Hardwiring to finish in fall

By Melody Florence, copy editor

Liberty University began rolling great strides toward placing its campus on the cutting edge of technology through hardwiring.

"We need to be able to compete in the future. Where this network comes in, we'll have a premier infrastructure," Maurit Zaffke, executive director of information services said.

In an effort to accommodate the Internet users on campus, the new hard-wiring system is being implemented in several locations, including dorms and academic buildings.

According to Larry Ferguson, a member of the communications department, "If the hardwiring system will be 1,000 times faster than what we have currently. When you try to download a file off the Internet, it will be instantaneous."

"This has been an incredible experience for students to witness," Ferguson said.

The seminar by the musician in charge of Internet users on campus and board phone here available has not gone unseen by the administration.

In an effort to improve the planning process for fall 2000, Liberty University will begin implementing the policy requiring all students to make a confirmation deposit of $250 prior to enrolling for fall classes. This deposit will be applied to the student’s account toward tuition and fees. The deposit is refundable only if the student enrolls in the university by August 1, 2000. Not to return to the fall semester. For on-campus students, the $250 confirmation deposit will also enable them to arrange early dorm assignments.

Registration for the fall semester begins on April 3. Registrar Corey Leverette said the new policy will ultimately result in providing better administrative services to students.

"In the past, if a student registered for classes and then became a no-show, there were administrative implications such as having to change class schedules, add/drop fees, and return financial aid to the student," Leverette said.

"Unfortunately, those tasks had to be done during a peak time of the semester, which resulted in having to take students who were accepted but not registered," Leverette continued.

"We feel that with the new policy, we will be able to accommodate more students to sign up for classes they need in the fall. Returning students must complete a "Confirmation and Housing Form" and submit it to the Registrar's Office before being allowed to register for classes. They will be given a copy of the form by the Registrar in order to register for classes.

"We believe this new policy will be a benefit to all students," Leverette said.

TRBC honors Hiner, welcomes Speck
By Scott Romanoski, Life! editor
What began in 1971 when a tract of land was purchased in Lynchburg, giving a house, studio, farm and some horses, pigs, sheep and the股权 of an insurance company to Thomas Hiner, was the start of a music ministry that continues to this day.

"He's done a lot with the way we worship the church, participation in the music program and beyond, along with the amount and magnitude of special musical events. Since the annual Living Christmas Tree consisted of more multimedia elements and more music than ever before, in addition to directing the music, I have taken on a production role in close cooperation with the music department, often making significant decisions and working closely with the church's management team," Hiner said.

"He's a great leader and has a lot of enthusiasm. As a music director, I've enjoyed working with him. He's a good person, and I've enjoyed working with him," Thomas Road Baptist Church Music Director Charles Stanley said.

"He's very effective at what he does. He has a lot of energy and enthusiasm," Thomas Road Baptist Church Music Director Charles Stanley said.

"The goal of Liberty is to educate students, who will change the world," Speck said.

"The better the student, the better the opportunity to make an impact," Speck said.

"The new scholarship program will work on a grid basis and is only available to incoming students. For instance, if an incoming freshman has a 3.6 GPA and a 1270 SAT score, then they will receive full tuition for one year. If the incoming student has a 4.0 GPA and a 1750 SAT score, then they will receive full tuition for four years. If a student receives a 3.5 and makes a 1900 SAT score, then they will earn a $500 per year scholarship."
Nurses win second state honor

By Jessica Miller, assistant editor

The Liberty Nursing Student Association continued its tradition of excellence at the annual Virginia Nursing Student Association (VNSA) statewide convention Feb. 18-19.

The group claimed several top honors at the convention, including the Most Achieve Consultancy Award, the Spirit Award and a third consecutive Most Outstanding Community Service Award.

"We really wanted a chance to share what makes our program unique," LNSA President Tracy Moussou said. "Several LNSA members received individual honors as well."

LNSA Board of Directors Becky Good was chosen as the Virginia Nursing Student of the Year. Scott, a senior, said she didn't expect to win the award.

"They base the award on involvement in other areas as well as nursing," Scott said. "And this year involved with many areas, like church and track. I definitely very excited that I was chosen.

In addition, two other LU students were elected to the Virginia State Board. Heather Murray will serve as member-at-large, while Molly Taylor reportedly spent time at a psychiatric clinic last summer and sought treatment at a mental health clinic last fall.

Moussou said. "It's just a matter of getting the money."
Student media shine in national competition

Twenty people, including the LIGHT Team, who are preparing for an upcoming mission trip, attended the recent Creation/ Earth History conference at Greenville College, South Carolina.

The event allowed members of the Commonwealth to network and learn about the latest research and literature in the field of creation science.

The LIGHT Team, which is preparing for a mission trip to Uganda, presented their research on the origins of life on Earth and the evidence for a young Earth.

The team discussed their project at a special session during the conference and shared their findings with other attendees.

They also had the opportunity to meet with other creation scientists and share their ideas and experiences.

The LIGHT Team plans to use the information they gained from the conference to further develop their mission project and continue their research on creation science.

The event was a great opportunity for the LIGHT Team to connect with other like-minded individuals and gain valuable insights that will help them in their mission work.

The conference provided a platform for the LIGHT Team to share their knowledge and connect with others in the field, ultimately helping them to grow in their understanding of creation science.

This event was a valuable experience for the LIGHT Team and a significant step in their mission to spread the message of creation science.
Wilson ‘serves’ conference
By Kelly Richie, reporter

More than 600 women attended the fourth Annual Central Virginia Christian Women’s Conference on March 4. The conference was held at Thomas Road Baptist Church.

The key speaker was Dr. Barry Wilson with special music by Janet Paschal.

Wilson is an author and counselor as well as a gifted speaker who minister to thousands of women around the country. She is also a member of E.V. Hill’s Mount Zion Missionary Baptist Church in California where she lives with her husband of 25 years.

Paschal held a concert on the Friday evening before the conference. More than 1,000 people attended Paschal’s concert, which was open to the entire family.

Wilson’s first lesson Saturday addressed overcoming bitterness from past betrayals. She talked about how to forgive, to heal, and how to reconcile hurts.

She told the women in attendance to picture life as a tapestry and all the past betrayals as going through the tapestry. According to Wilson, to fix the holes, one takes the silver and gold threads of abundance and sacrifice to mend the holes in their tapestry.

Wilson’s second lesson of the morning discussed how in a servant. She talked about two types of people — those who are always doing things and serving well, and those who have learned to be still. Wilson said, that this person is the servant. She used the example of Mary and Martha to portray this principle.

Tanya Eddy, a senior elementary education major, heard about the conference in one of Mrs. Beverly Lowry’s classes.

“I wanted to have my faith challenged and to be encouraged as a Christian body,” Eddy said.

Shirley Smith, a retired worker from the telephone company, attended the conference because she had never been to one before and she didn’t really know what to expect.

“Touched it tremendously,” Smith said.

Smith said the main thing she took away from the conference was that she needs to become more of a servant. Smith said that she thinks she would definitely come back next year.

Lydia Weyman, a senior elementary education major, said, “I think the main reason I came is because I’m getting married and I know that I need to work on submission and I want to do it the godly way, so that my marriage will be a godly one.” Weyman said.

Weyman thought the conference was wonderful.

“I’m learning a lot. I think everyone should have attended,” Weyman said.

Apartment hunting in town made easy with pre-planning

The deposit is also a hold. It is important for students to look around the apartment and under what terms it will or will not get it back when they move out.

According to apartmentguide.com, most rental offices will offer incentives for extended referrals, referrals and early payments.

Rent to be considerably higher. If utilities are not included, one must find out which utility companies the area serves and the average monthly cost.

Rent is another major concern for students looking for an apartment. Once the amount each student has been thrown, the next question should be about deposits. Each complex will have different standards, but it is wise to know what they are. Renting or the deposit, deposits can range anywhere from $500 to one's monthly rent.

Most important aspects to consider while apartment-living should be cautious and know what one is getting into.

For some students, extra benefits offered by apartment complexes are a real plus. "Most of our apartment complexes will offer washer and dryer units and business centers," Elizabeth Burch, a student, said.

"Many students seek the ability to have control over their rent, which often comes with a lease. It is important to know how much freedom comes with each apartment. Often times there are restrictions in place that would not allow students to live-in," Burch said.

Living off campus also requires students from the student apartment community to learn how to live on their own.

According to apartmentguide.com, the first and foremost will be the ability to have control over their rent, which often comes with a lease. G raduation approaches quickly and before they know it seniors will be picking up caps and gowns and covering their diplomas. May 7, 8, and 9, Jostens will be on campus for Senior Bells. This year, seniors can purchase all the appropriate graduation paraphernalia from a mobile store.

According to Munster Cooper, Jostens is a company based in Maryland that handles all senior caps and gowns are ordered to fit each person’s body. According to Munster Cooper, Jostens will be on campus from May 7 to May 9. Cooper said that all seniors will have the opportunity to purchase their caps and gowns on campus.

The Barkeleys package, which is $84.83, includes a cap, gown, and a package, which is $54.52.

"Packages include cap, gown, and hood," Cooper said.

Students can also order their graduation announcements. The announcements come in various packages depending on the amount of announcements needed. Cooper said that the basic package comes in a standard amount of announcements. The University customizes the announcements for the senior year so the announcement reflects the student’s life and accomplishments.

The price of the package is $65.00. Cooper stated that the price includes order announcements on line at www.jostens.com or call 1-800-866-6313.

Students can also purchase a Certificate of Recognition, found in a franchise.

The mysterious lives behind Liberty's famous faces

By D.J. Wright, columnist

Sometimes I sit in class and think about what might be going through my head as I sit there. I wonder why I do this.

First I wonder what the World-Wide webster dictionary would say when I look up the word "webster". No, I'm not a computer expert, honestly. I just wonder what would have been the world's reaction if I had looked up the word "webster".

Secondly, I wonder if I can understand the meaning of the word "webster". Is it a person who makes websters? Or is it a person who understands the meaning of the word "webster"?

Lastly, I wonder if the word "webster" is a person who understands the meaning of the word "webster". Does he understand the meaning of the word "webster" or does he not understand the meaning of the word "webster"?

I don't think I can understand the meaning of the word "webster". But I do think I can understand the meaning of the word "webster". It means "a person who understands the meaning of the word "webster"."

Second-year player Jonathan Strawbery said, "I'm no different. My goal is to take control of my drug addiction once and for all, and I believe this step is required in order to do so," Strawbery said.

NCAA reinstates Barkley

The NCAA gave St. John's sophomore guard Erick Barkley another chance for the second time this year, which means he will be ready for the first St. John's regular season game at Miami.

"If this team was in the playoff race, I'd love to be here. No question," Starks said Thursday night. "But that's not the case. Every player that plays in the game wants to win a championship. I'm no different."

Lady Flames devour High Point

By Doug Stewart, sports editor

ASHVILLE, N.C. — As the members of the Big South women’s basketball regular season and the Flames found themselves down, the underdog scored for the third consecutive year. Liberty put together an eight-point margin to jump the Flames and advanced over an 8-7 team. The Lady Flames took the lead in the second half. The Flames next season at the guard position. Nothing else, the men’s program has brought back a team of respectability to the program that has been short the past few years.

In the second half, High Point was outplayed in the second half. High Point outplayed in the second half. High Point showed it would not go away without a fight by climbing back within 17 points of LU during the first game win streak through the consecutive year.

Though a 14-14 record does not look as sparkling after the smoke cleared on the Big South conference. The Lady Flames found themselves alone atop the conference next season.

The wins over state schools James Madison were high points for the men’s program as they will prove to be building blocks for the men’s program as they continue to strive for the NCAA Tournament. The team will look for 35-plus points per game from the graduated seniors and they will prove to be building blocks for the men’s program as they continue to strive for the NCAA Tournament.

Decker to vie for Olympic seat

By Doug Stewart, sports editor

During last year's highly successful track season, Liberty track and field standout Michael Decker met his idol — Michael Johnson, the 200-meter world record holder. Because of Salmon's loss of body and background, it taught Decker the whole day to get close to his moment and talk to him. This summer, Decker will have that same opportunity to talk to him. He has the opportunity.

Decker, a native of Virginia, is preparing to be the first Liberty athlete to participate in an Olympic event. Decker, part of the indoor and outdoor track and field team for the American Track and Field Program that will most likely include track star Michael Johnson, the fastest man in the world.

From June 14 to July 17, Decker will be competing against 43 individuals for the chance to participate in the 2000 Olympic Games in Sydney, Australia. The tryouts will be held at the University of California—Davis in Sacramento.

Decker estimates the quality of the athletes that will be around 45. Decker's best time is 20.65, and he will be running in around 45.35, which is a school record.

Michael Decker

Decker's goal is to break his 200, which he accomplished this weekend at the NCAA's with a 21.21. As well as breaking the 400-meter school record, and helping the 4 by 400 relay team break the 3:30 mark, the outdoor season started with the Coastal Carolina University Invitational, and for Decker, it will most likely end at the NCAA National Championships in June.

Despite Decker's and the rest of the team's accomplishments, their success is a secret. Few fans know that without one team member, their success would never be possible. Scott Decker anchors the winning 4 by 400 relay team.

"Breaking the 400-meter school record is the best thing I've done yet," Decker said. "I don't think that's my goal — I'm trying to make the 4 by 400 Olympic team."

During Decker's unforgettable performance, the coach Michael Johnson had about his recent race and his outstanding talent. Decker's senior season keeps him satisfied that he will still run day to day while with Michael Johnson for the Olympics.

Last month, Decker broke his own 200 meter school record, with a 21.47 time, and for the first time in his career, he is on the Olympic track. Joe Mueller, the Indoor coach, said that Decker anchors the winning 4 by 400 relay team.

"Breaking the 200 isn't something that I thought I could do," Decker said. "I didn't want to make it happen with that. I want to qualify and make the team, but I want to be as fast as I can so I've got my goal — he is on the Olympic team."

During the outdoor season, the coach Michael Johnson had about his recent race and his potential talent. Decker's senior season keeps him satisfied that he will still run day to day while with Michael Johnson for the Olympics.
