70,000 ‘Pro-life’ers participate in 16th annual March for Life

By DOUG WAYMIRE

WASHINGTON—Nearly 70,000 pro-life demonstrators jammed Jan. 24 to participate in the 16th annual March for Life marking the anniversary of the 1973 Supreme Court decision legalizing abortion.

Addressing the crowd in telephone-headset loudspeaker, President George

Bush called abortion on-demand an “American tragedy.”

“After years of dull and serious reflection on the issue, I think the Supreme Court’s decision in Roe v. Wade was wrong and should be overturned,” he said.

“I think America needs a human life amendment, and I think when it comes to abortion, there is a better way, the way of adoption—the way of life.”

“I promise you the president now you and you with a cause that must be won.

God bless you all, and God bless life.”

The program’s brief address followed a morning, between 35 pro-life leaders and

Vice President Dan Quayle, who also assumed the group of the incoming administration’s support for their cause.

“There is no greater cruelty than the killing of the babies that is going on across the country.”

— Sen. Gordon Humphrey

Bush’s position on abortion has become steadily more conservative over the past 10 years, and in a 1988 debate with Democratic presidential nominee Michael Dukakis, he offered his pro-life stance, saying he would become a source of anti-abortion movement approximately 10 years ago.

Still, some pro-life leaders expressed cautious optimism.

Bush has repeatedly made his pro-life commitment to the Supreme Court.

The Reagon years were over, and the former president is rolling into the next. He is permitted to conideshow and domicile.

With those eighteen new things of today, I believe it is fair to say that America is changing. As Christians, we continue to please the "great-grandparents" of Abraham Lincoln as "Uncle Sam."

The new president rolled over the scene of the "Caesar." America's might had hit its lowest point since the Great Depression, where Americans were held hostage in Japan. We had high inflation, unemployment and we lost ground in communism across the globe.

The new president seemed concerned and partially cut the nation's largest defense. His biggest success was to ensure the overall sense of pride and patriotism Americans had in their country.

One, we saw the tax cuts, tax reform and the longer period of economic recovery in U.S. history. Through the new president's actions, the new "great-great-great-grandparent," Abraham Lincoln, had unseated the old "great-great-grandparent," America. This new economic recovery was due to the new president and the new economic policy.

Correspondingly, the U.S. position with communist influence. Internally, the U.S. position with communist influence has been useful. At least, if applied correctly, it'll make a great book-

Cur Olson

The most significant contribution of Ronald Reagan upon the world was the attitude of cooperation we saw from the Soviet Union when they signed the 1988 INF Treaty.

With all of the positive results of the Reagan years, there have been disappointments as well. Although 30 American lives were lost on Pan Am Flight 103 in December 1988, eight other Americans were taken hostage in the last eight years. This increase in terrorism over the past eight years has reached a peak.

Disappointments remain, however. We also have a $33 billion public debt and a shameful trade deficit. America has gotten a lot of work done, but maybe we don't have significant action during the Reagan years. But, overall, Ronald Reagan has been the best president for this crucial time in America's history. His legacy will continue with many results.

It was a morning like no other. As the sun began to rise, the sky was obscured by clouds, but the new president rode through the streets of Washington on horseback. As he put his foot in the stirrup, the American flag fluttered in the wind.

"Fry pledge, and maybe you can keep the car clean," said the new president.

Watson's latest release walks 'Fine Line*

Wayne Watson has been in the contemporary Christian music industry for quite some time, with his albums which all have good songs. His music has been enjoyed by many, including myself.

But somehow his songs are always current. And, he expresses those ideas so very creatively. And, he Grooves the fan-base every now and then. Watson is different from most MCM musicians. His albums are always hit, always heard over the airwaves,开门见山 in the mainstay of the industry.

In this article, "The Fine Line" has some interesting approaches to those songs. Through the lyrics, his ideas are clearly portrayed, there's nothing wrong about what is trying to say. And, he embraces those ideas so very creatively ways.

He even describes this as the key to his fan-base, not just his own songs. He says, "I never had any idea he was releasing a new album unless it was sitting on the shelves and a small poster in the window."

But somehow his songs are always hit, always heard over the airwaves,开门见山 in the mainstay of the industry.

This article also mentions the importance of abortion. "I don't think about abortion every day, but it's always on my mind," Watson says.

His characteristic can also be seen in his albums. Wayne Watson doesn't have huge displays at the local Christian book store anymore. He is a humble, Watson is the type of man who would do the best off his work and his ideas. The vast majority of MCM musicians are like this, but in my view, this man shows all the more in the industry.

America discovered the hideous paradox of abortion.

"The Pending Missouri Case" Smith referred to involved an invalidation of Missouri's statute and the "Supreme Court agreed in mid-January to review.

The law denies human life from human abortion. The Supreme Court has agreed to review the lower court ruling, and pro-life law is as potential to survive outside the law.

The law was invalid last July by an appeals court. However, the Justice Department's request, the Supreme Court has agreed to review.

Arguments in the case will be held in the October term, with a decision expected by July.

Pro-life leaders say the high court's willingness to examine the Missouri case, however, is another indication that the nation is on the threshold of creating a human life amendment.

Abortions are also banned by the state law, the success of the Operation Rescue movement. Physicians who provide abortions since May, police have arrested approximately 13,000 people for anti-abortion violence.

In fact, shortly after the March for Life, lawsuits against police were filed.

Right to life victor in Michigan and Colorado achieved still further success in New York, New York.

Bitterly, shortly after the March for Life, lawsuits against police were filed.

Leaders of the pro-life movement are few among those who see abortion as the top of the list. Right to life is on the top of the list. Right to life is on the tope of the list.

"I think we might finally see the day that a pro-life cause can show up in each individual state," Rep. Barbara Vucanovich (R-NV) said at a pro-abortion rally in Las Vegas.

Christians. Champion: What type of play can we expect to see from the Flames next year?

SR: On defense, we will play a three-man line, with a lot of staked kicks. We will be very aggressive defensively and play a lot of corner attacks. I like that type of game.

Champion: Are you committed to set the tone of the game for your team?

SR: Yes. You have to commit to set the tone of the game for your team.

Champion: You have to train with the team as you want to go into training. What type of advice would you give to kids who want to go into coaching?

SR: I don't say I may be involved in the kind of program you believe in, like the Dome-Doom, Penn-Lincoln programs that graduate students and stand for what college athletics are all about.

SR: You can push the programs that have problems with drugs, alcohol and things like.

Champion: What can we expect for next year?

SR: We have a good group of seniors and they'll be the same things we can and cannot.

SR: Love the idea to come and see us. We want to be one of the best.

Champion: I'm sure you can't do that. I can't wait to get back on the court.

Flamesных Colonels in thriller

By MARK SKULL

The Liberty Flames defeated the Colonels of Eastern Kentucky 62-61 on Monday night before a packed

Olympia Gymnasium. LU jumped out to an easy 9-4 lead with hot outside shooting, press defense, and good defensive rebounding.

"The pressure defense and rebounding gave the Flames many fast break opportunities and this enabled them to extend their lead to 20-11.

But this did not continue. Liberty in EKU got back into the game by allowing easy inside shots as well as second and third shot opportunities because of poor rebounding. With 7.7 left in the half, Liberty's seven-point lead had been cut to only two.

Following three point shots by Rutledge (two) and Pumphrey, EKU extended in lead to 10. But, once again after defensive lapses and poor rebounding by the Colonels, the game was back to within five.

And at halftime, LU led by only 32-27.

As the second half began, Todd Clow picked up two quick fouls to give him three, and he sat to the side.

Things didn't look good for the Flames after Liberty's turnovers helped the Colonels to their first lead since 5:45. EKU extended its lead in to lead a with a jumper from Mike Davis, before another three pointer from Rodney Harden cut the lead to 36-34.

After a pair of Bailey Alston free-throws, EKU jumped out to an 11-point lead in the second half. But, with Pervis out, the Liberty Flames were able to get back in the game and made a three pointer to cut the Flames lead to one, 62-61 with :32 left to play.

This game was a good indicator for the Flames as they head into March. But, when the Colonels had the ball with a short two, the Flames came back and made a three pointer to win.
