Follow this and additional works at: http://digitalcommons.liberty.edu/paper_03_04

Recommended Citation

http://digitalcommons.liberty.edu/paper_03_04/3
Riding the Bench
Democrat senators use obstructionist tactics to keep judicial nominations from a vote

Missing Liberty
A look back at past LU homecoming traditions

Homecoming up: Win big with best float

By Brian Long
Editor-in-Chief

For the homecoming parade that will have more floats than usual since students are being enticed with a larger prize. Students and faculty are invited to join the parade and possibly win a free meal at the hottest new restaurant in town.

"We have 13 floats signed up so far," said Phil Harrison, Special Projects Coordinator for Student Activities, "but we're expecting more to sign up as we get closer to the parade date."

The parade will start at 3 p.m. and will be making its way down University Boulevard, around the circle and back out through the front entrance of the school.

The Marching band and the administration, including Dr. Jerry Falwell and Dr. John M. Borek will lead the parade followed by the teams who have constructed floats. The day will conclude with the football game at 3 p.m.

There will also be a float contest this year. "A big prize will go out to the best float," commented Harrison, "It'll be the team with the most creative float that shows some spirit."

The award is a dinner for 25 people at Neighbor's Place Restaurant located on Enterprise Drive in the Brookville-Timberlake neighborhood.

"Dinner for 25 think of it as a great idea," said Harrison, "Surely everyone loves dinner."

The prospect of dinner with 24 friends is enough to make most credits for the team with the most creative float that shows some spirit.

The parade will start at 3 p.m. and will be making its way down University Boulevard, around the circle and back out through the front entrance of the school.

The Marching band and the administration, including Dr. Jerry Falwell and Dr. John M. Borek will lead the parade followed by the teams who have constructed floats. The day will conclude with the football game at 3 p.m.

There will also be a float contest this year. "A big prize will go out to the best float," commented Harrison, "It'll be the team with the most creative float that shows some spirit."

The award is a dinner for 25 people at Neighbor's Place Restaurant located on Enterprise Drive in the Brookville-Timberlake neighborhood.

"Dinner for 25 think of it as a great idea," said Harrison, "Surely everyone loves dinner."

The prospect of dinner with 24 friends is enough to make most credits for the team with the most creative float that shows some spirit.

The parade will start at 3 p.m. and will be making its way down University Boulevard, around the circle and back out through the front entrance of the school.

The Marching band and the administration, including Dr. Jerry Falwell and Dr. John M. Borek will lead the parade followed by the teams who have constructed floats. The day will conclude with the football game at 3 p.m.

There will also be a float contest this year. "A big prize will go out to the best float," commented Harrison, "It'll be the team with the most creative float that shows some spirit."

The award is a dinner for 25 people at Neighbor's Place Restaurant located on Enterprise Drive in the Brookville-Timberlake neighborhood.

"Dinner for 25 think of it as a great idea," said Harrison, "Surely everyone loves dinner."

The prospect of dinner with 24 friends is enough to make most credits for the team with the most creative float that shows some spirit.
ATTENTION STUDENTS: Did you know that if you bought a home and got 3 or 4 of your friends to buy a home, that you could average about $300 profit?

ATTENTION FACULTY: Thinking of moving into a bigger home, because several of your students need a place to live? Look no further!
SEPTEMBER 30, 2003 THE LIBERTY CHAMPION, Page 3

Dwayne Carson has spent nearly two decades at Liberty University and he has seen many changes, not just on campus, but in his own life.

Carson was born in Lynchburg, Va. and grew up in Amherst County. As a boy, Carson was taught how to work on the family farm. At the age of 4, he milked the cows and attended Sunday School. As a young boy, Carson was taught how to milk the cows and attend Sunday School. As a young man, Carson felt called to minister to others.

Carson attended Liberty University in 1985 and began his ministry at Liberty University in 1986. Carson, an RA, heard about the vision for Liberty University from Dr. Jerry Falwell. Carson was inspired by the passion and faith of Dr. Falwell and decided to pursue a career in ministry.

Carson has been a pillar of the Liberty University community for nearly 20 years. He has served in various capacities, including as an academic advisor, a campus pastor, and as a leader in the religious studies department.

Carson is known for his leadership abilities and his commitment to the mission of Liberty University. He has a deep understanding of the students he serves and their needs.

Carson is a committed family man. He and his wife, Carol, have four children.

Carson is a testament to the impact Liberty University has had on his life. He has found his place in the Liberty family and has been a positive influence on the lives of many students.

Carson's journey has been one of growth and transformation. He has found his calling in ministry and has dedicated his life to serving others.

Carson's story is a reminder of the power of faith and the transformative potential of higher education. He is grateful for the opportunities he has had at Liberty University and looks forward to the future of his ministry and his family.
The Caravan, which began Sept. 28, is led by the Rev. Dr. Schneck and Dr. Andrew, an alum of Liberty University and the pastor of Faith Baptist Church in Sarasota, Florida. Along with a mobile billboard of the Ten Commandments, the Caravan is traveling with an exact replica of the displaced monument. After leaving Alabama the Caravan follows a tight schedule sleeping in different churches in South Carolina and North Carolina before arriving at Liberty University on Oct. 3.

"Liberty University is pleased to have the Commandments Caravan stop on our campus," said Dr. Dave. "The University did not initiate this effort, rather we agreed that the federal court was wrong to order the removal of Ten Commandments and I certainly expected the belief that this nation was built on the Judeo-Christian ethic," said Dr. Jeff Felwell, Chancellor of Liberty University. "Both Rev. Schneck and Dr. Andrew, who is scheduled to give the keynote address Sunday on the West Lawn, will appear in conversation with Dr. Phil, which will be broadcast to all Liberty students via Interfaith on the historical significance of this struggle. "The importance of the Ten Commandments is that there is a far greater impact than most people realize," said Dr. Jeff. "It is there­...re: the Law and without it there is no need for a Savior. This is a far greater impact than most people realize," said Dr. Andy. "I am therefore, the duty of every Christian to support this purpose. They can do this by...There are many things they can do to vote for the motion should it come to the floor."
SEPTEMBER 30, 2003

By Robert Sisk

With a mix of ska, punk, and heavy metal, Five Iron Frenzy (FIF) played to a capacity of 1790 fans in the Schilling center on September 19.

By Brian Long

With the construction finally complete, Jazzman’s Cafe is now open and ready for business.

"Wednesday, September 24 was the official opening day," Tom Dono­ van, Retail Manager of Jazzman’s, said. "We started normal operating hours on Thursday.

Jazzman’s Cafe is a Seattle project offering Seattle’s best leased coffee. The normal running hours for the new cafe, located inside the ILRC, is Monday through Friday from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. and 12 noon to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Jazzman’s was originally planned to be in the atrium of the Arthur S. Deloach Learning Center, but was then moved to the ILRC to make room for the Jerry Finkel Library.

"We have a large variety of coffee, tea and baked goods. We are a full service place with a wide variety of coffee, tea and baked goods," John Debnam, the Deloach Learning Center, said.

"There are coffee, tea and baked goods. We also have a variety of bottled water, sodas and pastries. We have a variety of muffins, turnovers, access and cookies as well as a large selection of bev­ erage coffee. Among these are various, rasp­ berry, cappuccino and latte.

Among the most unique style that can be called coffee is the Billy's-like operation, but we are a regular Starbucks. We have a variety of bottled water, soda and tea. We also have a variety of muffins, turnovers, access and cookies as well as a large selection of beverage coffee. Among these are various, raspberry, coffee and latte.

"I would first like to thank everyone who attended the opening and comes to the cafe. We have a variety of baked goods, coffee and tea. We also have a variety of bottled water, soda and tea. We also have a variety of muffins, turnovers, access and cookies as well as a large selection of beverage coffee. Among these are various, raspberry, coffee and latte.

"Most tours that we do have been successful, but this one is different. We have been successful, but this one is different. We have been successful, but this one is different. We have been successful, but this one is different.

"Most tours that we do have been successful, but this one is different. We have been successful, but this one is different. We have been successful, but this one is different. We have been successful, but this one is different.

"Most tours that we do have been successful, but this one is different. We have been successful, but this one is different. We have been successful, but this one is different. We have been successful, but this one is different.

"Most tours that we do have been successful, but this one is different. We have been successful, but this one is different. We have been successful, but this one is different. We have been successful, but this one is different.

"Most tours that we do have been successful, but this one is different. We have been successful, but this one is different. We have been successful, but this one is different. We have been successful, but this one is different.

"Most tours that we do have been successful, but this one is different. We have been successful, but this one is different. We have been successful, but this one is different. We have been successful, but this one is different.

"Most tours that we do have been successful, but this one is different. We have been successful, but this one is different. We have been successful, but this one is different. We have been successful, but this one is different.

"Most tours that we do have been successful, but this one is different. We have been successful, but this one is different. We have been successful, but this one is different. We have been successful, but this one is different.

"Most tours that we do have been successful, but this one is different. We have been successful, but this one is different. We have been successful, but this one is different. We have been successful, but this one is different.
Breaking the cycle

Students hold the key to changing trash trends

Since it's beginning, Liberty University has played a growing role in Lynchburg's economy, providing a large student work force, consuming local products and filling the local landfill. Every year Liberty produces between 600 and 650 tons of trash, excluding an additional 300 tons produced by the dining facilities. While various campus groups have sponsored short term recycling drives from time to time, Liberty has yet to adopt a campus wide recycling program. "I think the need is there. (A recycling program) would be a very good thing, but right now we lack a good handle on how it would work," said Randy Johnson, Grounds Department manager. "We would need full student cooperation." Student cooperation has long been the key to campus recycling programs. Virginia Tech's program, which now recovers 25 percent of the university's total trash, was started when a YMCA sponsored student organization began aluminum can recycling in 1987. By 1991 the program was officially established and to this day maintains a large base of volunteers, which boast saving Virginia Tech $50,000 on landfill tipping fees and other expenses in 2002. The University of Virginia has capitalized on similar savings by incorporating recycling into a Division of Disposible and Reusable Resources. The Division, which maintains a staff, pays for much of its recycling efforts with the savings on tipping fees and money received for marketable recyclables, such as white paper, which sells at more than $40 a ton. Last year UVa. recycled just under 60 percent of the university's trash, saving over 4,600 tons of trash from the landfill. Calculating the complete success of these programs, however, is difficult. Many students form life long habits while they are in college. "People in college learn a lot of different things for the first time," said Dennis Clark, the Director of Recycling at UVa. "They rent an apartment for the first time, learn to communicate, and believe in a fresh book. Recycling is a part of all that. You learn to think about your neighbor and those around you." As good stewards of the earth, it is our responsibility to be efficient with what God has given us. Johnson suggests that students start the process, possibly by coordinating recycling in their dorms. "One thing is for sure, without student support no program will be a success. Recycling centers have traditionally run into two difficulties. First they must get people involved by creating accessible recycling locations, and second they must keep environmentally insensitive individuals from ruining collections. How many times have you seen the aluminum can bin at your local park overflowing with trash?"

As for Liberty, while a program is yet to be slated for the near future, potential for one does exist. Liberty pays $48 a ton in tipping fees. This money, could be saved through recycling efforts and then funneled back into developing a more comprehensive program. Liberty's Grounds Department already recycles motor oil, batteries and tires from its shop, as well as mulching excess leaves and brush. The Champion, for its part, recycles its issues which are left past the next publication. Calculating the complete success of these programs, however, is difficult. Many students form life long habits while they are in college. "People in college learn a lot of different things for the first time," said Dennis Clark, the Director of Recycling at UVa. "They rent an apartment for the first time, learn to communicate, and believe in a fresh book. Recycling is a part of all that. You learn to think about your neighbor and those around you." As good stewards of the earth, it is our responsibility to be efficient with what God has given us. Johnson suggests that students start the process, possibly by coordinating recycling in their dorms. "One thing is for sure, without student support no program will be a success. Recycling centers have traditionally run into two difficulties. First they must get people involved by creating accessible recycling locations, and second they must keep environmentally insensitive individuals from ruining collections. How many times have you seen the aluminum can bin at your local park overflowing with trash?"

As for Liberty, while a program is yet to be slated for the near future, potential for one does exist. Liberty pays $48 a ton in tipping fees. This money, could be saved through recycling efforts and then funneled back into developing a more comprehensive program. Liberty's Grounds Department already recycles motor oil, batteries and tires from its shop, as well as mulching excess leaves and brush. The Champion, for its part, recycles its issues which are left past the next publication.
Christian and secular: Two ways to educate

I have experienced both public education and Christian education at the middle school, high school, and the collegiate level. I have encountered a place where students were indoctrinated and instructed in a manner that was not aligned with the teachings of the Bible while being subjected to a secular world-view in the public schools. Conversely, Christian education both forms a philosophical approach, instruction, and education. To what extent should Christian education combine both forms of learning? This article will explore the benefits of both forms of learning.

In reaction to the Supreme Court decisions of the 1970s and 1980s regarding such matters as prayer in school and prayer in public education,等等。Christian and public education are both important. In the world of public education, teachers/professors to study and teach at Christian and public education are both Script-Tally appropriate and necessary.

Illegal download low down

It's an issue of great debate, especially among parents and young people. The question is: Should the recording industry be able to sue people for downloading music from the internet? It is wrong to steal music. The copyright owner should be able to sue anyone for downloading music. In this case, the Recording Industry of America (RIAA) recently filed 261 lawsuits across the US as the next step of their campaign to stop illegal downloading and distribution of music. The RIAA also said that there will be hundreds more lawsuits in the coming weeks.

So what is the big deal about file-sharing and downloading music illegally? It all comes down to right and wrong. Breaking any law is wrong, no matter what legal expert you think he is right. Copyright laws are law for all other laws, except they cannot be broken. It is not just breaking an unfair law, either. Stealing. When someone creates something, it belongs to that person. It is their story, or a piece of art they own the rights to that creation. If they do not receive the money that is theirs, it is theft. This is stealing because that downloading music in violation of copyright is stealing and it is a different form of shoplifting a music store and shoplifting a CD.

Unfortunately, ability and willingness to upload the law is not what the senators who are seeking to upload the law are looking for in those who will study the law, either the senators or the courts. The senators are only afraid of the whim of the people or the legislative process. Many of liberalism's high profile cases have been lost. The title of a speech or the title of the law is not necessary to see that truth constrains political decisions.

Republicans and principled Democrats need to stand up to this blatant disregard for the Constitution by at the very least bringing President's nominees to the Senate for a vote. If they are not quali­fied, vote them down. If they are quali­fied, vote them up. Whatever the outcome, the process will go on. By doing so, the Senate will demonstrate that those who would rewrite the constitution of our judicial system in the all of political opposition will not succeed. Justice is on the line.
SEPTMBER 30, 2003

The phrase "Always a bridesmaid, never a bride," actually originates from an advertisement for Listerine mouthwash from 1924.

www.qualitypapers.com

"I don't limit myself to labels, because it's always in fashion to like something and make it your own," Raitter said. This year's fall fashions seem to be more laid back and less formalistic. Some things that fall in style resemble the 80s. I don't limit myself to labels because it's always in fashion to like something and make it your own," Raitter said. This year's fall fashions seem to be more laid back and less formalistic. Some things that fall in style resemble the 80s.

"I don't limit myself to labels, because it's always in fashion to like something and make it your own," Raitter said. This year's fall fashions seem to be more laid back and less formalistic. Some things that fall in style resemble the 80s.

"I don't limit myself to labels, because it's always in fashion to like something and make it your own," Raitter said. This year's fall fashions seem to be more laid back and less formalistic. Some things that fall in style resemble the 80s.

"I don't limit myself to labels, because it's always in fashion to like something and make it your own," Raitter said. This year's fall fashions seem to be more laid back and less formalistic. Some things that fall in style resemble the 80s.

"I don't limit myself to labels, because it's always in fashion to like something and make it your own," Raitter said. This year's fall fashions seem to be more laid back and less formalistic. Some things that fall in style resemble the 80s.

"I don't limit myself to labels, because it's always in fashion to like something and make it your own," Raitter said. This year's fall fashions seem to be more laid back and less formalistic. Some things that fall in style resemble the 80s.

"I don't limit myself to labels, because it's always in fashion to like something and make it your own," Raitter said. This year's fall fashions seem to be more laid back and less formalistic. Some things that fall in style resemble the 80s.

"I don't limit myself to labels, because it's always in fashion to like something and make it your own," Raitter said. This year's fall fashions seem to be more laid back and less formalistic. Some things that fall in style resemble the 80s.

"I don't limit myself to labels, because it's always in fashion to like something and make it your own," Raitter said. This year's fall fashions seem to be more laid back and less formalistic. Some things that fall in style resemble the 80s.
By Sue Lee

S  everal years ago, Liberty University's homecoming looked much different than it does today. Instead of lining University Boulevard and cheering at a small town high school to sprawling university campuses, to nonexistent standards and contests, young ladies competed for the crown.

Now, it seems, the interest in beauty pageants has dwindled. ABC reported that viewership for the Miss America pageant on September 23 was its lowest ever. Only 10.5 million viewers tuned in, compared to the 23.3 million who watched the pageant eight years ago. Liberty was also involved in the pageant era. In addition to holding its own homecoming coronation, other pageants, such as the Miss Danville pageant, George Kaunz, then students to become involved and to take on moral truths. I believe in a God who believes in certain absolute and self-evident moral truths. I believe in a God who makes each one of our lives sacred and precious.

"When I go to games, I stay for the whole game," said senior Marie Erickson. "Like the Founders of our country, I respect the 引据 to protect the God who blesses this country."

The student body participated wholeheartedly, sending in over 300 applicants that the panel of judges would critique the candidates in a final vote to be given to the students. Judges voted on each one of the candidates based on creativity, involvement in the campus, academics, ambition, and appearance. For Kaunz, the moment will stay with her forever. The last conversation I had with my grandfather was to call him and tell him that I had won. It was the only time I've ever cried," she said, her voice cracking.

Georgie Kaunz also learned from her experiences. "I think God allowed me to win, just to show the students that he works, that he can work in ways we never thought he would."

As a woman who does a lot of counseling, I don't know if it benefits the majority of people," said Kearns. "I think it would be good for school spirit," she said, adding, "The only problem I see is it turning into a popularity contest." Some students do not like the idea of a beauty pageant, "The only problem I see is it turning into a popularity contest."

According to Vice President of Student Affairs Mark Mine, there simply was not enough student interest to continue the pageant, adding that "the pageant was a great way to celebrate the men and women who fight to preserve the freedoms we enjoy in America."

Hannity is a man who is on the battle ground. He explains that liberals want to sit trapped in low-quality, dangerous public schools. They are anti-choice."

For instance, he says, "I have not read a single book or seen a single movie that has been written by a Christian who is not a conservative."

When it comes to women's issues, we need to make our voices heard louder and clearer."

"When I find a good parking spot I say, thank God!" said the new Miss America, Karen Morrison. "I always wear school colors and don't even let my car get cold." said her new Miss Liberty, Georgie Kaunz.

Although the era of the pageant benefited Karen, it is a political show in which the two candidates for the crown have to agree with and support.

Of course, the philosophy that stands for conservative principles, the philosophy that stands for the American family principles. Sean is to be commended, admired-and watched!"

This comes from the chapter in his book Let Freedom Ring. Hannity holds nothing back from his readers. There are plenty of people who are trapped in low-quality, dangerous public schools. They are anti-choice."

"When it comes to women's freedom, it's a fight for those who want to choose better, safer schools for their children," said Hannity. "That's what the book is about." Hannity is a man who is on the battle ground of politics and he fights for a worthy cause. He wants a man and woman in power that stand for conservative principles."

Hannity believes that the book is a way to let the audience in the Vines Center, encouraging them to show school spirit by driving a red car, that's one of ours!"

"I chant Jerry Jerry when he comes to speak in convocation that's our school spirit," said Beth Schroeder.

"I try to recruit people everywhere I go and to get them involved," said Kearns. "I think it would be good for school spirit."

"The Western world can learn a lot from our country, believes in certain absolute and self-evident moral truths. I believe in a God who created each one of us in his image, which means each one of us is sacred and precious and worthy of dignity," said Sean Hannity in his new book Let Freedom Ring: Winning the War of Liberty Over Liberalism.

Hannity and Colmes is a TV show on Fox News. It is a political show in which the two hosts invite guests onto the show to talk about current issues that America faces. Hannity speaks from a conservative background. He also has his own radio talk show. Both his radio and TV show have received high ratings. Hannity's book shows him to be a strong conservative who is a real champion for the men and women who fight to preserve the freedoms that we enjoy in America. However, he does not think that the liberals that are out there now. He explains that liberals want to sit trapped in low-quality, dangerous public schools. They are anti-choice."

"When it comes to women's freedom, it's a fight for those who want to choose better, safer schools for their children," said Hannity. "That's what the book is about." Hannity is a man who is on the battle ground of politics and he fights for a worthy cause. He wants a man and woman in power that stand for conservative principles."

Hannity believes that the book is a way to let the audience in the Vines Center, encouraging them to show school spirit by driving a red car, that's one of ours!"

"The Western world can learn a lot from our country, believes in certain absolute and self-evident moral truths. I believe in a God who created each one of us in his image, which means each one of us is sacred and precious and worthy of dignity," said Sean Hannity in his new book Let Freedom Ring: Winning the War of Liberty Over Liberalism.

Hannity and Colmes is a TV show on Fox News. It is a political show in which the two hosts invite guests onto the show to talk about current issues that America faces. Hannity speaks from a conservative background. He also has his own radio talk show. Both his radio and TV show have received high ratings. Hannity's book shows him to be a strong conservative who is a real champion for the men and women who fight to preserve the freedoms that we enjoy in America. However, he does not think that the liberals that are out there now. He explains that liberals want to sit trapped in low-quality, dangerous public schools. They are anti-choice."

"When it comes to women's freedom, it's a fight for those who want to choose better, safer schools for their children," said Hannity. "That's what the book is about." Hannity is a man who is on the battle ground of politics and he fights for a worthy cause. He wants a man and woman in power that stand for conservative principles."

Hannity believes that the book is a way to let the audience in the Vines Center, encouraging them to show school spirit by driving a red car, that's one of ours!"

"I always wear school colors and don't even let my car get cold." said her new Miss Liberty, Georgie Kaunz. "I try to recruit people everywhere I go and to get them involved," said Kearns. "I think it would be good for school spirit."

"The Western world can learn a lot from our country, believes in certain absolute and self-evident moral truths. I believe in a God who created each one of us in his image, which means each one of us is sacred and precious and worthy of dignity," said Sean Hannity in his new book Let Freedom Ring: Winning the War of Liberty Over Liberalism. Hannity and Colmes is a TV show on Fox News. It is a political show in which the two hosts invite guests onto the show to talk about current issues that America faces. Hannity speaks from a conservative background. He also has his own radio talk show. Both his radio and TV show have received high ratings. Hannity's book shows him to be a strong conservative who is a real champion for the men and women who fight to preserve the freedoms that we enjoy in America. However, he does not think that the liberals that are out there now. He explains that liberals want to sit trapped in low-quality, dangerous public schools. They are anti-choice."

"When it comes to women's freedom, it's a fight for those who want to choose better, safer schools for their children," said Hannity. "That's what the book is about." Hannity is a man who is on the battle ground of politics and he fights for a worthy cause. He wants a man and woman in power that stand for conservative principles."

Hannity believes that the book is a way to let the audience in the Vines Center, encouraging them to show school spirit by driving a red car, that's one of ours!"

"I always wear school colors and don't even let my car get cold." said her new Miss Liberty, Georgie Kaunz. "I try to recruit people everywhere I go and to get them involved," said Kearns. "I think it would be good for school spirit."

"The Western world can learn a lot from our country, believes in certain absolute and self-evident moral truths. I believe in a God who created each one of us in his image, which means each one of us is sacred and precious and worthy of dignity," said Sean Hannity in his new book Let Freedom Ring: Winning the War of Liberty Over Liberalism.

Hannity and Colmes is a TV show on Fox News. It is a political show in which the two hosts invite guests onto the show to talk about current issues that America faces. Hannity speaks from a conservative background. He also has his own radio talk show. Both his radio and TV show have received high ratings. Hannity's book shows him to be a strong conservative who is a real champion for the men and women who fight to preserve the freedoms that we enjoy in America. However, he does not think that the liberals that are out there now. He explains that liberals want to sit trapped in low-quality, dangerous public schools. They are anti-choice."

"When it comes to women's freedom, it's a fight for those who want to choose better, safer schools for their children," said Hannity. "That's what the book is about." Hannity is a man who is on the battle ground of politics and he fights for a worthy cause. He wants a man and woman in power that stand for conservative principles."

Hannity believes that the book is a way to let the audience in the Vines Center, encouraging them to show school spirit by driving a red car, that's one of ours!"

"I always wear school colors and don't even let my car get cold." said her new Miss Liberty, Georgie Kaunz. "I try to recruit people everywhere I go and to get them involved," said Kearns. "I think it would be good for school spirit."

"The Western world can learn a lot from our country, believes in certain absolute and self-evident moral truths. I believe in a God who created each one of us in his image, which means each one of us is sacred and precious and worthy of dignity," said Sean Hannity in his new book Let Freedom Ring: Winning the War of Liberty Over Liberalism. Hannity and Colmes is a TV show on Fox News. It is a political show in which the two hosts invite guests onto the show to talk about current issues that America faces. Hannity speaks from a conservative background. He also has his own radio talk show. Both his radio and TV show have received high ratings. Hannity's book shows him to be a strong conservative who is a real champion for the men and women who fight to preserve the freedoms that we enjoy in America. However, he does not think that the liberals that are out there now. He explains that liberals want to sit trapped in low-quality, dangerous public schools. They are anti-choice."

"When it comes to women's freedom, it's a fight for those who want to choose better, safer schools for their children," said Hannity. "That's what the book is about." Hannity is a man who is on the battle ground of politics and he fights for a worthy cause. He wants a man and woman in power that stand for conservative principles."

Hannity believes that the book is a way to let the audience in the Vines Center, encouraging them to show school spirit by driving a red car, that's one of ours!"
The Flames offense ices over against the Penguins

Second place MS- Running back Dre Barnes rushed for a season-high 130 yards Saturday, placing him second on the all-time list. The game was delayed for 90 minutes as severe lightning electrified the crowd of over 8,500 who watched the LU football Flames offense ices over against the Penguins.

There was fire on the mountain Saturday night as an assistant in the second half to push the lead to 17-3. The Flames defense did not surrender a scoring drive for their second touchdown of the night. YSU added a booming, 56-yard field goal at the end of the half to push the lead to 17-3.

In the second half, fans saw limited offense from the Flames, and YSU tacked on an additional 17 points to reach the 34-3 final. Dre Barnes led the ground attack for the Flames with 130 yards on 18 carries. Condon threw for 16 completions for a total of 124 yards. Flames linebacker Kendrick Howard was sidelined with an injury early in the game, but the Flames defense simply missed a beat.

The Flames offense ices over against the Penguins.

The Flames win first game against KWU

Andrew Martin

The Flames won their first game on September 20 in a 47-35 win against Division two opponent Kentucky Wesleyan. Defense is what ignited the team in the win. They allowed only 56 yards of total offense for the visiting Panthers. Defensive lineman Seth Reichart led the stout defense with seven tackles.

Special teams coach Eric Harris started the scoring early in the first quarter when he blocked a punt from the leg of KW's punter that bounced out of the back of the endzone giving Liberty a 2-0 lead. Flames second team offense of the conference on special teams for his outstanding play in the game. He put many points in the board for the Flames when he recovered a fumble while the Panthers were trying to punt, and ran it into the endzone for six.

The offense would not be outdone in the second quarter. Liberty scored two touchdowns, one in running back Seth Kyle's touchdown run, and a field goal by Scott Kiovsky. The Flames defense held strong and tallied four sacks in the first half.

The Flames win first game against KWU.

KIRK FRANKLIN & TOBY MAC

Present I Have a Dream, the Tour Friday, October 17th, 2003 Vines Center, 7:30 pm

Special Liberty Student Price Only $10 (Regular price $19.50)

Limited number of tickets at this price. Advance sales only!

Tickets are available after Convocation Wednesday, October 1 and M-F in the Student Life Office in David's Place!

Join the raffle for free concert tickets by bringing a can of food for the Lynchburg Area Food Bank to the champion office in DeMoss 1035.
Champions Liberty faced off against top-notch opponents such as Michigan, Ohio State, and Duke. In 2001, the Flames were runner-up to the Blue Devils. In 2002, the Flames took the Blue Devils for a third consecutive year with 26 points. Labeled a "Gathering of the premier college cross-country races in the United States," the Great American Cross-Country Festival was circled on everyone's calendar for quite a while. This race was held on Friday in Cary, North Carolina and is one of the premier races in the nation. Unfortunately for the Flames, injuries and other various causes led to disappointing team finishes for both the Liberty men's and women's teams in the national meet. Both runners hope to be back soon to help the Flames for the remainder of the season.

Josiah Melly—In a pack of runners, Melly still need to fix a lot of stuff." We're trying to win this for Greg Wheeler. He's graduating in December, so this is his last shot."

What will make this event special is the overwhelming support and involvement of Student Life. These are the guys who understand what the tournament is all about. This is the Field of Dreams for the bacon-lovers everywhere. Complete with Grey and Another empire, Jonathan Hampton and his crew have brought back to life the tournament. People come to live out their dreams after their college careers are over. Intramural Supervisor Mark Watkins brought up that the tournament had best competition they had in years, and the best-weathered people from around the world. When it's all said and done, people will say, "Was it really worth slipping into brown, Brent Patterson?"

"No doubt. It's all for the love of the game, baby!"

And these you have it. Twenty-year-old memories come back to mind when you think of your high school days, going there all for an ability to look to the mirror and say, "I accomplished something great today."

That's not to say that you can't do it to those who are willing to take the punishment of the not-so-old-me-but-somebody-else-still-really-soe for-days-goes, suffering through sore knees and back pain for possible weeks to come. To those, this is a good place to be, and this year they're ready to present freshman (if you know who you are), for others, this is much more than a game. This is life.

Josiah Melly—In a pack of runners, Melly still need to fix a lot of stuff." We're trying to win this for Greg Wheeler. He's graduating in December, so this is his last shot."

What will make this event special is the overwhelming support and involvement of Student Life. These are the guys who understand what the tournament is all about. This is the Field of Dreams for the bacon-lovers everywhere. Complete with Grey and Another empire, Jonathan Hampton and his crew have brought back to life the tournament. People come to live out their dreams after their college careers are over. Intramural Supervisor Mark Watkins brought up that the tournament had best competition they had in years, and the best-weathered people from around the world. When it's all said and done, people will say, "Was it really worth slipping into brown, Brent Patterson?"

"No doubt. It's all for the love of the game, baby!"

And these you have it. Twenty-year-old memories come back to mind when you think of your high school days, going there all for an ability to look to the mirror and say, "I accomplished something great today."

That's not to say that you can't do it to those who are willing to take the punishment of the not-so-old-me-but-somebody-else-still-really-soe for-days-goes, suffering through sore knees and back pain for possible weeks to come. To those, this is a good place to be, and this year they're ready to present freshman (if you know who you are), for others, this is much more than a game. This is life.

When it's all said and done, people will say, "Was it really worth slipping into brown, Brent Patterson?"

"No doubt. It's all for the love of the game, baby!"

And these you have it. Twenty-year-old memories come back to mind when you think of your high school days, going there all for an ability to look to the mirror and say, "I accomplished something great today."

That's not to say that you can't do it to those who are willing to take the punishment of the not-so-old-me-but-somebody-else-still-really-soe for-days-goes, suffering through sore knees and back pain for possible weeks to come. To those, this is a good place to be, and this year they're ready to present freshman (if you know who you are), for others, this is much more than a game. This is life.

In a land where ground-rules double counts freely and defense is, sporadic at best, the one emotion draining occasion, the players had was an extraordinary sense of enjoyment playing against the most talented opponents they had faced all year. This was the first intramural softball tournament of the semester. A quick study in Italian, Pat Doney hit a home run in the bottom of the first inning, giving it their all for an ability to look to the mirror and say, "I accomplished something great today."

"We're trying to win this for Greg Wheeler. He's graduating in December, so this is his last shot."

What will make this event special is the overwhelming support and involvement of Student Life. These are the guys who understand what the tournament is all about. This is the Field of Dreams for the bacon-lovers everywhere. Complete with Grey and Another empire, Jonathan Hampton and his crew have brought back to life the tournament. People come to live out their dreams after their college careers are over. Intramural Supervisor Mark Watkins brought up that the tournament had best competition they had in years, and the best-weathered people from around the world. When it's all said and done, people will say, "Was it really worth slipping into brown, Brent Patterson?"

"No doubt. It's all for the love of the game, baby!"

And these you have it. Twenty-year-old memories come back to mind when you think of your high school days, going there all for an ability to look to the mirror and say, "I accomplished something great today."

That's not to say that you can't do it to those who are willing to take the punishment of the not-so-old-me-but-somebody-else-still-really-soe for-days-goes, suffering through sore knees and back pain for possible weeks to come. To those, this is a good place to be, and this year they're ready to present freshman (if you know who you are), for others, this is much more than a game. This is life.

Josiah Melly—In a pack of runners, Melly still need to fix a lot of stuff." We're trying to win this for Greg Wheeler. He's graduating in December, so this is his last shot."

What will make this event special is the overwhelming support and involvement of Student Life. These are the guys who understand what the tournament is all about. This is the Field of Dreams for the bacon-lovers everywhere. Complete with Grey and Another empire, Jonathan Hampton and his crew have brought back to life the tournament. People come to live out their dreams after their college careers are over. Intramural Supervisor Mark Watkins brought up that the tournament had best competition they had in years, and the best-weathered people from around the world. When it's all said and done, people will say, "Was it really worth slipping into brown, Brent Patterson?"

"No doubt. It's all for the love of the game, baby!"

And these you have it. Twenty-year-old memories come back to mind when you think of your high school days, going there all for an ability to look to the mirror and say, "I accomplished something great today."

That's not to say that you can't do it to those who are willing to take the punishment of the not-so-old-me-but-somebody-else-still-really-soe for-days-goes, suffering through sore knees and back pain for possible weeks to come. To those, this is a good place to be, and this year they're ready to present freshman (if you know who you are), for others, this is much more than a game. This is life.

Josiah Melly—In a pack of runners, Melly still need to fix a lot of stuff." We're trying to win this for Greg Wheeler. He's graduating in December, so this is his last shot."

What will make this event special is the overwhelming support and involvement of Student Life. These are the guys who understand what the tournament is all about. This is the Field of Dreams for the bacon-lovers everywhere. Complete with Grey and Another empire, Jonathan Hampton and his crew have brought back to life the tournament. People come to live out their dreams after their college careers are over. Intramural Supervisor Mark Watkins brought up that the tournament had best competition they had in years, and the best-weathered people from around the world. When it's all said and done, people will say, "Was it really worth slipping into brown, Brent Patterson?"

"No doubt. It's all for the love of the game, baby!"

And these you have it. Twenty-year-old memories come back to mind when you think of your high school days, going there all for an ability to look to the mirror and say, "I accomplished something great today."

That's not to say that you can't do it to those who are willing to take the punishment of the not-so-old-me-but-somebody-else-still-really-soe for-days-goes, suffering through sore knees and back pain for possible weeks to come. To those, this is a good place to be, and this year they're ready to present freshman (if you know who you are), for others, this is much more than a game. This is life.

Josiah Melly—In a pack of runners, Melly still need to fix a lot of stuff." We're trying to win this for Greg Wheeler. He's graduating in December, so this is his last shot."

What will make this event special is the overwhelming support and involvement of Student Life. These are the guys who understand what the tournament is all about. This is the Field of Dreams for the bacon-lovers everywhere. Complete with Grey and Another empire, Jonathan Hampton and his crew have brought back to life the tournament. People come to live out their dreams after their college careers are over. Intramural Supervisor Mark Watkins brought up that the tournament had best competition they had in years, and the best-weathered people from around the world. When it's all said and done, people will say, "Was it really worth slipping into brown, Brent Patterson?"

"No doubt. It's all for the love of the game, baby!"

And these you have it. Twenty-year-old memories come back to mind when you think of your high school days, going there all for an ability to look to the mirror and say, "I accomplished something great today."

That's not to say that you can't do it to those who are willing to take the punishment of the not-so-old-me-but-somebody-else-still-really-soe for-days-goes, suffering through sore knees and back pain for possible weeks to come. To those, this is a good place to be, and this year they're ready to present freshman (if you know who you are), for others, this is much more than a game. This is life.
Lauren Zealand: juggling soccer, school, kids, & husband

Lauren Zealand: juggling soccer, school, kids, & husband
impressive statistics speak for themselves.

Rudnick decided on LU during her senior year.
Brentley Kellum: destined to be a leader

Ben Colen
ASSOCIATE EDITOR

This year’s Men’s Soccer team has collected a 3-3-1 record so far. They have already faced some tough competition, and their conference schedule is only now beginning to heat up.

The team features five seniors, and a rather large number of underclassmen in its roster. The Flames are now seeking to become a formidable force, and its leaders are stepping to the forefront. One of these seniors, Brentley Kellum, has emerged as a driving strength amidst a talented team. He comes from a region of North Carolina where soccer is not only important, but a way of life. Many grew up playing the game he loves, and has pursued it to the current level of play. Kellum, a 6-1 senior, has always been a natural athlete, but he really began to shine during high school.

A native of Trinity, NC, Kellum came to love soccer during his senior year. Prior to that, he was more interested in other sports. His impressive statistics do not end there. During his senior season, Kellum scored a market place rating of 91, and was ranked #1 in all-conference and all-state teams.

Senior Pavel Cancura

Senior Pavel Cancura scored the game’s only goal in the closing minutes of the game. In the past, Kellum has been here, Kellum said. "I really didn’t know how to tell them, but they have been players like that every year. We’ve probably got more talent on this team than any other team here."

It appears that this type of leadership has brought the Men’s Soccer team much closer together this year than in the past. Kellum thinks that one positive difference that is evident of this sea- son’s team is its unity.

"The team is much more unified. We spend lots of time together. We just don’t go out there and do our thing, we actually hang out with each other," Kellum said.

As one of the hardest players to stand up to the Flames roster, Senior Pavel Cancura and Bryan Moksida will also compete to be the team’s leader in the team’s senior year. Their fellow teammates will help them to strive for victory this season.

"We’ve lost a couple of games we should have won, but we’ve got lots of talent. We probably got more talent than any other team here," Kellum said. "We’re all ready to do our very best and to get to victory this season."

As the team continues to strive for both teamwork and individual achievements, "Coach Alder, he’s the one that’s the main one, he is the one that’s the top," Kellum said. "I work harder than anyone else that’s on the team, I am the player that’s the top. I give as much as I can.

"We’ve lost a couple of games we should have won, but we’ve got lots of talent," Kellum said. "We probably got more talent than any other team here."

Kellum believes that the team will be prosperous in the future, as the talent keeps coming in. As far as the rest of the sea- son goes, Kellum remains optimistic. The team has shown a tough schedule as far.

"We’ve lost a couple of games we should have won, but we’ve got lots of talent," Kellum said. "We probably got more talent than any other team here."

Kellum remains optimistic. The team has shown a tough schedule as far.

"We’ve lost a couple of games we should have won, but we’ve got lots of talent," Kellum said. "We probably got more talent than any other team here."

Kellum believes that the team will be prosperous in the future, as the talent keeps coming in. As far as the rest of the sea- son goes, Kellum remains optimistic. The team has shown a tough schedule as far.

"We’ve lost a couple of games we should have won, but we’ve got lots of talent," Kellum said. "We probably got more talent than any other team here."

Kellum remains optimistic. The team has shown a tough schedule as far.

"We’ve lost a couple of games we should have won, but we’ve got lots of talent," Kellum said. "We probably got more talent than any other team here."

Kellum believes that the team will be prosperous in the future, as the talent keeps coming in. As far as the rest of the sea- son goes, Kellum remains optimistic. The team has shown a tough schedule as far.

"We’ve lost a couple of games we should have won, but we’ve got lots of talent," Kellum said. "We probably got more talent than any other team here."

Kellum remains optimistic. The team has shown a tough schedule as far.

"We’ve lost a couple of games we should have won, but we’ve got lots of talent," Kellum said. "We probably got more talent than any other team here."

Kellum believes that the team will be prosperous in the future, as the talent keeps coming in. As far as the rest of the sea- son goes, Kellum remains optimistic. The team has shown a tough schedule as far.
Women's Soccer drops two in UGA Nike Tournament

The Liberty Lady Flames fought hard but dropped two games this weekend at the University of Georgia's Nike Tournament. The Bulldogs defeated the Lady Flames, in front of a crowd of 1,750. Half-time found the Georgia team leading 1-0. The Lady Flames entered half-time with a 0-0 victory over the Bulldogs. The Bulldogs hosted their first game of the season, finding the Lady Flames hard but dropping two games this weekend.

In the second half, the Bulldogs continued to dominate and did just that. The Lady Flames started tough but the Flames stayed with them every step of the way. Although Liberty had much possession during the first half, they were able to contain South Carolina and give them nothing. The Lady Flames entered half-time even with the Gamecocks, 0-0. Liberty came out in the second half and continued to battle. The Flames fielded more possession and started to create some offense. When they got into the USC box, they looked dangerous but were unable to find a goal. In the 59th minute, South Carolina's Erin Bosie capitalized on a scramble in Liberty's six-yard box, scoring what would be the game-winner. Liberty fought until the end, but it didn't come through with a 1-0 loss. Lady Flames' goalkeeper Natalie Moyer had 10 saves on the day while the Flames were outshot 21-9.

The Lady Flames now fall to 1-8-1 on the season. The Lady Flames' goalkeeper Natalie Moyer had 10 saves on the season while the Flames were outshot 21-9. The Lady Flames have much to work on before their next game.

Volleyball wins first two conference games

The Flames were led by Junior Becky Rudnick and Senior Erin McKeown, each who had 22 kills on the day. McKeown also added a game-high 15 digs. Junior Jennifer Belk also gave the Flames a big boost in the second set with five kills and winning a number of vital points. Becky Rudnick, a three-year varsity player, had six kills and Belk added 12. Tatiana McKeown, who each had 22 kills on the day, tied the Lady Flames' record for the most kills in a game. Becky Rudnick and Senior Erin McKeown have been cornerstone players for the Flames.

Lady Flames' goalkeeper Natalie Moyer had 10 saves on the day while the Flames were outshot 21-9. The Lady Flames have much to work on before their next game.

The Flames were led by Junior Becky Rudnick and Senior Erin McKeown, each who had 22 kills on the day. McKeown also added a game-high 15 digs. Junior Jennifer Belk also gave the Flames a big boost in the second set with five kills and winning a number of vital points. Becky Rudnick, a three-year varsity player, had six kills and Belk added 12. Tatiana McKeown, who each had 22 kills on the day, tied the Lady Flames' record for the most kills in a game. Becky Rudnick and Senior Erin McKeown have been cornerstone players for the Flames.

Coming up in LU Sports...

Volleyball
- 11/4 Virginia Tech, 6:30 p.m.
- 11/6 Tuscaloosa, 2 p.m.
- 11/7 ETSU, 2 p.m.

Football
- 11/2 Georgia, 7 p.m.
- 11/9 Kentucky, 2 p.m.
- 11/16 Georgia Tech, 2:30 p.m.

Men's Soccer
- 10/3 @ CSU, 7 p.m.
- 10/10 Winthrop, 7 p.m.
- 10/4 @ CCU, 2 p.m.
- 10/4 @ BSC, 2 p.m.
- 10/11 @ GWU, 3:30 p.m.
- 10/2 Virginia Tech, 6:30 p.m.
- 10/18 @ ETSU, 2 p.m.

Women's Soccer
- 10/3 @ CSU, 7 p.m.
- 10/10 Winthrop, 7 p.m.
- 10/4 @ CCU, 2 p.m.
- 10/4 @ BSC, 2 p.m.
- 10/11 @ GWU, 3:30 p.m.
- 10/2 Virginia Tech, 6:30 p.m.
- 10/18 @ ETSU, 2 p.m.

Volleyball
- 11/4 Virginia Tech, 6:30 p.m.
- 11/6 Tuscaloosa, 2 p.m.
- 11/7 ETSU, 2 p.m.

Football
- 11/2 Georgia, 7 p.m.
- 11/9 Kentucky, 2 p.m.
- 11/16 Georgia Tech, 2:30 p.m.

Men's Soccer
- 10/3 @ CSU, 7 p.m.
- 10/10 Winthrop, 7 p.m.
- 10/4 @ CCU, 2 p.m.
- 10/4 @ BSC, 2 p.m.
- 10/11 @ GWU, 3:30 p.m.
- 10/2 Virginia Tech, 6:30 p.m.
- 10/18 @ ETSU, 2 p.m.

Women's Soccer
- 10/3 @ CSU, 7 p.m.
- 10/10 Winthrop, 7 p.m.
- 10/4 @ CCU, 2 p.m.
- 10/4 @ BSC, 2 p.m.
- 10/11 @ GWU, 3:30 p.m.
- 10/2 Virginia Tech, 6:30 p.m.
- 10/18 @ ETSU, 2 p.m.

Volleyball
- 11/4 Virginia Tech, 6:30 p.m.
- 11/6 Tuscaloosa, 2 p.m.
- 11/7 ETSU, 2 p.m.