9-27-1989

09-27-89 (The Liberty Champion, Volume 7, Issue 4)

Follow this and additional works at: http://digitalcommons.liberty.edu/paper_89_90

Recommended Citation
http://digitalcommons.liberty.edu/paper_89_90/6

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Liberty University School Newspaper at DigitalCommons@Liberty University. It has been accepted for inclusion in 1989 -- 1990 by an authorized administrator of DigitalCommons@Liberty University. For more information, please contact scholarlycommunication@liberty.edu.
Blood drive fails to meet goal

By ANDREA BLAIR
Champion Reporter

In 195 pints of blood from students Circle K Club, said, "We usually do more times that we have not been getting a good response. Giving blood, and a lot of people are scared of it."

Students also said, "We're one of the biggest local donors, but other General Electric and Babcock and Wilcox. They're the only ones who come on."

The majority of the students who gave blood had good things to say about donating. "They're the only ones who come on."

Chris Clark said, "It's good. Every- one should do it. We don't give blood very many times."

Rusty Hall, student director of Walk-A-Thon, said, "It was a little fun, but it was nice to do."

Steadman said he would encourage more students to give in the future. "Your body can reproduce the amount of blood you've given a pint."

Debbie Goullette observed her mailbox, noting for a letter, a package notice or other reminder from home.

Poor habits increase risk of measles, mono

A lot of planning will take place before candidates for the 22nd Annual Miss Liberty pageant can grace the stage. The selection process for this year's pageant, slated for Oct. 20, begins on Sept. 19.

A panel of Judges will choose top five semi-finalists from the student body. Candidates will be judged on personality, involvement, achievements, academic ability, Christian testimony, servant spirit, ambition and appearance.

The pageant will coincide with Homecoming weekend, featuring a special musical concert and a football game. Other events include a special music concert and a home football game. Other events include a special music concert and a home football game. Other events include a special music concert and a home football game. Other events include a special music concert and a home football game.

Since these two factors are rampant on campus, students must take the opportunity to select their choice for the 1989 Miss Liberty. Students will be judged on personality, involvement, achievements, academic ability, Christian testimony, servant spirit, ambition and appearance.

A lot of planning will take place before candidates for the 22nd Annual Miss Liberty pageant can grace the stage. The selection process for this year's pageant, slated for Oct. 20, begins on Sept. 19.

A panel of Judges will choose top five semi-finalists from the student body. Candidates will be judged on personality, involvement, achievements, academic ability, Christian testimony, servant spirit, ambition and appearance.

The pageant will coincide with Homecoming weekend, featuring a special musical concert and a football game. Other events include a special music concert and a home football game. Other events include a special music concert and a home football game. Other events include a special music concert and a home football game.

Since these two factors are rampant on campus, students must take the opportunity to select their choice for the 1989 Miss Liberty. Students will be judged on personality, involvement, achievements, academic ability, Christian testimony, servant spirit, ambition and appearance.

A lot of planning will take place before candidates for the 22nd Annual Miss Liberty pageant can grace the stage. The selection process for this year's pageant, slated for Oct. 20, begins on Sept. 19.

A panel of Judges will choose top five semi-finalists from the student body. Candidates will be judged on personality, involvement, achievements, academic ability, Christian testimony, servant spirit, ambition and appearance.

The pageant will coincide with Homecoming weekend, featuring a special musical concert and a football game. Other events include a special music concert and a home football game. Other events include a special music concert and a home football game. Other events include a special music concert and a home football game.

Since these two factors are rampant on campus, students must take the opportunity to select their choice for the 1989 Miss Liberty. Students will be judged on personality, involvement, achievements, academic ability, Christian testimony, servant spirit, ambition and appearance.

A lot of planning will take place before candidates for the 22nd Annual Miss Liberty pageant can grace the stage. The selection process for this year's pageant, slated for Oct. 20, begins on Sept. 19.

A panel of Judges will choose top five semi-finalists from the student body. Candidates will be judged on personality, involvement, achievements, academic ability, Christian testimony, servant spirit, ambition and appearance.

The pageant will coincide with Homecoming weekend, featuring a special musical concert and a football game. Other events include a special music concert and a home football game. Other events include a special music concert and a home football game. Other events include a special music concert and a home football game.

Since these two factors are rampant on campus, students must take the opportunity to select their choice for the 1989 Miss Liberty. Students will be judged on personality, involvement, achievements, academic ability, Christian testimony, servant spirit, ambition and appearance.

A lot of planning will take place before candidates for the 22nd Annual Miss Liberty pageant can grace the stage. The selection process for this year's pageant, slated for Oct. 20, begins on Sept. 19.

A panel of Judges will choose top five semi-finalists from the student body. Candidates will be judged on personality, involvement, achievements, academic ability, Christian testimony, servant spirit, ambition and appearance.

The pageant will coincide with Homecoming weekend, featuring a special musical concert and a football game. Other events include a special music concert and a home football game. Other events include a special music concert and a home football game. Other events include a special music concert and a home football game.

Since these two factors are rampant on campus, students must take the opportunity to select their choice for the 1989 Miss Liberty. Students will be judged on personality, involvement, achievements, academic ability, Christian testimony, servant spirit, ambition and appearance.
Students display lack of Christian character

There was a fat girl in the deli last night.

Funny, isn't it? Everyone knew it was funny, not that they all laughed. But those who did made sure the fat girl knew it. They all laughed. But those who did made sure the fat girl knew it.

Come on, lighten up! It was funny. Who cares about the fat girl? If the didn't want people to laugh at her she would lose some weight. Right?

And what about that guy in polyester? Wasn't he a riot?

Actually, in some ways, it's almost exciting to see the fat girl and the guy in polyester. Who cares about them? If they cared what we thought, he and she would laugh themselves. Right?

But, hey, stay around! We have a lot more fun being here than they. We don't weigh too much. We wear the right things and a lot of other social misfits. Then we claim to believe. But, what did Paul tell us? In 1 Corinthians 13:2, he wrote, "For we know in part, we prophesy in part, but when complete, we shall all know as we are known."

Personally, I couldn't care less about the fat girl or the guy in polyester. They are here because the campus is alive and friendly. That is, if it ever stops raining.

Campus: Issues and Answers

LU balances academics with athletics

The Liberty Way

Opinion

Wednesday, Sept. 27, 1989

Editorial

"Where the spirit of the Lord is, there is Liberty." 2 Corinthians 3:17

Chapel counseling affects attitude of student body

"Excuse me. Sorry. Pardon me." These words and others like them are becoming an increasingly common part of the student's vocabulary as more and more people attempt to fit into the limited seating space.

As class numbers let out, thousands of people begin to file into the Multi-Purpose Center. Suddenly, the song "To Honor a Friend" begins and students begin to seek out spaces for themselves. But as they slide in a little closer to make room for students who are attending the chapel services. Both are positive situations.

Eventually the inevitable happens. A small group of people begin to gather in the middle of the class and proceed to do some of the different things necessary to hold a conversation about the test they had last class.

Meanwhile, the stampede slows to a trickle as people are forced to weave their way around the cluster of chatting people. It does not make for an enjoyable experience. Neither does it allow the students to arrive to their classes on time.

Actually, in some ways, it's almost exciting to see the crowded problem because it means that either the university has grown a great deal in the past few years or more people are attending the chapel services. Both are positive situations.

Furthermore, although crowding is a definite problem, we should be thankful that it is occurring at all. In just a few short months we, the cattle-driven students, will be able to attend chapel, not in a gymnasium but in our spacious new 10,000-seat sports arena.

That is, if it ever stops raining.

Library Forum

Christians must set cultural standards

Editor:

I usually return home after a long day of classes and work, a long day of basketball. My will struggles to maintain a consistent life that is congruent with my belief, but only the prayers of God will enable me to overcome my weaknesses.

However, an amazing event occurs every other night when I enter the mentioned classrooms. It is never aistle to pass without notice and it usually involves a group of students attempting to hold a conversation about the test they had last class.

"Excuse me. Sorry. Pardon me." These words and others like them are becoming an increasingly common part of the student's vocabulary as more and more people attempt to fit into the limited seating space.

As class numbers let out, thousands of people begin to file into the Multi-Purpose Center. Suddenly, the song "To Honor a Friend" begins and students begin to seek out spaces for themselves. But as they slide in a little closer to make room for students who are attending the chapel services. Both are positive situations.

Eventually the inevitable happens. A small group of people begin to gather in the middle of the class and proceed to do some of the different things necessary to hold a conversation about the test they had last class.

Meanwhile, the stampede slows to a trickle as people are forced to weave their way around the cluster of chatting people. It does not make for an enjoyable experience. Neither does it allow the students to arrive to their classes on time.

Actually, in some ways, it's almost exciting to see the crowded problem because it means that either the university has grown a great deal in the past few years or more people are attending the chapel services. Both are positive situations.

Furthermore, although crowding is a definite problem, we should be thankful that it is occurring at all. In just a few short months we, the cattle-driven students, will be able to attend chapel, not in a gymnasium but in our spacious new 10,000-seat sports arena.

That is, if it ever stops raining.

Library Forum

Christians must set cultural standards

Editor:

I usually return home after a long day of classes and work, a long day of basketball. My will struggles to maintain a consistent life that is congruent with my belief, but only the prayers of God will enable me to overcome my weaknesses.

However, an amazing event occurs every other night when I enter the mentioned classrooms. It is never aistle to pass without notice and it usually involves a group of students attempting to hold a conversation about the test they had last class.

"Excuse me. Sorry. Pardon me." These words and others like them are becoming an increasingly common part of the student's vocabulary as more and more people attempt to fit into the limited seating space.

As class numbers let out, thousands of people begin to file into the Multi-Purpose Center. Suddenly, the song "To Honor a Friend" begins and students begin to seek out spaces for themselves. But as they slide in a little closer to make room for students who are attending the chapel services. Both are positive situations.

Eventually the inevitable happens. A small group of people begin to gather in the middle of the class and proceed to do some of the different things necessary to hold a conversation about the test they had last class.

Meanwhile, the stampede slows to a trickle as people are forced to weave their way around the cluster of chatting people. It does not make for an enjoyable experience. Neither does it allow the students to arrive to their classes on time.

Actually, in some ways, it's almost exciting to see the crowded problem because it means that either the university has grown a great deal in the past few years or more people are attending the chapel services. Both are positive situations.

Furthermore, although crowding is a definite problem, we should be thankful that it is occurring at all. In just a few short months we, the cattle-driven students, will be able to attend chapel, not in a gymnasium but in our spacious new 10,000-seat sports arena.

That is, if it ever stops raining.

Library Forum

Christians must set cultural standards

Editor:

I usually return home after a long day of classes and work, a long day of basketball. My will struggles to maintain a consistent life that is congruent with my belief, but only the prayers of God will enable me to overcome my weaknesses.

However, an amazing event occurs every other night when I enter the mentioned classrooms. It is never aistle to pass without notice and it usually involves a group of students attempting to hold a conversation about the test they had last class.

"Excuse me. Sorry. Pardon me." These words and others like them are becoming an increasingly common part of the student's vocabulary as more and more people attempt to fit into the limited seating space.

As class numbers let out, thousands of people begin to file into the Multi-Purpose Center. Suddenly, the song "To Honor a Friend" begins and students begin to seek out spaces for themselves. But as they slide in a little closer to make room for students who are attending the chapel services. Both are positive situations.

Eventually the inevitable happens. A small group of people begin to gather in the middle of the class and proceed to do some of the different things necessary to hold a conversation about the test they had last class.

Meanwhile, the stampede slows to a trickle as people are forced to weave their way around the cluster of chatting people. It does not make for an enjoyable experience. Neither does it allow the students to arrive to their classes on time.

Actually, in some ways, it's almost exciting to see the crowded problem because it means that either the university has grown a great deal in the past few years or more people are attending the chapel services. Both are positive situations.

Furthermore, although crowding is a definite problem, we should be thankful that it is occurring at all. In just a few short months we, the cattle-driven students, will be able to attend chapel, not in a gymnasium but in our spacious new 10,000-seat sports arena.

That is, if it ever stops raining.
Alarm clocks thrive on student stress

By DANIEL DOMBACH
Feature Editor

"Why does God let some things in our lives happen?"

Barbara Gedicks, a professor in the school of nursing, states her head and repairs the question.

"The Liberty University newspaper, the Liberty Champion, says Gedicks and his family in the spring of 1988 when his mother's-te test, 1 completely _____“

Following in the footsteps of one of the hardest lessons Christians must learn from this situation, you must also make a decision in line with your alcoholic parent's values.

I asked the Lord to help me see characteristics in myself, but also to help me prepare for the next decision, which is the most difficult of all: committ ling to stop the drinking. I ask you to try not to follow from the past but to learn from it.

The key to freedom is within your grasp.

To those of you who choose to do this, the key to freedom is within your grasp.

Therefore, as a cheap way out I

I'm finding myself wishing I had taped my own voice so I could listen to it later. In the morning before surgery Mrs. Gedicks suffered what doctors believed to be a stroke, and underwent testing that

One thing about Fred and Barney is that they do more than make me late.

Today, I decided to think about the other side of the room so I would have to actually get out of bed to do the thing that I was supposed to do. But I was tired, and at the back of my mind was the thought of my

But let me be quick to point out that this is an entirely different story.

I remember one night when my father was too drunk to drive home. I was at a certain house for this situation, you must also make a decision in line with your alcoholic parent's values.

To those of you who choose to do this, the key to freedom is within your grasp.

Therefore, as a cheap way out I

"Why does God let some things in our lives happen?"

Barbara Gedicks, a professor in the school of nursing, states her head and repairs the question.
World

Colombian government signs cease-fire

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI) - Colombian Justice Minister Monica de Greiff said she stepped down to avoid the nation's president the freedom to negotiate a cease-fire agreement in the anti-drug offensive. A presidential statement announced de Greiff's resignation Friday in Bogota. De Greiff reportedly handed in her resignation last month, but it was not announced by the Colombian government until this week. During her three months as justice minister, she and her family received numerous death threats. News from Colombia's drug wars.

English Royal marines killed in bombing

DEAL, England (UPI) - Police said nine members of the English Royal Marine band were killed Friday when an explosion ripped through the barracks in Deal, 75 miles southeast of London. Another 12 band members were hospitalized after the blast leveled their barracks.

Hours later, the IRA's political wing in Britain called for a personal peace with Britain's government.

British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, on a visit to the South Africa from Tokyo, expressed her concern about the attack and condemned it as an act of terrorism.

She said her government would not change.

If the executive vice president of the SGA arena has his way, the future of the senate will change.

The wake-up call for the students came when former SGA President Paul Davis became aware that the senate was not running smoothly.

Davis said he had made the decision to change the system, but did not want to bring it to their attention.

The second step is to get SGA students involved in the community. The SGA is an organization to which Davis and a few dozen students will answer questions and take suggestions from students. The first Long Pin is scheduled for Sept. 27.

The second step is to get SGA students involved in the community. The SGA is an organization to which Davis and a few dozen students will answer questions and take suggestions from students. The first Long Pin is scheduled for Sept. 27. The second step is to get SGA students involved in the community. The SGA is an organization to which Davis and a few dozen students will answer questions and take suggestions from students. The first Long Pin is scheduled for Sept. 27.

The second step is to get SGA students involved in the community. The SGA is an organization to which Davis and a few dozen students will answer questions and take suggestions from students. The first Long Pin is scheduled for Sept. 27.

The second step is to get SGA students involved in the community. The SGA is an organization to which Davis and a few dozen students will answer questions and take suggestions from students. The first Long Pin is scheduled for Sept. 27.
Shealey exerts FCA members to get involved

By LESLIE COPPERS
Champion Reporter

Tad Shealey, former football coach at Universidad de las Americas in Mexico, and current Fellowship of Christian Athletes' first missionary to the United States, is a vivid example of how FCA changed his life.

A lukewarm Christian until he attended a FCA coaching camp in South Carolina, Shealey was not the same following this experience. “It wasn’t until then that I realized how truly wonderful life could be,” he said. "I have met Christian athletes all over the country who have attended such camps and have become real in my life. When I started seeing people who were willing to make a commitment to Jesus Christ, it opened my eyes to the possibility of being a Christian athlete as well."

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes' first coaching camp was attended by Shealey, who has been involved in the ministry ever since. Shealey maintains that Christians have a responsibility to be involved in the world around them. He feels that if he had not attended that camp, he might have continued to live a life without faith. He is grateful for the opportunity to help others and to share the gospel with others as well.

Fellowship of Christian Athletes' first coaching camp in South Carolina, Shealey attended an FCA coaching camp in South Carolina, Shealey stated that his life changed from that point on. When he returned home from the camp, he realized that he needed to make a change in his life. He began to study the Bible and to pray regularly. He also began to share his faith with others, and he was amazed at the response he received. He has continued to be involved in the ministry ever since.

FCA’s vision is to assist Christian athletes in their everyday life. Why scratch through the dirt when you have the Lord of your life? “I learned a new identity,” he said. "I learned that under every jersey I wore, there was a Christian athlete."

Shealey maintains that Christians have a responsibility to be involved in the world around them. He feels that if he had not attended that camp, he might have continued to live a life without faith. He is grateful for the opportunity to help others and to share the gospel with others as well.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes' first coaching camp was attended by Shealey, who has been involved in the ministry ever since. Shealey maintains that Christians have a responsibility to be involved in the world around them. He feels that if he had not attended that camp, he might have continued to live a life without faith. He is grateful for the opportunity to help others and to share the gospel with others as well.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes' first coaching camp was attended by Shealey, who has been involved in the ministry ever since. Shealey maintains that Christians have a responsibility to be involved in the world around them. He feels that if he had not attended that camp, he might have continued to live a life without faith. He is grateful for the opportunity to help others and to share the gospel with others as well.

Shealey encourages others to become involved in FCA and to share their faith with others. He believes that everyone has a role to play in the kingdom of God, and he encourages others to join him in this endeavor.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes' first coaching camp was attended by Shealey, who has been involved in the ministry ever since. Shealey maintains that Christians have a responsibility to be involved in the world around them. He feels that if he had not attended that camp, he might have continued to live a life without faith. He is grateful for the opportunity to help others and to share the gospel with others as well.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes' first coaching camp was attended by Shealey, who has been involved in the ministry ever since. Shealey maintains that Christians have a responsibility to be involved in the world around them. He feels that if he had not attended that camp, he might have continued to live a life without faith. He is grateful for the opportunity to help others and to share the gospel with others as well.
Champion reporter ded a helpless Morehead State pass to the Flames to a hard-fought 34-14 road victory over the Eagles.

Johnson, who collected a career-high 272 passing yards against Edinboro quarter by engineering an 8-play, 78-yard drive culminating by a 26-yard field goal with only 1:46 left in the fourth quarter, the Flames' of- fend at the Eagles' 27. Green caught the ball at the Eagles' 27. Green caught the ball at the Eagles' 27—the Flames a 7-0 lead only two minutes of the game. The key to victory was the Flames' defense, amassing 544 yards of offense, stressing the importance of a strong defense in the team's victory.

Tight end Eric Green wants well this season, Green hopes to be a star this season. "I'm going to give everything else I can do whatever it takes to be a star player."

Despite the pressure of being an offensive playmaker at the tight end position, the senior is in a position to take his game to the next level. Father time, he feels everything else will fall into place.

"The everything else" Green and his teammates use as their own saying, Green is not a big lineman who can run the line. He is more than a big blocker. He is a smart blocker. He is a savvy blocker. He is a tough blocker. He is a strong blocker.

Johnson, who reached a career-high 272 passing yards against Edinboro, shredded the Flames' defense.

"I'm going to use my size and strength to my advantage. I'm going to be a great blocker. I'm going to be a great blocker. I'm going to be a great blocker.

Four-point-seven seconds is all it took for the Flames to make the best of their chances, their chances of a comeback when tailback Jerome Williams fumbled the ball at the Eagles' 27. Green caught the ball at the Eagles' 27. Green caught the ball at the Eagles' 27—the Flames a 7-0 lead only two minutes of the game. The key to victory was the Flames' defense, amassing 544 yards of offense, stressing the importance of a strong defense in the team's victory.

The "everydaying else" Green and his teammates use as their own saying, Green is not a big lineman who can run the line. He is more than a big blocker. He is a smart blocker. He is a savvy blocker. He is a tough blocker. He is a strong blocker.

Johnson, who reached a career-high 272 passing yards against Edinboro, shredded the Flames' defense.

"I'm going to use my size and strength to my advantage. I'm going to be a great blocker. I'm going to be a great blocker. I'm going to be a great blocker.

Four-point-seven seconds is all it took for the Flames to make the best of their chances, their chances of a comeback when tailback Jerome Williams fumbled the ball at the Eagles' 27. Green caught the ball at the Eagles' 27. Green caught the ball at the Eagles' 27—the Flames a 7-0 lead only two minutes of the game. The key to victory was the Flames' defense, amassing 544 yards of offense, stressing the importance of a strong defense in the team's victory.

The "everydaying else" Green and his teammates use as their own saying, Green is not a big lineman who can run the line. He is more than a big blocker. He is a smart blocker. He is a savvy blocker. He is a tough blocker. He is a strong blocker.

Johnson, who reached a career-high 272 passing yards against Edinboro, shredded the Flames' defense.

"I'm going to use my size and strength to my advantage. I'm going to be a great blocker. I'm going to be a great blocker. I'm going to be a great blocker.

Four-point-seven seconds is all it took for the Flames to make the best of their chances, their chances of a comeback when tailback Jerome Williams fumbled the ball at the Eagles' 27. Green caught the ball at the Eagles' 27. Green caught the ball at the Eagles' 27—the Flames a 7-0 lead only two minutes of the game. The key to victory was the Flames' defense, amassing 544 yards of offense, stressing the importance of a strong defense in the team's victory.

The "everydaying else" Green and his teammates use as their own saying, Green is not a big lineman who can run the line. He is more than a big blocker. He is a smart blocker. He is a savvy blocker. He is a tough blocker. He is a strong blocker.

Johnson, who reached a career-high 272 passing yards against Edinboro, shredded the Flames' defense.

"I'm going to use my size and strength to my advantage. I'm going to be a great blocker. I'm going to be a great blocker. I'm going to be a great blocker.

Four-point-seven seconds is all it took for the Flames to make the best of their chances, their chances of a comeback when tailback Jerome Williams fumbled the ball at the Eagles' 27. Green caught the ball at the Eagles' 27. Green caught the ball at the Eagles' 27—the Flames a 7-0 lead only two minutes of the game. The key to victory was the Flames' defense, amassing 544 yards of offense, stressing the importance of a strong defense in the team's victory.
Men's soccer edges Maryville, 2-1

Marvin Hatfield
Champion Reporter

In men's soccer action last week the Flames lost to Campbell University Monday but came back to down Maryville 2-1 Saturday. Stephens gave LU a 1-0 lead in the first half on a header from a pass by Johnson Thomas. Stephens gave LU a 1-0 lead in the first half on a header from a pass by Johnson Thomas. Stephens gave LU a 1-0 lead in the first half on a header from a pass by Johnson Thomas. Stephens gave LU a 1-0 lead in the first half on a header from a pass by Johnson Thomas. Stephens gave LU a 1-0 lead in the first half on a header from a pass by Johnson Thomas.

Jeffrey A. Cota
Champion Reporter

The Flames volleyball team lost the opening match of the regular season to the University of Virginia Sept. 19 and right four games at the Champion Invitational Sept. 15 and 16.

The Flames began to execute their offense well in the second game and scored the game tied at 11-11. They failed to capitalize on three chances to score and lost the game 15-12.

The Flames looked as if they were running away in the second game but allowed the Cavaliers to pound their way back and take a 25-16 advantage. The Flames won the third game but allowed the Lady Flames to claim the victory. The Flames won the last two games with scores of 15-12 and 15-10.

The team had trouble getting its offense well in the second game and scored the game tied at 11-11. They failed to capitalize on three chances to score and lost the game 15-12.

The Flames opened against host NC State and promptly dropped two quick points to win the game 15-11. The Flames then pulled away with a 15-8 victory.

The Flames defeated the Flames in a double loader, 15-8,15-9 and 15-10.

O'Dea victory over the Lady Flames soccer team.

The Flames opened against host NC State and promptly dropped two quick points to win the game 15-11. The Flames then pulled away with a 15-8 victory.

The Flames defeated the Flames in a double loader, 15-8,15-9 and 15-10.

O'Dea victory over the Lady Flames soccer team.

The Flames opened against host NC State and promptly dropped two quick points to win the game 15-11. The Flames then pulled away with a 15-8 victory.

The Flames defeated the Flames in a double loader, 15-8,15-9 and 15-10.

O'Dea victory over the Lady Flames soccer team.
The days of construction
Choose the sidewalk and you will be forced to cross a river of mud; choose the road and you will be forced on the muddied sidewalk by a passing dirt mover or a speeding student driver. Construction leaves you with a realm of new choices. Choices like, "which pair of shoes should be ruined today." Liberty's construction remind us that our campus is alive. Someday we'll smile, laugh and say it was the best of times.

Chris Williamson and Dorena McFarland

Life during construction

Kevin Bahner

Rodney Williams and Melody Michael