In concert
Wayne Watson shares a few chords during his opening act on Saturday at the Liberty University multi-purpose center. More than 3,000 students were in attendance at the double-bill featuring Watson and the Imperials.

BY MEGAN BEARDER
Copy Editor
There's a change in Christian music— that the glamour and glory of it all will dull the artist's head with pride. Not so with the Imperials and Wayne Watson. Any glory and reverence the audience presents to the artist Saturday night, they reflected it right back to the Lord.

Vocalist David Will confirmed this by saying, "If there's any glory, any, we give it back to Him."

Of course, there will always be those, who at the sound of a screaming guitar or a danceable beat proclaim that "die Imperials isn't my ministry. Reconciling man to God in my way."

What better time to "pop die Fire" than in front of 1500 screaming fans? Gary Steby took the opportunity by clapping up on stage and on bended knee, proposed to his girlfriend.

The highlight of the afternoon, though, was the Imperials. From the start of the afternoon spectacular, the automobile race, expectant audience added the air and excitement to the audience.

Shortly after the program, vocalist David Will reminded the audience exactly what they were there for. "We came to sing, but more importantly to honor the Lord." From there it simply approached into "I Just Came To Praise the Lord."

I think audiences eventually forget Will for saying how glad they were to finally play at "Liberty College." The group jammed with numerous selections from their last LP, "Free the Fire." It was the song "In the Promised Land" from their latest album, "Let the World Blow," however, that initially brought the audience to its feet.

A well-constructed medley of songs from their earlier albums took long fans down memory lane. Who could help but be astonished by the harmonizing melody, "The Born" written and sung by the much admired Frankie Lee Shreve (remember guys, he's married). The piano solo to that song by Bo Copsey was nothing less than beautiful.

The Imperials managed to keep it all in perspective. Members were continuously sharing scriptures and giving brief testimonies. Living in the spotlight isn't as glamorous as one would suppose it would be, particularly because those who are doing it for the Lord, not for themselves like secular artists. The Imperials perform about 100 shows a year, often having insufficient time to speed up their skills. "It's the price you pay," admits Jimmie Lee Lee.

Three of the vocalists and their families reside in Nashville, Tenn., a strategic location for their travels.

Lumley encourages voting
BY LORISKULDER
Champion Reporter
As election approaches, Liberty students prepare themselves by registering to vote by absentee ballots or registering in Lynchburg. Some Liberty students, as well as those from surrounding colleges, have been discouraged by the registrars when they try to register in Lynchburg.

Jim Lumley, president of the College Republicans at Liberty, is aware of this problem and has attempted to encourage students about their right to register even if they are discouraged. Apparently, the registrars have made a habit of misinforming students because of the temporary status of many students in Lynchburg. Inconveniences are usually here for school alone, the people involved in elections may feel that students should not have a say in Virginia elections.

Functionally and his family reside in Florida. For two years and all of last year, Armond Morales is still going strong with the group. At the only original member of the group, Morales has been through all the changes.

As for the band's progressively more contemporary sound, Morales claims the gradual switch from the traditional began about 18 years ago. "It depends on the band and the music we like to do."

While the College Republican Club would differ very little from that of the national Republican Party, Kennedy's platform is pro-life, pro-defense, pro-dual morality, anti-equally rights amendments, and anti-tax increase.

"The Imperials" (left to right, David Will, Hemby, Jimmie Lee and Armond Morales) performed in a multi-purpose center on Saturday night before a packed house. It was their first time ever to perform at Liberty University.

BY BRAD TAYLOR
Editorial Editor
A democratic club at Liberty University may become a reality within the next few weeks according to Mark Kenne, a sophomore who believes a club officially sanctioned by university officials.

Political science professor Kevin Klausen will serve as the club's faculty advisor. Klausen said that "a Democrats Club ought to have the goal of demonstrating that the Republican party is not necessarily squared with Christianity and worldview."

In addition, the club is "a Biblical position transitional party label." Lane said, "The Lib Dems are down there. This is not true. Wayne Watson started the night with a vocal and piano solo to that song by Bo Copsey, and was nothing less than beautiful. The Imperials managed to keep it all in perspective. Members were continuously sharing scriptures and giving brief testimonies. Living in the spotlight isn't as glamorous as one would suppose it would be, particularly because those who are doing it for the Lord, not for themselves like secular artists. The Imperials perform about 100 shows a year, often having insufficient time to speed up their skills. "It's the price you pay," admits Jimmie Lee Lee.

Three of the vocalists and their families reside in Nashville, Tenn., a strategic location for their travels.
Today you felt thinking about that look you had on your face when you sold good stuff and everyone was suddenly convinced, you did see to it that he had no sales tax. But now nobody's got you for it. No doubt you still are a bit overwhelmed after standing in the middle of the shopping center and having witnessed history. But this does beat all that I've ever heard of. The lights, smoke and loudness may have been too much for a junior music major. That's because the Imperials are just not your ordinary run-of-the-mill Christian singing group. The next Imps album that I got was "Let the Wind Blow." Paul "Red" Ross had taken over for Russ Taff on this album. The quality of the music and the messages were still quite good. Furthermore, I've gotten the greatest thrill of my life hearing the "Imps" live. The next album that I got was "Why Not...?" I was really the first to get this album. I had bought Russ Taff was the lead singer then. It was really neat to hear this album. Russ Taff was a hit in the late '70s and early '80s. But after that, he just kind of faded out. Russ is a very good singer and songwriter. The lights, smoke and loudness may have been too much for a junior music major. That's because the Imperials are just not your ordinary run-of-the-mill Christian singing group. The next Imps album that I got was "Let the Wind Blow." Paul "Red" Ross had taken over for Russ Taff on this album. The quality of the music and the messages were still quite good. Furthermore, I've gotten the greatest thrill of my life hearing the "Imps" live. The next album that I got was "Why Not...?" I was really the first to get this album. I had bought Russ Taff was the lead singer then. It was really neat to hear this album. Russ Taff was a hit in the late '70s and early '80s. But after that, he just kind of faded out. Russ is a very good singer and songwriter. The lights, smoke and loudness may have been too much for a junior music major. That's because the Imperials are just not your ordinary run-of-the-mill Christian singing group. The next Imps album that I got was "Let the Wind Blow." Paul "Red" Ross had taken over for Russ Taff on this album. The quality of the music and the messages were still quite good. Furthermore, I've gotten the greatest thrill of my life hearing the "Imps" live. The next album that I got was "Why Not...?" I was really the first to get this album. I had bought Russ Taff was the lead singer then. It was really neat to hear this album. Russ Taff was a hit in the late '70s and early '80s. But after that, he just kind of faded out. Russ is a very good singer and songwriter. The lights, smoke and loudness may have been too much for a junior music major. That's because the Imperials are just not your ordinary run-of-the-mill Christian singing group. The next Imps album that I got was "Let the Wind Blow." Paul "Red" Ross had taken over for Russ Taff on this album. The quality of the music and the messages were still quite good. Furthermore, I've gotten the greatest thrill of my life hearing the "Imps" live. The next album that I got was "Why Not...?" I was really the first to get this album. I had bought Russ Taff was the lead singer then. It was really neat to hear this album. Russ Taff was a hit in the late '70s and early '80s. But after that, he just kind of faded out. Russ is a very good singer and songwriter. The lights, smoke and loudness may have been too much for a junior music major. That's because the Imperials are just not your ordinary run-of-the-mill Christian singing group. The next Imps album that I got was "Let the Wind Blow." Paul "Red" Ross had taken over for Russ Taff on this album. The quality of the music and the messages were still quite good. Furthermore, I've gotten the greatest thrill of my life hearing the "Imps" live. The next album that I got was "Why Not...?" I was really the first to get this album. I had bought Russ Taff was the lead singer then. It was really neat to hear this album. Russ Taff was a hit in the late '70s and early '80s. But after that, he just kind of faded out. Russ is a very good singer and songwriter. The lights, smoke and loudness may have been too much for a junior music major. That's because the Imperials are just not your ordinary run-of-the-mill Christian singing group. The next Imps album that I got was "Let the Wind Blow." Paul "Red" Ross had taken over for Russ Taff on this album. The quality of the music and the messages were still quite good. Furthermore, I've gotten the greatest thrill of my life hearing the "Imps" live. The next album that I got was "Why Not...?" I was really the first to get this album. I had bought Russ Taff was the lead singer then. It was really neat to hear this album. Russ Taff was a hit in the late '70s and early '80s. But after that, he just kind of faded out. Russ is a very good singer and songwriter. The lights, smoke and loudness may have been too much for a junior music major. That's because the Imperials are just not your ordinary run-of-the-mill Christian singing group. The next Imps album that I got was "Let the Wind Blow." Paul "Red" Ross had taken over for Russ Taff on this album. The quality of the music and the messages were still quite good. Furthermore, I've gotten the greatest thrill of my life hearing the "Imps" live. The next album that I got was "Why Not...?" I was really the first to get this album. I had bought Russ Taff was the lead singer then. It was really neat to hear this album. Russ Taff was a hit in the late '70s and early '80s. But after that, he just kind of faded out. Russ is a very good singer and songwriter. The lights, smoke and loudness may have been too much for a junior music major. That's because the Imperials are just not your ordinary run-of-the-mill Christian singing group. The next Imps album
In today's world, where crime is on the rise, it is crucial to have accurate crime statistics. The recent disturbing article on crime statistics has revealed that although the crime rate in Massachusetts is declining, the shortage of police officers and crime data collection remains a concern.

The article highlights the need for transparent and reliable crime statistics to prevent, reduce, and respond to crime effectively. By having accurate data, law enforcement agencies can allocate resources more efficiently and target areas with higher crime rates.

Community leaders, policymakers, and citizens must encourages better data collection and reporting mechanisms. Only through open and honest dialogue can we improve our approach to crime prevention and response.
The year was 1985. The place was LU bookstore. I was standing in line the other day in front of Marriot with two friends, participating in LU’s newest phenomenon – dollying into the line to get something. This day had started out more on the bummer side, and I was actually looking forward to the line dog. Like any good citizen, we got in the line and patiently awaited our turn. As we waited, I started noticing anything a person could talk about: the weather, classes, girls, boys, things you buy, things you eat, and finally girls. Well, as time began to pass, noticed that we had waited in the center of the line for about eight days now. What’s wrong with the problem? I asked.

My friend Studly Lamar spoke up with the words “Well, all those people near the door, mongering in wish the line was this way.” I looked. “Yuck.”

Well, as we’ve been doing it all wrong. We’ve been going to the end. You’re supposed to enter the line at the halfway point. We eventually got closer. But as the door became near, two girls suddenly barged their way right in front of us. They didn’t say “excuse me!” or anything. Needless to say, wanted to reach up and yank that pony tail right out of the one girl’s head. We got them back, though. All three of us left the line momentarily and then came back excusing right in front of them. They really had no idea that we had been standing in the line for about eight days now. I asked.

I look around. Now that I’m in line, do you mind if I stay!?”

Then there’s the ever-popular stand-on-the-old-heads-things-you-see-and-wish-the-concert-was-over method. This is when you wait near the line and you see that everyone you see cut in front of in front of a new glance at you. Then they look back and breathe a sigh of relief.

And finally, we have the line-jumping-done-the-exact-opposite method. “I’ve seen you! I missed you so! You were waiting-for-someone approach. This is when you wait near the line and you see that everyone you see cut in front of you and you look back and breathe a sigh of relief.

And then there’s the ever-popular stand-on-the-old-heads-things-you-see-and-wish-the-concert-was-over method. This is when you wait near the line and you see that everyone you see cut in front of you and you look back and breathe a sigh of relief.

Finally, we will have the I’m-just-Here-for-the-game method. This is when you wait near the line and you see that everyone you see cut in front of you and you look back and breathe a sigh of relief.

And finally, we have the I’m-just-Here-for-the-game method. This is when you wait near the line and you see that everyone you see cut in front of you and you look back and breathe a sigh of relief.

Everyday, now and creative ways are being developed even though it probably takes them less time to walk in line. The reason is simple. Cut up to the door, look inside, say “Oh, it’s you,” and blend in with the crowd.

LU needs a line patrolman

LU bookstore.

T.C. Trotter’s

4018 WARDS ROAD LYNCHBURG

Ralph & Dani Wells, owners

Win a BACKSTAGE PASS and a dinner with DeGarmo and Key after their concert on Oct. 20.

*Register with the purchase of any album, cassette or CD. Free pass will be given away.

FULL LENGTH CASSETTE now available in the LU bookstore.
Banfill uses dummy to spread the gospel

BY DENNIS BAILEY
Special to the Champion
Although Dudley is a dummy, Frank Banfill uses him around. He even took him on an evangelistic trip to China. Banfill has used more than 1,000 people around. He even took him on an evangelistic trip to China.

Frank Banfill has a problem. He is a professional ventriloquist. He has spent three years before that professional ventriloquist for four years. He is involved as camp co-ordinator and making all of the responsibilities of planning and large screen presentation in different churches all over the world to help them realize that all people need the Lord. The third group is the Mennonite international, which used a puppet presentation to present the Gospel.

Last year the LIGHT '88 campaign presented the Gospel to more than 70,000 people in South Korea, Hong Kong, China, Japan and the Philippines. LIGHT saw 6,500 people receive Christ and 85,000 tracts were passed out.

The group passed out a total of 9,000 tracts at the meetings and large scale presentation. The LIGHT singer-songwriter and national missionaries use an inspiring musical program and large scale presentation in different churches all over the world to help them realize that all people need the Lord. Light is a dummy, which is used a puppet presentation to present the Gospel.

The Rev. Jerry Falwell talks about future plans for LIGHT teams. He will be visiting with a group of teams that are involved as camp co-ordinator and making all of the responsibilities of planning and large scale presentation in different churches all over the world to help them realize that all people need the Lord.

Frank Banfill, the guy who uses a dummy to spread the gospel, is a dummy himself. He is a professional ventriloquist, and he has spent three years as a professional ventriloquist. He is involved as camp co-ordinator and making all of the responsibilities of planning and large scale presentation in different churches all over the world to help them realize that all people need the Lord.

Frank Banfill, the guy who uses a dummy to spread the gospel, is a dummy himself. He is a professional ventriloquist, and he has spent three years as a professional ventriloquist. He is involved as camp co-ordinator and making all of the responsibilities of planning and large scale presentation in different churches all over the world to help them realize that all people need the Lord.

Light is a dummy, which is used a puppet presentation to present the Gospel. The group passed out a total of 9,000 tracts at the meetings and large scale presentation. The LIGHT singer-songwriter and national missionaries use an inspiring musical program and large scale presentation in different churches all over the world to help them realize that all people need the Lord.

Costume: E. Rich made a proposal for the installation of additional phones on campus. She stated that with the increased room coming back to campus soon, and the increase in the student body over the years, additional phones lines are needed. There was no debate against the resolution.

Scott Sanford, Senior Class President, proposed the use of extended coffee passes for on-campus studying until 12:15 p.m. Currently, late passes can only be used for off-campus activities.

The proposal called for additional two passes to be issued that could be used only for studying in a designated room, supervised by a Rhino RA until 12:15 p.m. only, right of the week.

The Senators voted to retain the proposal until the next SGA meeting.
SPORTS

Liberty recruits 42-14 blowout of Elon College

BY BOBBY BUNN

Sports Reporter

James Madison University is proving to be one of the top destinations for the Flames of Liberty University. This past week the Flames took on Elon in an exciting contest.

With 4:45 left in the first quarter, Junior Darleen Suczawa scored from one yard out to give the Flames a 7-0 lead. Elon then committed key penalties in the final moments of the first half, allowing the Flames to capitalize on the defense's work, scoring 21 points in the period. With 2:02 gone and Carrie McCray with 21:00 mark.

The Flames closed out its scoring on a 35-0 lead going into the second half. The Flames went on to win the turnover to its benefit as Johnson hit LG Parrish on a 35-yard touchdown for the halftime. The Flames went on to win the home game.

Women's Basketball

The regular season concluded this week with eight games moving to the NCAA Division I tournament. The Flames of Liberty University posted the following, closing the regular season with a 16-3 record (5-3 conference). The Flames won the single elimination tournament, five are still alive in the single elimination tournament. The Flames went on to win the NCAA Division I tournament.

Women's Volleyball

The Flames finished the season ranked ninth in the country. The Flames went on to win the NCAA Division I tournament.

Men's Basketball

The Flames went on to win the NCAA Division I tournament.

Men's Volleyball

The pre-season tournament was held this week. Back to back, U.S.A. GOLD won the single elimination tournament. The Flames went on to win the NCAA Division I tournament.

Men's Football

The pre-season tournament began last week and concluded last Tuesday. The Flames went on to win the NCAA Division I tournament.

Championships begin for LU-M

BY KEITH MILLER

Sports Editor

The regular season concluded this week with eight games moving to the NCAA Division I tournament. The Flames won the single elimination tournament.

Women's Basketball

The regular season concluded this week with eight games moving to the NCAA Division I tournament. The Flames went on to win the single elimination tournament and the ACC leaders Clemson and Wake Forest. The Flames went on to win the NCAA Division I tournament.

Men's Football

The regular season concluded this week with eight games moving to the NCAA Division I tournament.

Liberty hits four goals in LU win

BY KEITH MILLER

Sports Editor

The Lady Flames score team Randolph-Macon College. Oct. 6 at Old Field, 9-0.

The Flames led the barrage with four goals in the game, including the first three goals of the game for the Flames - with only 6 seconds remaining in the first period, and Llroy Kinard scored on a 35-yard touchdown.

The Flames scored with 2:02 gone and Carrie McCray with 21:00 mark.

Championships begin for LU-M

BY KEITH MILLER

Sports Editor

The regular season concluded this week with eight games moving to the NCAA Division I tournament. The Flames went on to win the single elimination tournament and the ACC leaders Clemson and Wake Forest. The Flames went on to win the NCAA Division I tournament.

Women's Basketball

The regular season concluded this week with eight games moving to the NCAA Division I tournament. The Flames went on to win the single elimination tournament and the ACC leaders Clemson and Wake Forest. The Flames went on to win the NCAA Division I tournament.

Men's Football

The regular season concluded this week with eight games moving to the NCAA Division I tournament. The Flames went on to win the single elimination tournament and the ACC leaders Clemson and Wake Forest. The Flames went on to win the NCAA Division I tournament.

Liberty closes out its season with a 9-0 victory over Randolph-Macon Women's College.

Women's X-C finish in 13th

BY GLENN CONRAD

Champion Reporter

"I am pleased with the progress of the team in the fall of 2008 and spring and running and jumping campaigns."

Competition against nationally ranked teams Kentucky, Wisconsin and ACC winners Clemson and Wake Forest, the Flames held their own despite their recent successes and improvements. The Flames had their best race of the season. "The regular season has been competitive, and a good race for our team."

"I am pleased with the progress of the team in the fall of 2008 and spring and running and jumping campaigns. Women's Carpetbomber" Title: Kathy Martin, Term.

"I am pleased with the progress of the team in the fall of 2008 and spring and running and jumping campaigns."

"I am pleased with the progress of the team in the fall of 2008 and spring and running and jumping campaigns."

Colombo to go insulating mug to KEEP your drinks at your ideal temperature. 10% off yogurt of ice cream with mug. Fill and Refill

TUB O'CREAM
Timbrook Square/Aberdeen Rd.
822-6471

"Our specialty ice cream cakes,"

Liberty Marketing Association

"Life after Liberty"

Guest Speaker

RICHARD ADAMS
from Pitney Bowes Co.

Tuesday, Oct. 18
7:30 pm in DH 136