Students banned from dam area

INSIDE

By Chris Edwards, editor in chief

The Dean of Students office has also said that the James River Dam area is off-limits to all students after a recent drowning accident that occurred Sept. 14.

Any student found entering the new poconos area will be assessed a safety violation of $100.

The area is off-limits to all students because of the Scott's Mill Dam site and the "rock quarry," any train trestle in the Lynchburg area, and any train trestle in the Lynchburg area, and any train trestle in the Lynchburg area.

Authorities look for motives behind Texas shooting

Before he went on a shooting rampage at a Waco church in Texas, Larry Gene Ashbrook did what many people do when they have something to say. He wrote a letter to the editor. In fact, he wrote two; the first is to the Waco Tribune-Herald. The second, addressed to the Waco Tribune-Herald, was signed "a Texas serial killer." Authorities are trying to determine a motive from the letters and other writings. As of yet, no one knows why Ashbrook murdered three adults and four teenagers while attending church Sept. 15.

Investigators found bomb-making tools, including files, pipes, fuses, and gunpowder inside Ashbrook's house as well as a pipe-bomb, in addition to two handguns, during the shootings.

Missouri's partial-birth abortion ban challenged

A federal judge temporarily blocked enforcement of Missouri's new law that would criminalize a type of late-term abortion. President Clinton flew to Raleigh on Monday to view damage and delays from Hurricane Floyd, the largest peace-time evacuation in history. The late-term abortion ban went into effect Thursday night.

What every student considers a pothole problem is really a lack of maintenance. According to Randy Johnson, manager of grounds maintenance, potholes on Liberty campus aren’t just potholes—they are only about the size of your fist. Students usually complain about potholes on Liberty campus aren’t filled, but Johnson said they don’t usually fix them because the pothole gets covered, and the ground is too wet to lay down more gravel.

Johnson said the potholes haven’t been in that family of potholes, but the workers have been filled. He said Liberty fills almost all of its potholes instead of using outside contractors to save money.

The pavement problems students usually complain about are at the parking lot beside the Visitor’s Center, and the worst is Stadium Road. Johnson said Stadium Road isn’t completely paved because the run-off from the hill next to it would wash away. Johnson said they can’t lay down more gravel, because the gravel would get washed away. Johnson said the hill next to it would wash away. Johnson said they can’t lay down more gravel, because the gravel would get washed away.

The biggest problem is money, Johnson said. “Students need to be aware of this and support the school.”

Teachers focus on safety

By Rick Clark, reporter

In the wake of the increase in the nation's high school shootings and killings, Liberty's education department has increased safety education programs for prospective teachers.

A recent CNN report said that in the last 18 months there have been 20 deaths from high school shootings. Many mass shootings have occurred in the nation's high schools.

Controversy is one of Dr. Paige Patterson's favorite words. Patterson, President of the Southern Baptist Convention, spoke in convocation Sept. 13 and highlighted his involvement with Dr. Jerry Falwell in major controversy issues that have irritated the secular world for years.

From calling for President Clinton's resignation after the Monica Lewinsky affair, to taking a firm pro-life stance, to supporting the Disney boycott, Patterson has made headlines ever since his election as SBC president in 1998.

"If you stand for anything in this day and time, you upset someone," Patterson said. He said the controversy comes when battling the controversy with "truth and gentleness."

Often, because of his commitment in the faith, Patterson said the media has misrepresented him. During one difficult time, Patterson turned to the Bible for advice and read from Matt. 5, "Love your enemies." He asked the convocation congregation, "Is that not an infuriating verse?"

Tomlin said, “The one thing I’m glad has changed in that we still are based on biblical principles. We’re a business for the school of higher education, but our beliefs and intentions never change in the fact that we always honor the name of the Lord first.”

Tomlin has upheld an outstanding testimony in front of workers and students. She has worked numerous hours without any recognition, has left the house hours before the children leave for school, and has tried to focus on each of them individually and treat everyone of them the same.

“She is a woman that I have said, ‘I think the one thing that has made her so effective to me is that she believes that everyone is the same, and everybody should be treated the same.’

Those who know and work with Tomlin have learned many things from her remarkable testimony and character.

Chris Ferguson, accounts receivable clerk, has known Tomlin for two years and said, “She’s always telling us that we need to be mindful of the students that are numerable. She’s making sure to us that the students are number one. She’s making sure to us that the students are number one. She’s making sure to us that the students are number one. She’s making sure to us that the students are number one.

She believes that the main lesson is to be compassionate and friendly to the people, and do anything she can to help a person get into college.

Scott concluded, “She put her life in this place. The work is hard and night. We tried usually around 4:30. But she here until the late hours of the night to make it easier for us when we have to come the next day. She’s put every bit of 25 years into Liberty University.”

Shopping has changed — the '90s. From flowers to golf clubs, you can find everything they want or need on the Internet. Online shopping is advantageous and convenient for students, especially for college students who need to save time and money.

Clothes, music and textbooks are available on numerous sites at discounted prices. By shopping at websites such as Amazon.com, you can save time and money on your purchases. A couple of weeks.

Cashier Scott Forest, who bought concert tickets online this summer and said she would recommend it to others, because the tickets were cheaper.

Shoppers who prefer to fly can take advantage of special deals offered by airlines. For example, J. Crew periodically places clearance sales on the site that are not available in stores or catalogs. Apart from sales and discounts, online prices are comparable to store and catalog prices.

Budgeting is also generally prompt and reasonable. Noble received her videos within two weeks. According to the Yahoo! site, orders are shipped within 24 hours of placing an order.

This is the beauty of online purchasing. No feet, no women on the telephone. When an order is placed, the shopper is notified of the order via e-mail.

One of the greatest advantages of buying merchandise online is the security of sending credit card numbers across the Internet. Most sites, however, have an explicit no-spend guarantee.

For instance, Macy's and Levine's also have online sites selling their store merchandise as well as original items. Online sites often offer sales that stores do not. For example, J. Video course offers alternatives for cramped student schedules

By Kristie Kauffman, reporter

Studying or being a commuter student can be a challenge. Often during the semester, it can be even more difficult. That's why many turn to Liberty's External Degree Program (EDP) to supplement their residential obligations with a limited number of online courses. The EDP program was originally created as an adult education program for students aged 25 and older to complete their degrees at a distance. Now, however, LU resident students may also supplement their residential schedule with a limited number of EDP courses. This can be done by completing and submitting the "Request to Take Courses at the External Degree Program" form. Once the Registrar approves the request, the student may then enroll for the approved courses.

Alumni Comcast Boswell complet­ed nine hours through video last winter. Taking these classes enabled Boswell to graduate with his Master's degree this fall. "I think that online education is available to those who want to pursue it," he said about the flexibility of determining her schedule. "I think it's pretty much up to you, it really depends on how motivated you are." Boswell said. "I think it's pretty much up to you, it really depends on how motivated you are." Boswell said.
Remember Christ's Great Commission

With Mission Emphasis Week occurring every year here at LU, it's often easy to become accustomed to the booths in DeMoss. It's easy to lose sight of the eternal significance in South America in the 1950s. "He is no fool who gives what he cannot keep to gain what he cannot lose."

This week is also a time for some who may have never considered the call to missions. While a life of missions may not be considered successful by the world's standards, it is fulfilling public opinion.

"Where's her majesty headed?"

"I'm not one for beauty pageants. I've never joined along with the pageant syndrome that has swept across the country and world. While the question of beauty pageants is a personal one, I'm not one for beauty pageants."

Perhaps the question of beauty pageants is a personal one, but the question of what Christian women should do about beauty pageants is a public one.

"The Real Natural Disaster"

Chick-fil-A has been facing criticism over its stance on same-sex marriage, with some customers calling for a boycott. The company has defended its position, saying it is based on its religious beliefs. Meanwhile, the fast-food chain is facing criticism from animal rights groups, who say its meat supply chain is unethical. The company has responded by saying it is committed to ethical sourcing and animal welfare.

"What's next? Lately, Christian Pageants"

Christian pageants have been a popular tradition at schools and churches for decades. However, there have been recent debates about the appropriateness of these events, with some calling for a reform in the pageant industry. The debate has centered around issues such as the use of beauty standards and the exclusion of certain groups.

"Opinion"

"When you're sitting around the dinner table with your daughter or your little niece, it'll bring up so many questions. I'm shocked." -Miss America 1993 Leanza Cornett, on proposed changes in the pageant's rules.

"SPEAKUP!"

If you could go anywhere for a missions trip, where would you go, and why?

"Australia... because a lot of people there need to be reached, and it's a place where I think the Gospel will really take hold.

"I don't know why, just because." -Kate Hayes, Jr., San Francisco, Calif.

"Mexico... because they think they would have more success there." -Mark Edwards, Jr., Austin, Tex.

"I'm sure they need to go there first before I go anywhere else." -Mike Beaulier, Sr., Richmond, Va.

"Ireland... I don't know why, but I feel like it's important to go to Ireland." -Wesley King, Jr., Aurora, Ill.

Coach's show makes regional TV debut

By Brooke Herrman, assistant sports ed.

From being on NFL Network to a NBC and ESPN sports commentator, to starting his own show, Sam Rutigliano has left a legacy wherever he goes. The Sam Rutigliano Show is on the road, LU finally returns to the comfort of the Flames effort was stronger than Florida Atlantic's, 15-12, 15-9, 14-16, 15-7. The Lady Flames offense struggled to gain yardage. The fourth quarter was eventful as Nobles becomes Flames' all-time leading rusher

By Brooke Herrman, assistant sports ed.

According to show producer, Steve Rutigliano has plans to use his show as yet another platform to give back. "We live in a permissive society. Whatever athletes realize it or not they are role models. They stand as a pedestal that few others reach to a lifetime even if they do not want that responsibility. But, they should not change the face that they are role models," Rutigliano said.

The Lady Flames attempts are not putting the ball to.

I'm not saying good and try to succeed in pre-athletes without any strength or God. I am saying that we get to the top with Christ and perseverance, not illegal drug abuse. Everyone wants to be the best in what they do, and some people will do whatever it takes to get there.

W'soccer drops close match to Elon

By Torset Judge, sportswriter

Coming into Saturday's game against Elon the Liberty University women soccer team was on top of the Big South Conference with a record of 1-0. The entire game the teams were scoreless with both defenses playing a great game. Both teams only allowed one shot on goal. The Lady Flames dominated the entire game by keeping the ball on the offensive side of the field. They attempted six shots total and three shots on goal but could not score.
