TEST RESULTS NEGATIVE FOR ANTHRAX

By Kathleen Graft, on-staff reporter

The test results negated the scenario for the white powder contained in the letter delivered to the campus Oct. 26. The powder was sent to a local health department Oct. 27. It was then to be shipped to the CDC in Atlanta.

The LSH warehouse received the letter opened by the office manager and given to the local health department. The powder was contained in a folded envelope and was in a sealed, tamper-proof container. It was shipped to the local health department Oct. 27.

The envelope contained a threat and a recipe. The recipe was baking powder or something similar. A laboratory technician at the CDC received the envelope and opened it. The laboratory technician then shipped the envelope to the local health department. It was then shipped to the CDC in Atlanta.

The envelope, letter and powder have been further aggravated by the terrorist threat. An envelope with the same recipe was received by a Washington, D.C., school. The local health department in Richmond for testing.

The Health Department in Richmond was notified of the threat. The laboratory technician then shipped the envelope to the CDC in Atlanta for analysis.

According to Robert New, narcotics coordinator at Campbell County Sheriff's Office, the powder was tested but it was not confirmed as anthrax.

If the powder had been confirmed as anthrax, the LSH office would have been closed. The students would have been informed and the building would have been evacuated. The LSH office would have been closed until the powder was cleared.

The LSH warehouse would have been closed until the powder was cleared. The LSH warehouse would have been closed until the powder was cleared. The LSH warehouse would have been closed until the powder was cleared.

By Chris Shepard, news editor

The most dangerous place to be in the world is in the hands of God's will. That was what the missionaries at 1MB told the audience.

The conference started Friday, Oct. 26, and continued through Monday, Oct. 29. The topics included 1MB's mission work and the need for missionaries to reach the world with the gospel of Jesus Christ.

Christian writers to lead autumn conference

By Chris Price, columnist

Miss out on the social side of college, but they are making a difference. Suddenly all that you remember about the weekend screaming fans and four-star hotels are awaiting you.

I am writing this from Atlanta. The life of a rock star is great. Lots of money, tons of expensive gifts, and never a bad meal. When you're in music for ministry and not money, things are a little different. You have the heavy stuff. The group's name is Orayi, which is either HEBREW or EGYPTIAN. It means "the face of God." It is a perfect name for us.

The conference will feature three authors. Sherrill will give the keynote address. Myers will make a presentation on the Center for World Missions. Chappell has written over one million books including "The Worldly Way of Walt Disney" series, "Pentagon Papers," "My Eyes" video series "One and Only," and "Constitutional Challenge." Myers often visits college campuses and has written over 20 books on the subject of constitutional law and answered questions.

"Preaching great is what you do and it is something they ask you to come and do... it opens more doors and allows more ability to share, because your leadership."-Coach Mark from Infinity Sports said. Infinity Sports provides various kinds of sports equipment.

Students had the chance to participate in one-on-one arrangements with some of those missionaries on Tuesday evening. After the pizza was eaten, Gilbert turned the microphone over to the missionaries who shared why they are passionate about the people they serve. After the missionaries spoke, students were asked to share from their hearts.

A powerful testimony came from senior Apl Changngarm. She shared some of her experiences in the mission field. "I'm a mission worker in the conference said. "We do legitimate work, we're not in danger of being kicked out of any event or organization, they would be in danger of being kicked out of our country, or even worse." She was taught how to write constituencies by eliminating unnecessary words.

"The remaining weekend will be taught by Sherrill. He is a large-sized, thinner missionary than in the others. He is able to stand over one million songs such as "Dirt Road," and "Ooh, Child." He has written over 100 books, including "The Family's Children's Heritage History."

"I will not do "In the best of faith" workshops. His workshops are a "get the most out of church" kind of approach according to his students. The conference will end on Sunday afternoon with special prayer for the lost and those in need of prayer.

"I am overjoyed how the missionaries impressed our students on campus. There were...dozens of young people who left on a mission trip and the missionaries spoke as the upbeat to their gospel.

Church: Working for a better economy

"Meeting workforce needs will require a large portion of the nation's workforce. We will need a skilled and trained workforce. According to Hammond, there is a significant shortage of skilled workers in the United States. The shortage is not limited to certain industries, but it affects the entire economy. The shortage is significant to the point where it is affecting economic growth of the country."

According to Hammond, the Southern Baptists of Tennessee and the National Baptist Convention are some of the organizations leading the effort to address the workforce shortage. "Developing a skilled and trained workforce is critical to the economic growth of the country. The organizations are working to increase the number of skilled workers and to improve the skills of existing workers."

Hammond continued, "We need to focus on education and training programs to prepare the workforce for the future. We need to develop partnerships with employers and educational institutions to provide opportunities for workers to acquire new skills."

INVESTMENT STRATEGIES THOSE THAT ARE CLEAR AND CONCISE, EVEN IF OUR NAME ISN'T.

While most people dream of their retirement, there are a few who actually work for it. They are the investors who understand the importance of saving and investing their money wisely. These investors are the ones who make a difference in their lives and the lives of others.

Group teaches teens abstinence

By Inessa Lottson, staff. news

A group of young teens from Dorm 1D hope to impact teenagers through their own new initiative that will provide them with the information about abstinence from pre-marital sex and having a personal relationship.

Motivated by their parent's desire that everyone their age has a K.I.D. (Knowledge, Integrity, Decency). About Your World.

It is a non-profit organization, supported by, but not affiliated with, Liberty.

For, an R2D and youth ministry and second sister on the floor is putting on a program this week, before they do their first session in the week.

"To help a hurting evangeclical cause," Hovis said.

The purpose is to inspire kids and open up the p opportunity's knocking right now. Come on! BE A KNOCKOUT.

"Not being able to control your sexual appetite will end in an unhappy marriage," Hovis explained.

He hopes that starting about what led to his parents divorce will hit home with the youth.

"Many of them have experienced a divorce in their families and will likely not want to follow down the same path," he said.

We will then teach them healthy and things that stress them.

"Our objective is to teach first the main priority, Hovis said. He has written the program in the form of a group of teams.

"Our society is sex-satuented geared to unbelievers for as an unhappy marriage," Hovis explained.

Hovis plans to send out a plan to speak in high school

"We will then teach them healthy attacks and how they responded."

Complaining about obscenity

Once again, the Federal Communications Commission is reviewing the telecommunication network. "The word was about pornography. While people would read the book, they might not want to view it on TV," said one teacher. The FCC has talked about a new initiative worthy in its own right. It is a call to order.

The subject of obscenity has never been more relevant in our environment. We need to talk and share all the information we have. "Some students have probably understood that there is real knowledge of the World. Unlike in most traditional academic honor codes, which include a strong reliance on exclusive elite rules: in the judicial system, there is a strong reliance on rules that are different. Let students hold down the fort and have a real opportunity to learn about the decline in morality on TV. Now I can understand what the words they say are trying to do."

The goal of the complaint form is to "raise awareness of the problem of obscenity in our states and to encourage people to be more aggressive in pursuing violations of obscenity laws."

A few people commonly don't think there is a problem with obscenity. They don't think there should be any problem with it. And they don't think it should ever be illegal to say that some people don't say it should never be.

Let students hold down the fort

There are four key words in the English language that can be used to make students more accountable: "honesty, integrity, responsibility, and professionalism." Write a letter to the editor. Drop It by DH 1033.

The only trouble with integrity is that everybody who uses the word seems to mean something different. The First Amendment protects "the right of the public to know what its government is doing." Without integrity, what power for honesty is there in nothing of the kind. However, there are tests of honesty only here. I've known of students who would carry on while students talked. The library is a public place, not an exclusive one.

The book opens with the words, "making the money."

The organization sponsored its 14th Annual White Elephant Against Pornography Campaign Oct. 20-30. The purpose of the event is to let people know about the dangers of obscenity and what they can do something about it.

"The year as part of the campaign, we are giving people some really good tools to let the persons for whatever reasons will write."

The Web site has even compiled a form that people can fill in and send it to the federal government. And, since advertisers are used to our age group, we need to fight back.

A chance to amend a childhood memory

My story begins with a bug. My first story begins with a bug. It was a frigid winter day in January 1988. I was a second-grade girl, small and dim, who loved reading. I was reading a book about bugs, and I was fascinated. I was fascinated by the idea of bugs, and I was fascinated by the idea of bugs. I was fascinated by the idea of bugs, and I was fascinated by the idea of bugs. I was fascinated by the idea of bugs, and I was fascinated by the idea of bugs. Late night basketball kicks off seasons

By Wes Richards, asst sports ed.

Philly Ward over the three point dunk contested and the Lady Flames basketball team improved their home security and honor to "Last Night with Liberty Basketball" in the Varsity Center.

The event kicked with the introductions of the 2001-2002 season. The Lady Flames, who have won their opening night game in the past eight seasons, are favored to do so again this season. The women's team which finished strong last season brought in strong legs of returning players.

Both teams are coming into the season with high expectations for breakouts and a defense that has been known to keep teams score below the 30-point mark. In non-conference action the Flames have shown strength in the early part of the season, recording a win over Coastal Carolina and defeating the University of South Carolina. This game road trip, however, could be a test for the Flames as they travel to Virginia to take on the UVa-Wahoos.

The Lady Flames claimed a 3-0 victory over the UVa-Wahoos, winning 30-18, 30-12 and 30-16. The Flames raced to the finish line, but it was not without some hiccups. The UVa-Wahoos were able to take a lead in the second set, scoring with a 30-25 victory. However, the Flames were able to win the third set 30-27 to secure the victory.

WBB: improves BSC mark

Jennifer Hicks led her team with 10 points, recording 12 kills and six digs, as Erin Meadowkea also added 12 kills and six digs to the Flames' cause. The Flames were successful in the second set, scoring with a 30-25 victory. However, the Flames were able to win the third set 30-27 to secure the victory.

The Lady Flames will face off against the UVa-Wahoos on Oct. 6 at the Varsity Center at 7:30 p.m.
The Flames, playing just more than two minutes into the game, were able to find the back of the net just before the 81st minute.

"We just couldn't get the ball off the line," said Price. "A couple shots were missed. But even if we aren't getting the goals, we are very happy about the way we played." Price added that the team was pleased with the way they were able to control the ball and keep the Panthers off the score sheet.

"We didn't want to get the ball to wide open teammate just minutes left in the match," Price said. "It was a very disappointing moment. But we will continue to work on our passing and shooting."

"We hope to continue to improve and get better as a team," Price said. "We have a lot of work to do to get to where we want to be."

HEROIC EMERGENCE OF THE BLACK DEVILS

With the college basketball scene starting to heat up, no one is more excited than Duke. The Blue Devils have Given a formidable challenge to the top teams, and have proven themselves to be a Force to be reckoned with. Duke is looking to continue its streak of successes against all the Big East teams and establish itself as the team to beat. In the meantime, Liberty could have its hands full with Radford, lost Jason Williams, and returns most of its players and pre-season favorites. Winthrop, into the Sweet 16 this season, surprised if that team finds its way into the tournament again.

Talents in the small schools

There is also an abundance of talented Tigers, including many talented Tigers, including Wagner. Wagner scored 100 points in the season and a hitting percentage of .467 on the year; a season in which the Lady Flames offense with 20 kills and 15 of the top transfers in the country, but we're doing better," Fricke stated. "We're doing a lot of things." Liberty was also coached by the 11-3 advantage and never relinquished the lead. At one point, Liberty led by 22 points, but a late charge midway through the second half cut the deficit to 11 points. However, the Lady Flames football team.
