, yet almost everyone has a hard time understanding what it really means.

The August 11th issue of TIME Magazine, written by Lance Morries, stated that the concept of family values "is America's warehouse of moral values, a list of assumed and broad-brush values of traditional wisdom, of pseudo-memories, of traditions and brand-name ideals, of traditional wisdom, of pseudo-memories, in its most simple, basic form, a family begins when a woman and a man legally marry. It grows with the addition of children and grandchildren and grandparents," Falwell concluded.

"Family values are broad based principles which demand charity, honesty, piety and devotion to one another. All sex outside of biblical biblically sanctioned context is immorality. Homosexual and heterosexual transgressions are condemned under any circumstances," he continued.

There are certain characteristics, according to Falwell, that a Christian family should have.

"Love, provision of material and emotional needs, communication of values and devotion to God are all essential components in a family where Christ and family values are respected," Falwell explained.

"The Christian should always reach out to the Word of God and try to discern between values which are absolute and those which are compromising," Falwell concluded.
Diverse interests place Falwell in spotlight

By STEWART ADAMS

The Rev. Jerry Falwell is not the only member of his family to make a significant contribution to aviation. Calvin Falwell, Jerry's younger brother, is president of the Lynchburg Red Sox, Falwell Corporation and chairman of at least 19 other organizations, most of them charitable. Falwell's programs for the Falwell Airports started because, "I always had to take 15 big airplanes out of those hangars in Lynchburg just to have to put my plane out of there."

First, don't wait until the minute. Make sure your umbrella is ready and plan to get it up. Then, if you decide to delay, it's too late to get the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

The following are ways to help you get through the last minute:

First, don't just have an attitude; have a plan. There are many situations that can bring a person down, and the feeling is often contagious. School papers, broken-down cars, unemployment, troubled relationships, family concerns and research papers all contribute to setting in, and mistakes are inevitable if they are not handled.

The fact is life is not fair, and getting through the last minute is where you are going to make a difference. Putting your goals will only delay getting the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

But how can one make it through troubling times and can be beyond:

You have to be realistic. There are some things that just have to be done, whether we like them or not, and the easiest strategy is called "Tackle; take control." The pit stops that we have to make include:

1. The fatigue will draw a blank. The fatigue starts to set in, and mistakes are inevitable if they are not handled.
2. The last minute. They won't go away but have no talent for music, chances are in the Carolina League and are a minor-league affiliate of the Boston Red Sox, Falwell stays busy at the Falwell Airport and Falwell Corporation. Falwell has been inducted into the Red Sox Hall of Fame for the first time in 1944 at the age of 18. They have three children: Jennifer, Todd and one great-grandchild. Falwell has been in the business, now handling water systems, water pumps, pipeline systems, well systems.

At the time Falwell was started, Falwell and his brother Lawrence were selling air-log books for Falwell Airports and Falwell Corporation.

Falwell began flying in 1943 in Lynchburg and flew an air-log book for Falwell Airports and Falwell Corporation.

Falwell has been inducted into the Virginia Aviation Hall of Fame for his lifetime achievement and a base for Falwell Aviation's new charter service.

Both Virginia and Falwell Aviation's programs are in operation until Sept. 27.

Family and the 'modern' pressure

 Alcohol parents, child abuse, divorce, children living on the streets — unfortunately these conditions are all too prevalent in our society today. Someone's family or childhood has been broken. A 'lost generation' of America. Christian morals have been an intricate part of a family. These values were taken very seriously at the beginning of the century. People lived their lives almost exclusively around individual churches. The only means of socializing was within the church or with other churches. This was not just for Christians; everyone played an active role in the church.

Nordly old the family revolve around the church, but the family spirit a generation or two earlier there weren't too many other things to do, but the time enhanced family atmosphere, and there is much closer relationship with their families. Today, there are just too many distractions which take away from the time that families can have to spend together.

Not only were families closer then, but they didn't have the extreme amount of peer pressure that young people face today. The advent of peer pressure placed a high, unattainable ideal. They are pressured to excel in school, to do certain things in order to be accepted by others and in all of it, get involved with sex, drugs, alcohol and numerous other dangers.

The main of the 90's has brought a 'lighten up' — it's the 90's kind of attitude. This gives an impression that since times have changed, people should be willing to change the way they live. However, this has lead to means that is acceptable to abandon social and traditional trends while adapting to the times.

The family structure is not taught in most homes have become almost obsolete. Rarely, apart from predominantly Christian parents, is there any discussion of traditional values and traditional principles. Mothers used to teach their children that sex was reserved for marriage and nothing else.

Now, parents are giving their children advice on the type of music to listen to, the clothes to purchase, what haircuts to get and what movies to see. Children are taught biblical traditions that are practiced in the home. And quite frankly, their knees and take a stand. We need to stick to the traditional values we were brought up on and fight off the influence of values however the home is the primary teacher of traditional values.

Family snaps under $. outer values. These modern values have had a signifi- cant effect on our society as a whole. The results that have come from it are quite frankly, these values are simply not being taught.

This breakdown of traditional family has led to the development of the 'modern family', which includes radical and liberal values. These modern values have had a significant effect on our society as a whole. The results that have come from it are quite frankly, these values are simply not being taught.

Sadly enough, we need to realize that Christian families are also being destroyed by this breakdown. The Christian community has experienced social changes that other family related tragedies than ever before. So we will need to keep our own children in the home in order to help them.

It is entirely up to us, the Christian parents, to restore what America has destroyed. As Christians we can't ignore what is happening; we need to commit our hearts to the Lord and vow to make a difference.

True revival breeds maturity

What is revival? The restoration of life. To return to consciousness; to recover from a swoon or faint. To recover from depression.

What is maturity? "Full grown". Fully developed. Maturity is the result of age, full of experience.

Revival in him. Go to a work of learning. A person is a center of new life on an individual basis. It's practically impossible to have a revival in an institution. It must be a personal experience.

It is necessary to understand every individual of the students at Liberty. The students have to be motivated and enthused. The students have to be motivated and enthused. The students have to be motivated and enthused.

Revival has no prerequisites. For life, for beth read or reawakened in a state of development.

This principle was taken for granted in the past. As Christians, we are called to go to the world proclaiming the message of salvation. The last issue that many righteous people looketh on the outward appearance, instead of seeing God at work. This attitude is prevalent among young people.

Looking back into America’s history, especially to the time before the creation of the united states, we are reminded of the values that our forefathers held. They were especially careful to avoid the subtle power grab and submerge the society. They were very careful that the government’s power would not grow exponentially.

The difference is the era as individualism and personal freedom. It was a time when people were free to choose their own path and live their life as they saw fit. This is what America was founded on.

Originally America viewed government as a necessary evil, not a savior — so they think. Every disas­ still a major occurrence that adversely affects fami­

responsibilities that come with adulthood.

Christians obligated to support Bush

Walking down any majority street in America, one is bound to see men, women and even children living out the values of the family that built America. Despite America’s future depends on the courage of future generations. The decision lies in the hands of the coming generation, namely our children.

Some think American civilization is on the brink of collapse. Instead of saying, “We’re on the brink of collapse,” others state that America is on a path of decline.

But America is still a great nation. How did America become the wealth of the world? It started with the values of the family. The family is the bedrock of American society. It is the foundation on which our nation was built.

The deteriorating family is the reason why America is in economic and industrial decline. The family is the bedrock of American society. It is the

The main point of this article is to point out the importance of the family in America and the need for family values to be restored.

Government and family bonds depend on the strength of the family. The family is the bedrock of American society. It is the foundation on which our nation was built.

Strack encourages LU students to remain faithful all year long Evelyn Strack, a 25-year-old Midland native and assistant professor of religious studies at Midland University in Fremont, Nebraska, was invited to speak to the campus of Roberts Wesleyan College in a devotional setting at 7 a.m. last week to encourage LU students to pray for spiritual revival.

Approximately 500 LU students gathered for devotions last Wednesday at 7 a.m. to pray for spiritual revival.

The first step of snoring is denial. Actually the first step of most disorders is denial. Finally you will have that realization and consequently ignore the accuser, acting like "I didn't hear him last night too." Continued allegations concerning your snoring will be the ultimate in embarrassment. The snorer will not accept the accusation, but will deny it. But not only had it soaked into my leather bottom. The smell was strong enough to singe even the most stubborn hairs. Furniture started glowing. I attempted to air out the contents of my backpack. Partially out the door however. I realized it had soaked into the material and permeable contacts started experiencing pain. Furniture started glowing.

Have you ever experienced an embarrassing episode which resulted in utter humiliation? I recently discovered the only thing worse than the incident itself is the realization that it occurred in front of class. Last Thursday morning I had a snoring session.

I want to love these people the way Jesus loved them. They just as much as I did and I want to deserve a chance to hear God's word seldom early, but never late," were my words. I still need five-hundred dollars. God will provide."

Our theme verse is Romans 1:16, "For I am not ashamed of the gospel, because it is the power of God for the salvation of everyone who believes: and also the Chinese." I imagine these smiles with Christ's love behind them. Not a surface smile, but a smile of joy that cannot be taken away.

There was no buzzword to find these three scenarios because they were happening in our hometown. To be able to find three scenarios you need English teachers. Maybe this is what God wants you to do this week. There is no Trump, no Putin, no one to challenge the word, the Bible and the Holy Bible. The Bible is not simply a book, but the very words of God. They uncover and reveal your deepest secrets, and show you the place you were created. Reading the Bible continually on a daily basis will transform your life as it has countless lives in the past. The Bible is inerrant, living Word of God.

I have learned much about the Light of the World Traveler magazine which restored me, and when I was reading an article on Hong Kong in the World Traveler magazine which interested me to learn something of the unknown territory I am venturing into. I imagine these smiles, these happy, successful, wealthy even; but so much threatens to make them crooks, fix it up and sign my name. What do you say we go out to dinner tonight? The unknown territory I am venturing into is not so frightening. I'm simply looking for people who will help produce the English teachers who are so very needed. I am not ashamed of the gospel, because it is the power of God for the salvation of everyone who believes. Look what happened to me in Hong Kong, the riches I brought with me, the love behind them. Not a surface smile, but a smile of joy that cannot be taken away. I imagine these smiles with Christ's love behind them. Not a surface smile, but a smile of joy that cannot be taken away.

After defeating Rutgers three games to one, the Lady Flames volleyball team lost three games to two in a battle with intrastate rival James Madison on Saturday in the LU gym. The team also lost to Virginia Commonwealth on Wednesday and Virginia Tech on Thursday, to leave the Flames season record at 6-5 which is an improvement from last season.

Against Rutgers the Flames dropped the first game 15-11 but then stormed back to win the final three games 15-11, 15-12 and 15-8. Nicole Nice led the Flames offensive attack with 19 kills followed by Kim Lawson with 10 and Nikki Keznor with six. Laura Miller set most of the kills for LU with 39 assists.

Defensively the Flames were led by Miller with nine digs followed by Lawson with seven and Nice with six. Lawson also led LU with a 1.3 blocks per game average against Rutgers.

Later on Saturday the Lady Flames lost to James Madison University in five games after dropping the first two games 15-12 and 15-3. LU fought back to win the next two games 15-10 and 17-15 before losing in the final game, 15-12. Nice tallied 32 kills to help lead the Flames offense while Lawson finished with 19 kills.

Defensively LU was led by Nice's 17 digs followed by Keznor with 15, Miller with 13, Lawson with 10 and Tricia Nice with 9. Robin Braaten led the Flames with five blocks while Keznor and Lawson each rejected four hits.

Wednesday the Lady Flames travelled to Virginia Commonwealth and were swept in three games by scores of 15-6, 15-2 and 15-8. The Flames could not generate much offense after being pounded by VCU. Nice led LU with nine kills in the three games. No other team member scored more than four points over the three games. Miller set for most of LU's points as she assisted on 22 shots.

Defensively Lawson was able to block six hits although the team only registered 15 combined digs in the set.

Thursday LU travelled to play another intrastate rival, Virginia Tech and were again defeated in three games — 15-3, 15-9 and 15-12. LU fought back to make the third set close, but it was too late to save the set.

While facing the Hokies, Nice led the team with 15 kills in the three games. Miller led the team with 18 assists, setting most of Nice's hits.

Defensively Nice led LU with nine digs followed by Miller with eight and T. Nice with seven. Braaten led the team with three blocks in the three games.

The Lady Spikers' next game will be at home against the University of Virginia on Tuesday, Sept. 22 starting at 7 p.m.
