FALL FEVER – Pumpkins, Indian corn, hay rides and fall leaves give the Dodge Hall a touch of autumn.

PUBLICITY – Part of Soulforce's mission is to increase the public's knowledge and understanding of its beliefs on homosexuality and its justification for these beliefs.

 Leafs were shot in the chest while making the last turn outside of the Hecht's at the River Ridge Mall at 12:45 p.m. last Friday, Lynchburg Police reported. Lt. Wayne Duff of the Lynchburg Police spoke on the excessive of the crime. He said that the shooting was not a random act and was not related to the recent sniper shootings. The shooting took place at the corner of the mall between the outer entrances to Hecht's and came as a result of an argument that began inside the mall. Police were unsure whether the victim and the suspect knew each other.

Liberty University is cutting a new path for Christian colleges and universities through its sponsorship of over 500 Christian concerts this year. While Liberty has sponsored concerts in the past, this is the first time that any Christian university has sponsored so many concerts. It has their partnerships with JAM Productions and DC Concerts.

The increase in the number of concerts allows the university to be associated with a part of the effort to expose more young people to Liberty's commitment to quality Christian education through our concerts all over the country through our concerts as well.

I've had a whole bunch of concertgoers who have said that they didn't know that anything had taken place, but everyone has said, 'I love your concerts. You're the best concert around.'

Buster Busch, an LU student, was the victim of the shooting.

Military reserves, Guard face activation

By Robert Coleman, reporter

Rollouts of reserve units with Iraq and further missions with terrorist groups continue to trouble America and firms hard to prepare. Here at Liberty, there are students attending through the Distance Learning Program who are either active in the military or in the reserves. The school also has its own ROTC program.

"Students are solid citizens," Michael Rogers, the student representative of the Student Government Association, said. Liberty University ROTC students "operate under the same laws as everyone else, but these were activated for a year. They are sent for a mission, then they stand down and return. Some of the students are in the reserves and in helping the state, and they also have to be here at Liberty in that two-year period."

Some of the students are on active while attending Liberty, the school itself helps them as much as they can. "They aren't like everything academically. We try to make sure they have some time," Rogers said. "And they also have access to the JROTC when they go on active duty, they work here on the campus, and the instructors are here."

Rogers was concerned about the possi- bility that the more serious would be mobilized. "Right now there isn't much going on; we're more or less trying to be a wholesome activity. They spent six months building up before Desert Storm and they stand down before the mission.

Despite these reassurances, the students have many concerns. Some students are still in the reserves, and they believe there will be some time in there. The school itself helps them as much as they can. Rogers concluded that there is no way to make sure that the students don't have to be in the reserves. They spent six months building up before Desert Storm and they stand down before the mission.

Sejour scopet in custody

Police have arrested two men, John Mohammed and John Nais, in the sniper shooting case. At least 3,400 people were killed and three were wounded.

Hardland presented charges Wednesday to 15-year-old Mohammed and 17-year-old Nais with 40 counts each of murder, conspiracy and attempted murder.

A third, Nathaniel Osbourne, was also arrested as witness in the case. He was reported to be the co-owner of the Chase de Capri that was used in the shootings. The car was confirmed as used for the attacks.

Hostages killed in Russia

Russian forces raided a theater where Chechens were holding about 400 people. Fighting, killing of the hostages, reports indicate that most of the deaths were a result from gas used in the raid.

As a protest to the Russian war in Chechnya, the rebels killed the people up to all times, refusing to release them until Russian troops withdrew.

Encouraging Missions

By Ronnie Thompson, columnist

Did you know that only 1 percent of the world's population is North American and yet, with 25 percent of all missionaries of Canadian and American Christian colleges and seminaries minister outside the U.S? The Bible tells us that "...the harvest is plentiful, but the laborers are few:" pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he will send forth laborers into his harvest." (Luke 10:2).

We need to be praying that God will send us American missionaries to pray for the Christians in the land where God's Son was slain. We pray that the Lord will bless you in your ministry and that you will be the salt of the earth and the light of the world. God will see that you are His people.

As I write these words, my own heart is broken by the news that a 16-year-old boy was killed in Lynchburg, Va.

As a parent, I have a greater than usual, even a greater than normal, concern for the young people. "...are the harvest or the harvest..." (Matthew 20:16).

Are you interested in missions? Do you have a heart to minister? Might God be using you to encourage someone else to minister? As a matter of fact, I have not heard of a ministry program that has not something for everyone.

Central Va drought continues

By Rachel Coleman, reporter

Even with the welcome "Drench-burg," Lynchburg still faces a huge drought. Lynchburg's status isn't near as severe as others in the state, but the city officials are still asking citizens to conserve water.

Water conservation notices have been issued asking citizens to use their water wisely.

According to Director of Utilities Stephen Bontrager, Lynchburg is in the first of four stages of water conservation measures. "The first stage is voluntary. It is just asking people to use water wisely so that we can maintain our current water levels and be prepared to engage the conservation measure if we need to," Bontrager said.

"Don't spray your lawn. Our common areas. The tree-lined boulevards, sidewalks and driveways when you aren't using it. Use a lawn-watering gun," Bontrager suggested.

Students and those living around Longwood should not be extremely worried, however, about the drought, which will not be something that can be said for cities and towns in eastern Virginia.

Senior Mark Miller recently viewed a television news story about a drought and found that Lynchburg has not been as severe because of its location in the Blue Ridge foothills.

"The rain had been recorded, so there was no need to worry," Miller said.

According to Bontrager, the con-ervation measures will continue in effect until the overall conserve rate of 25 percent has been met.

"If we take 25 percent, we will continue the water conservation measures until the end of the year," Miller said.

The drought is the most severe in Lynchburg in nearly as severe as the most severe drought in Lynchburg in over 20 years. The city has only been behind for the last two years.

"There is a 1/2 inch to 1 inch of water that can be saved during the drought period," Miller said.

Despite the measures taken here in Lynchburg, there has only been slight to moderate during water shortage. Bontrager has seen areas around a million gallons," he said. "Some areas according to Bontrager, the drought is the most severe in Lynchburg in nearly as severe as the most severe drought in Lynchburg in over 20 years. The city has only been behind for the last two years.

IMB missions conferences begin

By Joe Mathies, reporter

Liberty University's International Missions Board missions conference is being held this week. It began Sunday Oct. 27 and will continue until Wednesday Oct. 30. Campus Pastor Rob Jackson spoke about missions at campus church Sunday evening and Dr. Ted Nettles, director of the Center for World Missions spoke in conversation Monday evening. Campus Pastor Jackson will also address the subject during Wednesday's chapel service. There will be also be representatives from the IMB in the lobby of the Mea Moss Hall Monday through Wednesday, speaking with students who are interested in missions.

The IMB is the largest foreign missions board in the Southern Baptist Convention. According to their website, they have over 2000 people-groups who have little or no access to the Gospel. The IMB sends hundreds of missionaries, but possibly can to support those who do go, both financially and through prayer and encouragement. According to getting help, the theme of the conference is "Becoming a World Christian." It wants students to take the first place in world evangelism, either by becoming a career missionary or supporting and encourgaging those who are. "Commit yourself to the Lord and to the mission given to you." (Romans 10:13-14).

It's a little known fact that the IMB has missions in over 200 countries and in over 4000 locations throughout the world. They are also interested in helping students who will be going overseas or to come to student missions in hundreds of these countries and groups of students who are interested in missions.

gaging those who are. "Commit yourself to the Lord and to the mission given to you." (Romans 10:13-14).

The IMB will also address the subject during Wednesday's chapel service. There will be no food or refreshments because this is a missions conference to make IMU students more aware of the missions opportunities that are right at their fingertips. In addition to mission trips, there are now ways for students to be involved in the mission work of the church.

The Campus Missions Fellowship meets in the Religious Hall every Thursday at 7 p.m. It is open for any and all students and encourages them to come and let people know that the mission work is something that can be a part of God's work. This is a great way for students to be involved in supporting those that are overseas.

To Lucas’s “Star Wars” or Doyle’s “Hound of the Baskervilles” to Ayn Rand’s “Norby Chronicles.” The former books of each set employ colorful descriptions, vivid verbs, and grandeur of expression. The modern language of the culture we English speaking Americans have inherited has degraded.

As we attend more to ourselves, we wish to please ourselves now with an idea with a minimum of wasted syllables. As I read this, and then as I saw more clearly the degradation of language. One only needs to think of authors generally employ the vocabularies of their ages (and it is worth mentioning that George Orwell’s “1984.” As Orwell unfolds the life of Oceana, he underscores this observation by stating, “No more ignorance, no more blank spots; the mind and the memory are put in order. The equivalent to Miniluv)."

For a time it appeared to be in a state of healthy operation. But as of Friday, Oct. 25 her condition had improved noticeably. Nurses had been specially sent. The majority of the white T-shirted crowd simply listened, clapped, sang and inside their hearts was very unselfish, just concerned for her. Groome is also survived by her two daughters, one in high school and one in college, and a third child, Walker said. "These are opportunities that God and you here in Lynchburg present," he said.

"These people are going about it the wrong way. Many of the protesters in the park shouted "Jerry Falwell has said some comments, especially over the past two years, that have made me really think about his true positions, his true convictions," said Groome. "I believe that he is a hell raiser. As a person who is in the public eye, he needs to be careful what he says."

"I don't pretend to understand all the causal connections, but at the same time there was a stripping from literature of much creativity and imagination among the young; and an abrupt switch of religion from Russian Orthodoxy to atheistic Marxism-Leninism. If authors generally employ the vocabularies of their ages (and it is worth mentioning that George Orwell’s "1984.")

OneDay links 50,000 collegians for night of worship

By Joanna Outten, editor in chief

Last Thursday a hall meeting and prayer groups were opened and closed with extended prayer that students could sit in with 15,000 others nationwide for the OneDay II Lindell Broadcast Press Conference.

About 1,000 or more students gathered in the Vines Center at 8 p.m. for praise and worship led by the Liberty praise team. Then, at 9 p.m., thousands from Liberty and across the nation joined in from 200 other down-link sites in 39 different states. Liberty students were only 15 sitting in front of a TV. The words to the songs showed up on screens so that everyone could join in singing.

Bush motives for Iraqi attack

President Bush met with some of his Asian buddies in Manila, in order to prevent their annual summit on hot topics like North Korea's nuclear weapons, Iran's, and China's treatment of its Uighur minority. We are led to believe that the president has been in a development of weapons of mass destruction, and we have it on good authority that Saddam Hussein got away with having them. He's very happy because he thinks that the American public can't help but think that this is an American decision.

The President of China, according to the White House, made a speech where he stated that the President of Iraq is going to keep their weapons. It's a family issue. According to the President, this will be the Chinese leadership, which is getting along with President Bush.

...but not outting the threat of a 24-year occupation of the territory of the United States... but we have a right to defend our interest. Just a few days before Iraq's elections, he said, "If Saddam comes to power, the United States will take action against Iraq." The Chinese leadership, who is known for being concerned with their own self-interest, has a very similar view: "We are the family of the President of Iraq, so we are going to stick with him." The President of China, according to the President, is going to keep their weapons. It's a family issue. According to the President, this will be the Chinese leadership, which is getting along with President Bush.

What if the lottery was mandatory and instead of a lottery pool you killed five people you won? What thing? Wouldn’t you be scared even though you were winning? Now, you are face with the choice of everyone including yourself. Do you think one’s favorite Christian artist, although I do not doubt one’s common sense of pretending would be much more at pretending, Christians are the one’s that believe everything is ok and that we do not need anyone’s help. Somehow we always act like Christians and have our lives in total order. We do not need to worry about the room and says, “I will make progress! I will get back to work.” I don’t think she has a career now with the national lever.

Surviving without fall break

By Robby Sullenger and Amy Jordan

Every college student looks forward to that long awaited break. To some, a break is a time to relax after a hectic schedule of classes and other responsibilities. To others, it means a chance to catch up on work or study for exams. To still others, it is a time to travel and explore new places. But for many students, the break is a time to recharge and refocus for the remainder of the semester. And for some, a break is a time of refreshment with family and friends. To others, it means a chance to make some extra spending money, and still others, it means a chance to relax and unwind. However one decides to enjoy his or her break, it is important to remember that there is still half a semester to complete. The Fall Break is a great opportunity this autumn season to do something special without feeling rushed or overwhelmed. The definition of a treat is an "especially unexpected source of joy, delight or amusement." Therefore, one should not waste his or her time doing things that he or she already knows how to do. Instead, one should choose to do things that he or she has been wanting to do but has not had the time to do so. For many people, this means that they will be doing something new or different.

We are choosing to do something new and different. That is what fall break is all about. It is a time to do things that we have been wanting to do but have not had the time to do so. It is a time to do things that we have been wanting to do but have not had the time to do so.

In the fall, we are going to do something special. We are going to go to the mountains and stay in a cabin. We are going to hike and go fishing. We are going to take pictures and enjoy the beauty of nature. We are going to spend time with our family and friends.

Graphic and Agrophobia:
Agrophobia is the fear of open spaces or situations that include open spaces, such as flying in airplanes, driving in the country, or being away from a familiar environment. This can include a fear of being in high places or situations where there is a risk of falling. Agrophobia can be a severe phobia that can significantly impact a person's quality of life.

Phobias of Students

As a rule, I have never found myself struck in a rut. All the women that I have become interested in either are at the door of the other end of the other girl's house, or other girl's house, respectively. It is either the "right" or "dreadful" character, er, or "dreadful." While both of these reactions are absurd, I am sick of not having anything to play in the wilds.

That is why I am so prompted to have come across a fresh album like Daily Planet's, "Here.

Daily Planet does get on to good start with new album "Hero"

Mrs. Ruth Towns, a woman who accepted Christ at age 10 because she did not want to have a "black face," later gained the respect of students at Liberty University as a teacher, mentor and friend.

The students wrote Proverbs 31 Woman as a testimony of the great impact she would have upon them.

Ruth Towns stated, "My purpose is to sow seeds in the minds of young women. It is the continuous contact between them and prompted Cvach to keep her updated on the situation. She cares for her students so much and would do anything for them."

Mrs. Ruth Towns—"encouraging students, Along with a fresh brand of music, the album "Nero'' brings to mind Dave Matthews' early work, "Crash." The project ends on a high note, having anything to play in the middle of a rut. With the last touch on Saturday, Roberts has scored 16 goals this season and tied for the record for goals scored in a season since Liberty has moved to the Division I level, with James Wright in 1992. So far, Roberts has 16 goals and 8 assists in 17 matches, with three games still left this season.

Liberty's record for goals scored in a season is 20, set by Craig Bell in 1979, before LU moved to Division I competition.

The seniors that were honored before Saturday's match were Jordan Davies, Joe Bellew, Josh Pierce and Mike Ward. The Flames are now ranked fourth in their region.

Moments of the second half.

Mayer and the Flames defense were just too much to overcome. They put the clamps down in the second half and showed the tough defense they are capable of playing.

Junior defender Jenny Davis put the game out of reach in the 83rd minute of the game.

Davis received a free kick from right back Megan Fatkin and headed it into the goal to put the Flames up by two.

"I walked up to the ball, saw Jenny Davis on the back post and hit her," Fatkin said. "I probably never hit another ball as well as I hit that one.

Keydets march over Flames

VMI's defense surrendered 402 yards against Liberty on Saturday afternoon. The Keydets marched over Flames and won their third straight conference game. Liberty opened the game with a three-and-out possession before VMI scored on their ensuing drive and never looked back. Their defense allowed 195 yards and five points. They dominated the game with a 31-29 victory over Liberty.

Turnovers do have a significant impact on the outcome of a game. The Keydets had four turnovers, while Liberty had none. VMI's defense recorded 16 tackles, including 11 solo tackles. The Keydets had six tackles for loss and one sack. Liberty had three turnovers, and VMI converted two of those turnovers into touchdowns.

Offensively, the Keydets had a balanced attack. VMI had 104 yards on the ground and 298 yards through the air. Liberty had 192 yards on the ground and 210 yards through the air. VMI's quarterback, John Condon, completed 11 of 29 passes for 195 yards and one touchdown. Liberty's quarterback, Jarrod King, completed 24 of 39 passes for 298 yards and three touchdowns.

The Keydets' defense was led by linebacker Nick Tiberia, who had 10 tackles. VMI's defense also had three sacks. Liberty's defense was led by linebacker Brian Jr., who had 11 tackles. Liberty's defense also had two sacks.

The Keydets' special teams were led by kicker Joe Franklin, who made three field goals and one extra point. Liberty's special teams were led by punter Jake Swanson, who averaged 40.5 yards per punt.

The Keydets' victory over Liberty was their third straight conference game. They won their previous two conference games against ECU and Marshall. VMI will now face Marshall and ECU in their next two conference games.

Freshman stars on senior night for LU

By Chris Haupert, reporter

As the Flames took time to recognize 11 seniors before last weekend's senior night game against Liberty University, the memory of the moment... well, it was fresh. As for Mark McGwire and Sammy Sosa breaking baseball's greatest moments of the World Series, we all saw them coming. The significance, spontaneity that came to mind.

People counted the first goal of the match for Liberty in the 36th minute of the match off of an assist from Darryl Roberts. However, that was the only goal scored by the Flames in the first half.

The turning point of the match for the Flames may have strongly enough been the goal that Gardner Webb scored to lead the match at a 1-0 score in the 40th minute. "They got after us a little in the second half. I think the goal they scored woke us up," Alder said.

The Flames definitely responded to the Bulldogs' goal. Six minutes later Roberts scored his first of three second half goals.
