V. Course Objectives

1. The student will be exposed to a variety of concepts and social science approaches to the study of economic and political ideas.
2. The student will learn how to identify, analyze and evaluate the presupposition bases of modern economic and political ideas and ideologies.
3. The student will thereby become better equipped to understand, participate in, and evaluate domestic and international political processes.

VI. Graded Requirements and Options

1. Each student is responsible for completing reading assignments prior to class and should keep a loose leaf notebook of class materials.
2. Participation is an essential part of class. Textbook chapters, collateral readings, and current events will be the subject of class commentary and discussions.
3. Students will be tested on the lecture and reading material through a series of seven tests that are to be taken at the scheduled time. Students who miss a test because of some university sponsored activity must bring a written request before the date of the test if they wish to arrange to take a make-up test. Unless otherwise specified, the make-up test (available only to those with signed medical or academic excuses) may be taken at 7:30 AM on the day of the next class session. Sleeping in and lack of preparation are not valid excuses. Each student will be graded on no fewer than six test scores. Make-up work may not be delayed more than a week.
4. Each student will participate in discussions of assigned readings and brief presentations on collateral readings
5. Each student will be responsible for writing a bibliographic essay on a modern economic or political thinker and presenting to the class an overview of one of his or her key works. Claims may be staked out on a first come, first served basis. A minimum of fifteen entries (at least six of them books) should be included in the annotated bibliography. It should also include both primary and secondary sources. Identify by call number which of these works are available in the library and which are available on internet. A typed, 6-8 page abstract or summary should be supplied at the time of the presentation. The first draft should be completed and turned in on Monday, April 7. Completion of these requirements permits you to drop the lowest test score at the end of the term so long as six test scores are retained.

Suggested Thinkers and Books (More Below in Bibliography)

Buckley, William F., Jr. God and Man at Yale (1951)
Chambers, Whittaker. Witness (1952)
Hayek, Friedrich, The Road to Serfdom (1944) or The Constitution of Liberty
Kirk, Russell. The Sword of Imagination (1995) or The Conservative Mind (1953)
Kuehnelt-Leddihn, Erik von. Leftism (1974)

 Rosenstock-Huussy, Eugen. The Christian Future (1946) or Out of Revolution (1938)
 Voegelin, Eric. The New Science of Politics (1952)
 Weaver, Richard. Ideas Have Consequences (1948).

6. The grading scale is 100-90=A, 89-80=B, 79-70=C, 69-60=D, 59 and below=F.

VII. Attendance Students are supposed to arrive on time for every class meeting. Students who are absent due to illness or emergency should notify the professor prior to class or soon afterward. Excused absences include participation in university-sponsored events, serious illness (if accompanied by a physician's note), or a family emergency. Persistent absences or tardiness will have a detrimental effect on grades.

VIII. Dress Code Observe the Liberty Way. Students who are not in appropriate campus attire will not be admitted to class. Caps will not be worn in class. Other than drinks, there will be no eating in the classroom.
