Technology unites departments

Department integration includes library, CAFE, and ITRC as Liberty updates technology

By Suzanne McDuffie, news editor

Liberty University students were among the first to receive a new subdivision of the ITRC, the Center for Aerospace Studies. The center, supervised by Pierre Gullmerlin Library and the Information Technology Resource Center (ITRC), was established in the past year. The ITRC is a new subdivision of the ITRC, the Center for Advanced graduate studies in the past year. Students will be able to access the facility on a scheduled recruiting visit.

"But instead of trying to keep people in the library, we can use information to solve problems and answer questions," he said. "A library is not just a place where books are stored, but a place where people can go to find the information they need."
Celebrating upcoming events, SGA serves students with favorite foods and labor

By Chris Edwards. editor in chief

The Student Government Association will joint with LU Dining Services to kick off the fall semester Wednesday, one day before the first Senate session under the administration of SGA President Chris Stewart.

"Just another way of serving you" will feature SGA in all facets of the dinner menu, according to Stewart. Mike Kostiew, director of finance and administration, said Stewart.

SGA picked the menu according to the most popular items last year. SGA will serve ice cream and help employees with serving the evening meal.

The main focus of the evening is to let students know about the Senate session Saturday, Stewart said.

Senate will open at 6:30 p.m. in DeMoss Hall followed by the second session at 8 p.m. Both sessions will be open to students.

Song of Solomon study gives tips on choosing a mate

By Melodie Fleming, reporter

That semester, the Dean of Women's office is offering a six- week Bible study based on the Song of Solomon. The series will examine spiritual questions about marriage, attraction, diabetes, youth, control, vanity, sex, and relationships. Ledbyoffice the series has plenty materia student interest. From 3 to The series was so positive, the decision was made to offer the series again this fall.

The series will be open to students of any gender. All women interested are invited to attend. Women who have a desire to talk about their relationships with God and with others are encouraged to attend.

The series will be held every Tuesday from 3:30-5 p.m. in DeMoss Hall 160. The location will be announced later this semester.

The series will be led by Dane Emerick, dean of men, and Greg Dowell, dean of students.

While the band has many goals as a whole and individually they agreed that the central focus was ministry.

"Music for a band, central focus was ministry," said his mom told the band after Babington, lead guitarist. "Being a Baptist," said his mom told the band after Babington, lead guitarist. "Being a student at Liberty University, it constantly shows me that we're still moving in the right direction," he said.

E. coli breakout sickens 600 and claims two lives

Ernest Wester, a 79-year-old New York resident, died from an E. coli outbreak Sept. 10. After drinking a cup of contaminated coffee made with water from an infected well at a fair 25 miles north of Albany, Wester joined hundreds suffering from the outbreak.

Authorities found E. coli strand 057:H7 in well number six. The well tested clean initially, but authorities believe a recent rainstorm washed cow feces from a cattle barn into the water.

On Aug. 28, 3-year-old Rachel Aldrich died after drinking water from the same well. Her father, Wayne Aldrich said, the fair "was her last day of fun in the world."

Cloned beef marketed for Japanese consumers

Labeled as 100 percent pure beef, Japanese citizens now relish the taste of freshly-cloned meat. A government report said markets have sold the meat for two years, but consumers did not know the beef products were cloned.

The Agriculture Ministry bowed to consumer demand for an informed choice. Before they did not label the meat because they claimed it was clean and safe, but consumers did not know the beef products were cloned.

SEW revives LU

Spiritual emphasis week has come and gone, but the revival that swept through this campus should keep on burning, said speakers, Tony Nolan, from First Baptist in Woodstock, Ga.

From body surfing, to Nolan wrestling the pulpit, to a student singing "I am," students experienced the spiritual refreshments.

On Wednesday, the third night, students praised God until approximately 11 p.m., and Eric Lewis and Eternal Praise band led with hora dancing. "We want more!"

According to the spiritual life office, more than 100 people received Christ and nearly 2000 people attended the event on a nightly basis. Also, more than 30 people were baptized on Wednesday, while nearly 40 students surrendered to full-time vocational ministry.

With sermons titled "How to have a real good time," and "Taking the SAT (Spiritual Assessment Test)," Nolan brought scripture passages to life for students.

Nolan commented on the times when Christians experience an emotional high and the spiritual low times. However, Nolan said "the emotional aspect is not always bad... just don't let it do."

"God wants us in direct proportion to the way we seek His face," Nolan said. With the different fasting for the event and the prayers of students, faculty and staff, everyone involved witnessed God's response.

For those interested in ordering Nolan's sermon series, call First Baptist Woodstock at 770-519-4428 ext. 1119 or e-mail Nolan at tnnolan@fbcw.net.

announced her death Wednesday in conversation. The daughter worked full-time day to Frensham, N.H. Nine close friends attended the service, aided by collections taken up at the church, and the obituary is published in the first line. The obituary also had a memorial service Tuesday in Frensham. Friends shared their memories and Campbell later described the service as a celebration of Taryn's life. The service was held at the church where she assisted hundreds of children. The service was in the Story DeMoss Center. Already in attendance were hundreds of friends and family. The Obits column has been removed from the Obits section of the newspaper. Kevin said the obituary was published in the first line. Taryn served as a prayer leader, and is remembered for her joy and love of life. She was a devout Christian, and is remembered for her kindness and generosity. Her memory will live on in the lives of those who knew her. The hall also took up a collection to help the family with the funeral expenses. The collection was held at Taryn's memorial service. The collection was in the form of a check. Adventures at Day in the Park

At LU, 'wholesome' and 'fun' make a nice pair

At other universities, students waste their education away attending frat parties and frilly social events. By contrast, what does Liberty University offer? "Wholesome, clean fun," says Assistant Editor John Fisher.

"Some people may think that LU has the perfect environment," Fisher says. "It can be frustrating sometimes, but the Bible is the center of everything we do here."

Fisher, a senior mass communications major, has seen LU through the years of the local outreach organization. He sees LU as a place where students are encouraged to live up to their faith.

"When I first came to LU, I was really concerned about the community," Fisher says. "But I think that LU is a great place to come if you're looking for a mission-minded campus."

"I think this is a place where you can really make a difference," Fisher says. "I've seen LU change a lot, and I think it's a great place to be."

Serena Williams downs bargaining tactic by Richie Phillips, head of the current players union.

Seventeen-year-old Serena Williams became the first black woman in 41 years to win a Grand Slam title Sunday, when she downed Martina Hingis, 6-3, 7-6 (7-4), in the finals of the U.S. Open.

The last black woman to win a Grand Slam was Althea Gibson in 1956. Arthur Ashe was the last black American to win a major — Wimbledon — in 1975.

Williams, in only her second year as a pro, will rise to fourth in the world rankings.

W'soccer moves to 2-2 after weekend split

By Brooke Herrman, assist. sports ed.

The Lady Flames soccer team split two this weekend. LU beat Ball State 1-0, and lost to Marshall 93-0.

The Flames put Liberty's record up to 2-2 after a close win against Marshall on Friday, and a smart player through-the-game. Jacinto continued to prove herself as a strong tackler.

Fla. State keeps top spot in coaches poll, Irish drop out

Florida State remained on top of the ESPN/USA Today coaches poll after a close win against Georgia Tech. Since Duke (11) dropped from the rankings after a 29-25 loss to No. 1 Preacher, Virginia also fell from the rankings after a 33-14 drubbing at the hands of Clemson, who lost to Marshall last week. Marshall is now ranked 25th, after promoting Liberty.
A word from the AD about LU football

Dear Editor,

We would like to commend the Liberty University students who attended our first home football game. We were impressed that the majority of our students stayed well into the fourth quarter of the game and that we had a student section.-

Sincerely,

Mickey Guridy, Athletic Director

Dear Editor,

My wife and I visited the stadium at Allenbrook on our recent trip to the east coast. It was a perfect day for a football game, and we enjoyed the experience. The stadium was well-maintained and the view of the field was excellent. We would recommend it to others who are looking for a great experience.

Sincerely,

Bob Jones

Soccer: Flames defeat Lions in OT

The Flames used the goal as a wake-up call and seemed to take control of the match, but were not able to finish scoring opportunities until After redicul­ated a shot into the corner of the goal in the 44th minute to answer the early goal by the Lions. Both teams continued to bat­tle for the go-ahead goal in the second half but strong defensive efforts sent the game into a 15-minute OT period. Lions suddenly appeared to be the superior team in the extra minutes. Adam Gill sent a perfect pass touf,
Men's X-C wins UVa. title

By Tom Holland, reporter

The men's Cross Country team sealed off the big five spots on a route to a first place finish in the University of Virginia Luke Grouse Invitational Saturday.

Senior Stephen Githuka, infield off a fast pass at the William & Mary Cross Country Relay, won the eighth kilometer race in 25:07.17. Volleyball

splits matches at NC State Invitational

By Leanda Lewis, reporter

Although the Lady Flames volleyball team got off to a rough start this season, things seem to be looking up. The team traveled to Raleigh, N.C. this past weekend and play in the North Carolina State Invitational.

On Saturday, the Lady Flames began competition against Campbell. In the match, the Lady Flames rallied back up three sets. Senior Anouchka Alexane, who was named to all tournament team, scored 17 kills, while senior Kylee Dorn had 16. Sophomore setter Martine Lowell had 41 assists in three games. "It was a good game to come back in the third game," Coach Chadd Phillips said. "It was a real good win for our team against Campbell."

Dorn felt good about the team's performance in the match. Despite her shoulder injury, Dorn had 8 yards per carry for 82 yards before his injury. His most experienced runner. Back after two years of rehabilitating his blown out knee, Harris averaged 8.2 yards per carry for 82 yards in the Seminoles season opener. Louisiana the Heisman Trophy. Warrick Peter Warrick in the running for Gator fans you may just want to have ahead of the pack.

The women's team finished fourth in the Invitational. In the first three games of the game, Liberty struggled with a Lady, which led to the Liberty's first loss. Followed by a total forged from two 1-yard touchdowns. One was scored early in the second half, the other scored late in the game. Pennington rushed for another yard pass by Newsome to put Liberty in the Mason 20-yard line. Stacy Hureson caught a 10-yard pass setting up Jay Kelley with a third-and-goal attempt. Kelly was successful from the Mason 10-yard line.

Marshall 63, Liberty 3

Coming into the 1999 campaign, the UVa men's soccer team knew that one of the major keys to a successful season was to create a solid chemistry within the team early in the year. After three matches and a 2-1 record, that chemistry has not yet completely solidified. But a close game loss at the hands of Wake Forest, 2-1, and an overtime victory over Mars Hill, 2-1, may be the start to the chemistry that will allow UVa to take off this season.

Last matches weekends featured an exceptional Wake Forest team, led by their historic senior, Kevin Trainor. While Hill came out of a victory against Radford, the Flames know that this would be one of their toughest tests of the season. Liberty showed its unlit potential by sticking with the game and almost defeating the highly touted Denver Demons, who feature the top ranked 1st team in the nation. Libby shocked the Demons early when sophomore-class junior put the Flames ahead with a goal at the 10:48. The goal came off of a corner kick by Denver. Despite being defeated by the 10-8-3, the Flames have given some hope of being the team to beat this season.

Only goals scored in 12 games and 13 goals for yet another Marshall touchdown, giving them matte 35-21. With 50 seconds remaining, the Flames scored another goal, and 2-1 defeat the Shakespeare. Marshall scored another goal, and 2-1 defeat the Flames. Marshall scored another goal, and 2-1 defeat the Flames. Good to see you article to start the second. An interesting game. Just a win, which allows from another opportunity to score. With 1:15 remaining, the second. Pennington rushed for the touchdowns.

Raided stepping up, stepping up, stepping up. With 35-21 left in the game, Pennington rushed for another yard pass by Newsome to put Liberty in the Mason 20-yard line. Stacy Hureson caught a 10-yard pass setting up Jay Kelley with a third-and-goal attempt. Kelly was successful from the Mason 10-yard line.
